"STICK-UP" MEN AND HIGHWAY ROBBERS OPERATE HERE

Member of United States Navy is Charged With Holding Up and Robbing Four Men in Suffolk Street House—Auto Bandits Rob Man in Market Street

Following a city-wide search extending over a period of several days, Charles J. Ponzi, 31 years old, a member of the United States navy, was placed under arrest by Police Officers Alfred J. Conroy and Daniel M. Lynch, and locked up on suspicion of having held up and robbed four men in a card game in a vacant house in Suffolk street shortly after midnight last night.

This morning, after a comprehensive investigation which resulted in the identification of the young sailor by one of his victims, Officer Conroy preferred a specific charge of robbery on four counts against the suspect. He was arraigned on these counts in district court this morning and pleaded not guilty. He was continued in $2000 bonds until Dec. 8.

Officers Conroy, Lynch and Edward Liston were on duty in the station at 12:30 o'clock today when two men put in an appearance and complained that they, with eight others, had been held up and robbed during a game in the Suffolk street tenement. They described the robber as being masked with a handkerchief and armed with a revolver, and after he had collected $44 from four members of the party, they said, he left the premises with the stern warning that he would shoot to kill the first individual who attempted to spread an alarm. On his way out, it is alleged, he discharged a shot from his revolver, to emphasize the sincerity of his threat.

Egyptian Situation Described in London Official Quarters as Serious But Not Critical—Telephonic Communication With Sudan Restored

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press.) The Egyptian situation, as the result of the latest messages, was described in official quarters in London this afternoon as serious but not critical. Interest mainly centered in the Sudan, which appears to have been quieted.

Communication Restored
LONDON, Nov. 29.—Telegraphic communication with the Sudan was restored at 12:50 o'clock this afternoon, it is carried in an agency despatch from Cairo.

Mutineers Surrender
CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press.) The surviving mutineers at Khartum have given into the British. It was officially announced here this afternoon.

The mutiny among the troops was confined to two platoons of the eleventh Sudanese and the mutineers who survived surrendered after a bombardment of the compound of the Egyptian army hospital. Two British officers were killed and eight men wounded. The official announcement stated that the situation at Khartum was well in hand.

The behavior of the other Arab and Sudanese troops is characterized as excellent.

FIREMAN CRAWFORD'S CASE REOPENED

The Crawford case, which created considerable furor in fire department circles several months ago when George Crawford, a fireman in the department, charged that he had been unfairly discriminated against in the appointment of several lieutenants by Chief Edward P. Saunders, although his name topped the eligible list, was reopened today.

At that time Mr. Crawford asked for a hearing before the city council and it was granted, but the appointments of the chiefs were not changed.

Today Attorney Edward J. Tierney said that he had arranged a conference with the fire chief for this afternoon and unless this resulted satisfactorily to his client, the matter would be carried as far as it can to secure justice for Mr. Crawford.

While no definite statement has been made by either the chief or Mr. Tierney, it is believed that the reopening of the case has been brought about because of the pending appointment of another lieutenant in the department.

MAXIME LEPINE DEAD

One of Lowell's Most Prominent French-American Citizens Died Today

Was Former Newspaper Man and Held Office of City Purchasing Agent

Maxime Lepine, a very well known resident, died early this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William J. Buron, 58 Deland street, aged 61 years. Deceased was born in Canada but came to this city while still a boy. He received his education in this city and later entered the newspaper business, being connected with L'Estelle the local French daily. He later became one of the owners as well as editor of the same newspaper. Several

FAHY GETS 25 YEARS

Sentenced for Part in $2,000,000 Mail Robbery at Rondout, Illinois

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—William J. Fahy, former postoffice inspector, and James Murray, a politician, recently convicted of conspiracy in connection with the $2,000,000 mail robbery at Rondout were sentenced to 25 years each in the federal prison at Atlanta, by Federal Judge Cliffe today.

The sentencing of Fahy and Murray, the convicted arch plotters of what has been called "the greatest train robbery" followed denial of new trials.

The sentencing of Willis, Willis, Jesse and Joseph Newton, and Brant Glascock, the latter in charge of the actual robbery, was deferred until Monday.

DEFENDANT IN LIQUOR CASE IS FINED AND SENTENCED

Sotirious Afierakis is Fined $300 and Sentenced to Three Months in House of Correction—Capt. Palmer Calls Defendant's Place Notorious Rum Centre

The biggest liquor fine yet imposed in the local district court was meted out to Sotirios Afierakis by Judge Enright this morning, defendant being fined $300 and sentenced to three months in the house of correction when he was found guilty of illegally selling liquor. The fine and sentence were appealed and Afierakis was ordered to recognize in $500 for his appearance in superior court next month.

In testifying against Afierakis, Capt. Palmer of the liquor squad, stated that defendant is the proprietor of one of the "notorious rum centers" in the city. His place of business is at Cross and Adams streets.

FEDERAL AUTHORITIES TAKE STEPS TO DEPORT PONZI

"Coupon King" Arrested at Brighton—Immigration Officials Plan to Begin Deportation Proceedings Immediately—To Be Sent Back to Canada or Italy

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—Charles Ponzi, promoter of the get-rich-quick scheme of four years ago that attracted investments of many millions, was arrested today by immigration authorities on a warrant charging that he was in this country illegally. Deportation proceedings will begin immediately, it was said by Immigration Commissioner John P. Johnson.

Whether deportation will be to Canada or Italy, in the event that the charges are sustained, can be decided only by Secretary of Labor Davis. Ponzi came to this country from Canada after being convicted there of banking irregularities at Montreal, but if Canada objects to having him deported to the dominion, officials of this country may order him sent to Italy, of which country he is a citizen.

ACCIDENT CASES ARE 14 MEN DROWNED GIVEN TO JURY

Tewksbury accident cases that have been on trial in Superior civil court here before Judge Greenhalge for the past week, were given to the jury at 1 o'clock today.

The cases, five in number being tried together, are brought by William A. Chandler of Tewksbury and others, against the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., as result of a collision between an electric car and an automobile truck in Main street, Tewksbury on the night of Oct. 12, 1922. The total ad damnum is $25,500, with W. A. Chandler, claiming permanent disability in his individual suit of $10,000.

The plaintiffs were represented by James H. Vahay of Boston and William A. Wilson of this city, with Trull, Wier & O'Donoghue as counsel for the street railway company.

A great deal of expert medical testimony has been offered during the trial by both sides and on two occasions, William A. Chandler has been carried into the court room on a stretcher to testify before the jury.

This is the last case on the trial list of the present session, which has extended over a period of seven weeks. With the completion of the case, court will adjourn to East Cambridge.

SANTA CLAUS IN CITY

Atherton's Invites Jolly Old Soul to Talk With Lowell's Youngsters

Fourth Floor of Chalifoux Building Headquarters for Santa While Here

Driving his team of reindeer at a fast clip, Santa Claus arrived in Lowell this morning and went straight to his headquarters, Atherton's Toyland on the fourth floor of the Chalifoux building. There he found a cozy, warm log cabin awaiting him and he made himself comfortable, prepared to stay there until Christmas Eve when he will make the rounds to the chimneys of the homes of all the good little boys and good little girls in the world. Jumping from his sleigh on the roof of the Chalifoux building, Santa shouted "Ho!" to his army of prancing reindeer and the well-trained team scampered back to the white-covered land of mystery from whence they came. Santa, with big packs of toys, sleds, and all sorts of presents, shook hands with Manager Robert H. Starnes of the Atherton store, and accepted gladly the hearty invitation to make himself at home.

A fine log cabin has been built for Santa on the fourth floor of the big building and he has made himself comfortable there. He has a great amount of toys of all sorts, games, scooters, autos and the like, all about the place and then sat back to await for the kiddies of Lowell to learn of his arrival and come and visit him. He didn't wait long for the news spread like wildfire and youngsters were all about him by the scores before noon and dinner time.

Toyland was fitted up carefully to prepare for Santa's visit, he having sent a radio to Manager Starnes almost a week ago asking him to be in Lowell with the first flakes of snow. Toyland is decorated in real Yuletide style and Santa was tickled to death with the reception given him. Being especially fond of little boys and girls, he spent most of his time today talking with them and finding out just what they want most for Christmas. Many young folks came in with their fathers and mothers or older sisters or brothers and Santa had a kind word and an attentive ear for all of them. His hearty laugh proved infectious and all who visited him left the wide spaces of Toyland in a most happy mood.

Dolls, doll carriages, sleds, autos, trains, and most everything one can think of as suitable for Christmas gifts Santa brought with him. In abundance Santa has stocked his cabin with extra stuff as well. He sits in the doorway always with a few confidential young boys or girls whispering their secret hopes in his ear. Great old merry soul is he and he seems to be even better natured this year than ever before.

Electric trains, scooters, velocipedes, Milton Bradley games, the latest in puzzles, mechanical toys, rocking horses, dolls' beds and everything under the sun are stocked in the Atherton Toyland and a visit is sure to provide a real thrill to young and old alike.

LOWELL-LAWRENCE GAME AT STRAND

If you want to enjoy the thrills of the Lowell-Lawrence high school football game, played at Shawshoek last Thursday, all over again, then attend The Strand Sunday, Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday next. Directing Manager Samuel Torgan secured exclusive rights to the pictures taken at the game. The film will show all of the important plays, including the one Lowell touchdown, as well as "shots" of the Lowell and Lawrence cheering squad, the officials, prominent personages of this city and Lawrence. It's the first motion picture of a Lowell-Lawrence football clash and will undoubtedly be interesting, not alone to the student body and teachers, but to the large number of football fans in and outside of Lowell. The film will be presented to the high school by Manager Torgan some time in the future.

NO JAPANESE AMBASSADOR NAMED

TOKIO, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Vice-Minister Tanaka Matsudaira today denied he had been selected Japanese ambassador to the United States. Eat and Get Thin

If you are overfat and averse to physical exertion, if you are fond of eating and still want to reduce your excess flesh, go to your druggist and get a box of Marmola Prescription Tablets. These tablets, compounded in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, contain the exact ingredients necessary to produce a normal healthy reduction of excess weight. Take one tablet after each meal and at bedtime and you will begin to lose your fat steadily and easily. Continue the treatment until your weight is what you desire—until your figure is slender and attractive again. You don't need to try starvation diets or weakening exercises. Go on eating what you like. Leave exercising to the fates. Just take your little tablet faithfully, and without a doubt your baby flesh will quickly disappear. Your figure will become slender and shapely just as you have always wanted it to be. Thousands of men and women each year regain healthy, slender figures this way. Why don't you? Marmola Prescription Tablets are so pleasant and easy to take that anyone who is suffering the embarrassment and discomfort of overweight owes it to himself to try them. All drug stores, the world over sell Marmola Prescription Tablets for one dollar a box. Or send the money direct to the Marmola Company, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich., and a box will be sent to you postpaid.—Adv.

Please Give Us A Little Time When Ordering Coke

During the cold weather which is now upon us our coke delivery system is bound to be taxed to its utmost.

Almost every one waits until the last moment before calling for his winter's fuel. We have 13 wagons and 5 trucks that are busy from morning till night delivering Lowell Coke to all parts of the city.

We pride ourselves on being able to give service, but on busy days it is many times impossible to make delivery within a few hours after the order has been received.

When the weather is cold and stormy, when the snow and slush are on the ground, we find it necessary to treat our horses kindly, sometimes allowing them to work only part of the day. This also holds true of our men, who are many times forced to work long hours.

In order to make as great delivery as possible we hire additional trucks to take care of the many orders received daily.

We have thousands of tons of Lowell Coke to sell and are in a position to supply the needs of all those in Lowell who have learned that Lowell Coke is the best solid fuel, with more heat value, less dirt and very little ash.

But, in ordering, we ask you to please remember that there are other orders ahead of yours and that we are straining every effort to give the best service possible.

SHAME! I SAY SHAME!

The last place on earth where politics should be played is in the Charity Department. The lame, the halt and the blind who, through unfortunate circumstances are forced to accept the hospitality of the City, should not be used as political footballs.

In April of this present year, the State Department of Welfare reported on the Chelmsford Street Hospital, then under the direction of Supt. Gormley (and this report is a matter of public record), and their report stated "The Chelmsford Street Hospital is up to the standard of efficiency."

AFTER THE REMOVAL OF SUPT. GORMLEY, HOWEVER, THE NEW SUPERINTENDENT INCREASED THE NUMBER OF EMPLOYEES FROM 36 TO 79. WHY, I ASK, WAS THIS DONE IN VIEW OF THE REPORT OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT OF WELFARE?

The advertising bureau of my opponent in their ad. on Thursday, concerning the Chelmsford Street Hospital, said:—

"THE TRUTH SHOULD BE TOLD—EVEN IN POLITICS."

At last my opponent and I fully agree on one subject, and THE TRUTH SHALL BE TOLD—READ IT—EVERY WORD

The City Auditor (who was appointed by my opponent) in his letter over his own signature, and reproduced in the ad., quoted the following figures as being the unexpended balances, as of Nov. 26, 1924, in the Charity Department:—

Chelmsford Street Hospital—Salary and Wages	$1,529.34
Expense and Supply	9,030.15
Mothers with Dependent Children—Salary and Wages	5,448.75
Expense and Supply	3,288.22
Outdoor Relief—Salary and Wages	3,597.89
Expense and Supply	10,507.71

This shows a total balance (and I am quoting from the letter of the Auditor) with which to pay all bills, expenses, salaries and wages in these various departments for the balance of the year of $33,402.06.

Based upon the expenses of this department up to Nov. 1, 1924, which I have taken from the monthly printed reports of the City Auditor, the estimated cost of these departments to finish out the year will be as follows:—

Chelmsford Street Hospital	$18,939.99
Mothers with Dependent Children	22,592.37
Outdoor Relief	27,513.88

TOTAL NEEDED TO FINISH YEAR	$69,046.24
Balance on hand, according to Auditor	33,402.06

Amount needed to finish the year $35,644.18

HERE IS A SHORTAGE OF $35,644.18 IN THIS DEPARTMENT. WILL THIS MONEY COME FROM THE SAME SOURCE AS DID THE TRANSFER IN AUGUST OF $44,425.25? (See Auditor's printed report for August.) WILL THIS MONEY COME FROM THE SAME SOURCE AS DID THE TRANSFER IN OCTOBER OF $35,013.00, WHICH WAS TAKEN FROM OVERLAY SURPLUS AND WHICH MUST BE RETURNED TO TAKE CARE OF ABATEMENTS? (See Auditor's printed report for October.)

HERE IS THE RECORD OF THE CHARITY DEPARTMENT FOR 1924

$44,425.25 transferred to Charity Department in August.
$35,013.00 transferred to Charity Department in October.
$35,644.18 needed to finish the present year (estimated).

Total $115,082.43

A TOTAL OF $115,082.43 TO RUN THE CHARITY DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1924 OVER AND ABOVE THE AMOUNT APPROPRIATED AT THE BEGINNING OF THE YEAR.

I REPEAT, THE CHARITY DEPARTMENT WENT BROKE IN AUGUST AND $44,425.25 WAS TRANSFERRED TO KEEP IT RUNNING.

THE CHARITY DEPARTMENT WENT BROKE IN OCTOBER AND $35,013.00 WAS TAKEN FROM OVERLAY SURPLUS FUND TO KEEP IT RUNNING.

THE CHARITY DEPARTMENT IS AGAIN BROKE, AND IT WILL TAKE $35,644.18 WITH WHICH TO PAY ITS BILLS UP TO THE CLOSE OF THE YEAR.

Mrs. Bradford Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Phoebus, Virginia.—"Having this opportunity I just cannot refrain from saying a word of praise for the Lydia E. Pinkham medicines. I have used them as occasion required for twenty years, and my three sisters have also used them, and always with the most gratifying results. During the Change of Life I had the usual distressing symptoms, hot flashes, insomnia, etc.—and I am pleased to testify to the wonderful results I obtained from the Vegetable Compound. I heartily recommend it to any woman and I will be pleased to answer any inquiries that might be sent to me through the publication of my testimonial."—Mrs. H. L. BRADFORD, 109 Armistead St., Phoebus, Va. Consider carefully Mrs. Bradford's letter. Her experience ought to help you. She mentions the trials of middle age and the wonderful results she obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you are suffering from nervous troubles, irritability, or if other annoying symptoms appear and you are blue at times, you should give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Just Name Your Poison and You'll Get it in Key West

By BOB DORMAN

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 28.—"Boss, you're comin' to a place where de only cheap thing is whisky," was the remark the porter made to me as I neared Key West, Uncle Sam's Gibraltar.

And I soon discovered that my porter was right. The taxi driver that took me to the hotel told me that he was prepared to fix me up with anything I might want.

To prove it he handed me a card listing a group of names that I hadn't heard, let alone seen, since the prohibition amendment went into effect.

From beer to champagne that card took in the whole list of drinks known to the pre-Volstead era.

And the prices were not so high—much less than those in other cities furnishing liquor.

But the taxi drivers have no monopoly on the bootlegging trade. Soft drink parlors are to be found frequently. And the only thing soft about them is the brains of those customers who imagine that soda and pop is all they sell.

There is no necessity for identification. Just name you poison and it will be served you.

You can even purchase sugar cane rum (pure alcohol) for 10 cents a glass if you haven't any regard for your stomach.

One drink emporium is located back of the county court house. From its door one looks out at the parked cars of the sheriff and other county officials.

Others dot the town's main street on the side near the Western Union, another bids for patronage just across the way.

Just around the corner is the headquarters of the coast guard. They, however, are helpless with the stuff ashore.

They are doing their best to stop it coming in, but with the limited equipment and the hundreds of miles of coast line here, they are practically helpless in view of a public sentiment that not only condones but aids bootlegging activities.

Conviction by jury trial is almost hopeless here. The worst the bootlegger has to fear is the loss of his cargo and his craft, but with the many channels into which he may run, it is a hard job to find them.

Much of the liquor brought into Key West is shipped to points farther north by the railroad.

The prohibition agents are convinced that there is a huge conspiracy to feed the north with illicit liquor and a close watch is now being kept on all freight shipments.

This has already brought fruit in the seizure of a carload of liquor at Atlanta. Other suspected cars are being diligently sought.

Meanwhile, Key West still enjoys its forbidden fruits at reasonable prices.

"BOY EMPEROR" OF CHINA IS RELEASED

LONDON, Nov. 29.—According to a Reuters despatch from Peking, Hsuan Tung, the "boy emperor" of China, who was yesterday granted his freedom by the new government of Peking, today took refuge in the Japanese legation. It was stated there was no cause for him to fear immediate danger.

WILL DEMONSTRATE LIFE-GIVING LIGHT

Next Tuesday afternoon, Liberty hall in Memorial Auditorium, will be the scene of a most unusual electrical demonstration, arranged under the auspices of Lowell Rotary club, with the public at large invited to be present after the weekly dinner ceremonies are concluded.

For the first time in Lowell, there will be displayed in full view of a public audience, a wonderfully contrived apparatus which will produce new and peculiarly powerful rays of purplish light, to which is attributed high medicinal values in the treatment of human bodily ailments. The discovery by trained electricians in State of Maine university, has been developed by qualified experts at the General Electric Co.'s plant in Lynn.

Mr. Edward R. Berry, assistant consulting engineer of the electrical corporation, will be the Rotarian speaker, Tuesday. He will bring with him and display on the platform of Liberty hall, the new and somewhat mysterious light that investigators into the still fruitful field of electricity have no trade name for as yet.

Engineer Berry's belief for it carries only the explanation that it is a new and life-giving light derived from the quartz. Ordinary electric light passing through the quartz as transformed, is said to have great healing powers, particularly in cases where youth suffers from various afflictions of the flesh and bones.

THE TRUTH

AS YOU KNOW IT

It has never been recorded that the Citizens of Lowell have denied re-election to a Mayor who has given a square deal to the city while in office.

MAYOR DONOVAN'S CONDUCT IN OFFICE IS CLEAN AND ABOVE REPROACH

You Will Re-Elect Mayor Donovan Because You Know HE DESERVES IT

WHY SHOULD YOU TURN A GOOD MAYOR OUT OF OFFICE WHEN HIS OPPONENT HAS NOTHING "WORTH WHILE" TO OFFER?

IF HIS "ONE TERM" PLEA IS SOUND, THEN YOU HAVE DONE WRONG IN THE PAST WHEN YOU HAVE GIVEN FORMER MAYORS SECOND TERMS.

WHAT ARE THE PLATFORMS?

Mayor Donovan's Opponent.
His Platform of Constructive Policies.

His reason for running:—
"I Do Not Want a Second Term"

Why does Mayor Donovan's opponent remain silent on issues that the public are interested in? He has been asked to declare his attitude on the following:—

Wage increases for policemen and firemen?

Reduction of the Tax Rate?

A sound constructive financial policy?

Regulation of public expenditures?

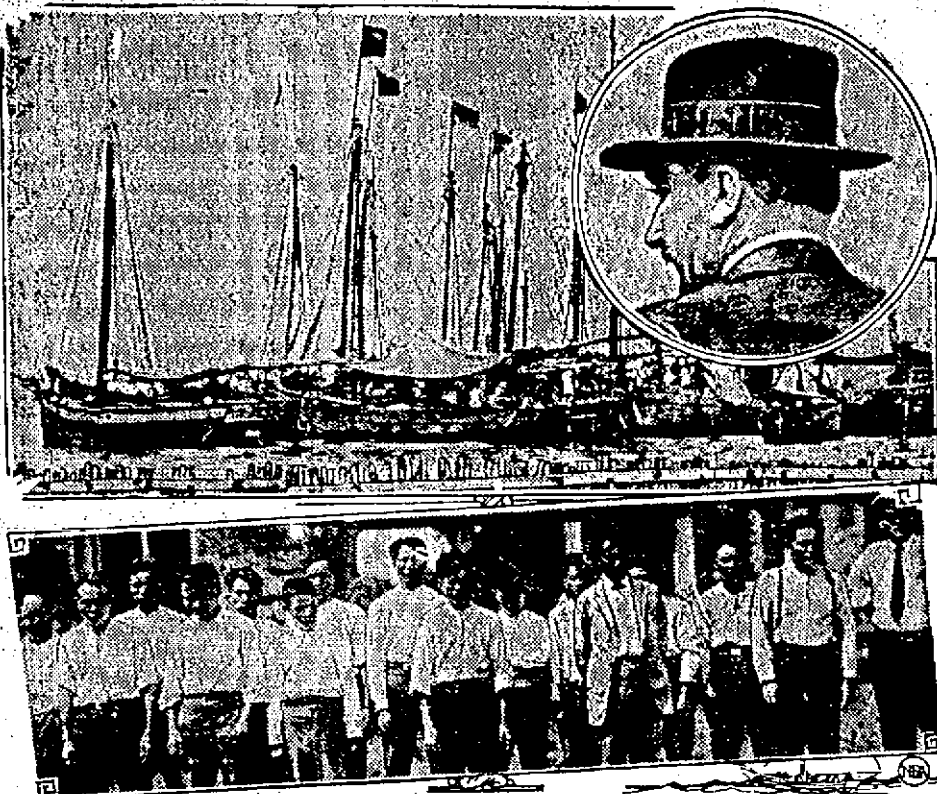

BUT—HE IS SILENT

Trying to ride into office on a platform of irrelevant talk is not quite inspiring enough.

By N.E.A. Service.
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 29.—Thirty thousand aliens, denied legal entry into the United States, are in Cuba waiting to be smuggled into this country.

And hundreds of them are being brought over nightly under the protection of Cuban police.

Scores of ships, loaded with them, pull out regularly under cover of darkness from Havana, Juana, and other ports, with authorities guiding them safely out of the harbors.

Many are landing their illicit cargoes on the Florida coast. Others are taking them even so far as New York. A few have succeeded in sneaking them in around New Orleans.

These and other facts have just been given federal officials here by a skipper now under sentence to Atlanta penitentiary.

He is Captain Henry Ohlemutz, 60, owner and master of the schooner Abeona, nabbed by a coast guard patrol after a thrilling chase through the marshes and winding bayous of Louisiana. Huddled below were 15 Chinese and 13 white aliens, including one woman.

It was his second trip. It was, according to Ohlemutz, the second batch he had brought over. In the first two months before, were 10 whites and two Chinese, he says.

Ohlemutz, a mariner nearly 40 years, was tried in the United States district court here and found guilty. On his plea for mercy, he was given a year and a day in Atlanta. He says he has fled notice of appeal.

The last boat the captain sailed, before acquiring the Abeona, was the Aracajon, out of San Francisco. Then he bought his own ship, and fixed it up, as he says, "to make a living with it in Mexico or wherever I could." He used it in fishing and oyster hauling. But he says he made no money.

He accepted a proposition to "engage in the alien bootlegging" operation. He did not like the idea, he said, but pressing need for money overcame his scruples.

Six Aliens Worked on Crew
The Abeona sailed from here May 11 for Havana on its first smuggling expedition. No arrangements, according to Ohlemutz, had been made in advance. They were attended to after he reached Havana.

There he took on board the two Chinese and the ten whites. The whites were mostly Hungarians and Poles, as near as the captain could determine.

They paid an average of $125 apiece, according to District Attorney Louis H. Burns. The Chinese, because they are harder to get in, paid more.

Six of the aliens were signed on the crew, Ohlemutz explains. Besides them I had an engineer. He was to share the profits with me.

"We arrived in New Orleans about 3 in the afternoon. I released the ten whites when they paid up."

"I delivered the two Chinese to a Chinese here."

"The money collected, all told, was around $1700. After paying overhead and expenses for protection in Cuba, the engineer and I had about $300 left."

Police Collected on Board Ship
"I left again June 11, arriving in Juana, June 21. I remained a week, leaving July 2."

"On the first trip I did not deal with anybody particularly. I got the men myself. On the second trip I made arrangements with a man in Juana."

"I was to receive $250 each for two of the Chinese, and $500 a head for the rest of them. Having failed to make safe delivery, I got nothing."

"The whites gave me $50 to $150 apiece. When I paid for protection I had about $300 left."

"The protection cost $241. Two policemen collected it on board just before we pulled out."

"Two of the Chinese were to be delivered here. Twelve were to be taken to Philadelphia. I intended to stop in some desolate place and get them loaded into automobiles or trucks. The other one was to have worked his own way through."

"But United States agents got me, and the whole transaction was off."

Had Intended Quitting It
Juana, Ohlemutz asserts, is a regular clearing place for the smugglers. They leave nightly for Tampa and other points on the Florida coast.

Police sanction everything, as they are controlled, the captain insists, by the millionaire head of the smuggling ring.

"Under his direction, ships are sent safely out to sea. A scout boat sees that the coast is clear."

"I was in Cuba long enough to learn all these facts," related Ohlemutz. "I was after aliens myself, so it was easy to learn all about it. I knew most of the houses in which they stopped."

"They are all cheap hotels. Speaking several languages, it was not difficult for me to discover the full extent of this business."

"I was getting sick of the whole mess. I intended my second trip to be my last. And it was."

"I know I have committed a serious offense. I only ask I be dealt with as leniently as possible for my wife's sake. She is very ill."

DEPORTATION CASE MAY ESTABLISH PRECEDENT

WATERBURY, Conn., Nov. 28.—Whether an alien veteran of the World war, who went across the water to fight with the Italian army and after returning to this country became insane, can be deported, is a question to be decided by Federal Judge Edwin S. Thomas in the United States district court at Norwalk, Dec. 5. Habeas corpus proceedings to prevent deportation of Salvatore Lamattina of this city, now an inmate of the Connecticut hospital for the insane at Middletown, have been instituted by counsel engaged by his wife, Philomena Lamattina of this city. The case may establish a precedent.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL GUTTED BY FIRE

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Mass., Nov. 28.—The J. D. Pierce junior high school, an eight-room brick building on Elm street close to the heart of the business section of the town, was gutted by fire which was discovered at 5 o'clock this morning. The cause of the fire is unknown. Chief Harry Tufts believes the fire had smoldered several hours before discovery. When the first fire apparatus arrived the interior of the structure was a mass of flames and it was impossible to save anything. Two alarms were sounded, calling all local fire apparatus, and the town of Plainville sent a pumping engine and crew of 15 men to assist the local fire fighters.

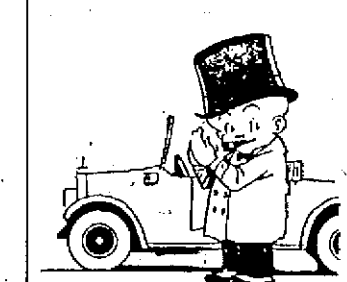

GEN. WOOD TO VETO IMMIGRATION LAW

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 28.—(By the Associated Press).—A bill passed by the immigration law, under which the Philippine legislature, known as registration fee on all Chinese residents of the Philippine islands would be increased from 50 cents to $10, will be vetoed by Governor-General Leonard Wood, he announced today.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—As many as 11,000 head of high grade cattle, many of them winners of the highest honors in live stock shows in the United States and Canada, will be ready for inspection of President and Mrs. Coolidge when they visit the International Live Stock Exposition Dec. 4.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—A coast guard cutter was sent from Norfolk today to search for the three masted American schooner Blue Bird, in distress 100 miles off Cape Hatteras, according to word received by Coast Guard officers here. The message said that the Blue Bird had lost her rudder.

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Nov. 28.—Oliver Franklin Miett, 47, a veteran of the Civil war and a past commander of Smith Post, G.A.R., of this city, is dead at his home at Crooks Corner, South Wellingham, Mass.

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—James M. Rolphe, III, son of Mayor Rolphe of San Francisco, who is ill with typhoid fever at the City hospital here, had a fairly good night and was resting comfortably early today, his physicians reported, adding that the illness would probably reach its crisis today.

MONROE, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Most of the estate of Mrs. Frances E. Morgan, widow of J. P. Morgan, who died Nov. 16 at Highland Falls, will go to her three daughters, Mrs. Louisa Pierpont Satterlee, Mrs. Julia Pierpont Hamilton and Miss Anna Tracy Morgan, under the provisions of her will filed today.

WARSAW, Nov. 28.—The cotton and woolen mill hands at Lodz went on strike yesterday when the proprietors refused to increase wages to keep pace with the increased prices, declaring that to do so, would cause stagnation of trade.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Concentration on appropriation bills was agreed upon as the basis of the legislative program for the hours at this session of congress at a conference today between President Coolidge and house leaders.

BELFAST, Nov. 28.—The Irish Free State senate yesterday amended the liquor bill so as to make St. Patrick's day a "gentle day" like Good Friday and Christmas, according to a Dublin dispatch.

AIR MAIL SERVICE FROM U. S. TO EUROPE

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—(By the Associated Press). There will soon be a weekly mail Zeppelin service between the United States and Europe, the correspondents here were informed today by Dr. Hugo Eckener, director of the Zeppelin company, who had charge of the ZR-3's trans-Atlantic flight. The Zeppelin-Goodyear combination does not intend to establish a passenger service for the present, he indicated, but believes one Zeppelin will be used weekly carrying a half million letters at 25 cents per letter.

1207 NAVAL DESERTIONS IN LAST FISCAL YEAR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Naval courts-martial on charges of desertion increased more than 50 per cent in the fiscal year 1924, Rear-Admiral J. L. Lattimer, the judge advocate-general, announced today in his annual report. Against a total of 351 cases of desertion listed in 1923, the report showed 1,207 in the year ending last June 30. Admiral Lattimer did not comment on the increase, but it is known that Secretary Wilbur recently ordered an inquiry to determine, if possible, the underlying causes.

Blessed Sleep

It's more than likely that you'll sleep soundly all the night when your digestion is good and the bowels are working regularly. It's a sure thing that by using the good old "L. F." ATWOOD Medicine as directed, every bit of that indigestion, biliousness, constipation, may be overcome. There'll be steady improvement with a marked gain in strength and energy. It is absolutely necessary to prevent absorption of poisonous matter in the intestines, and "L. F." will positively clear out the bowels.

Don't delay, but buy a bottle now and try it one month as directed. Remember it's guaranteed. Your money back if not benefited. Big bottle 50 cents.

Important to all Women Readers of This Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Many complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

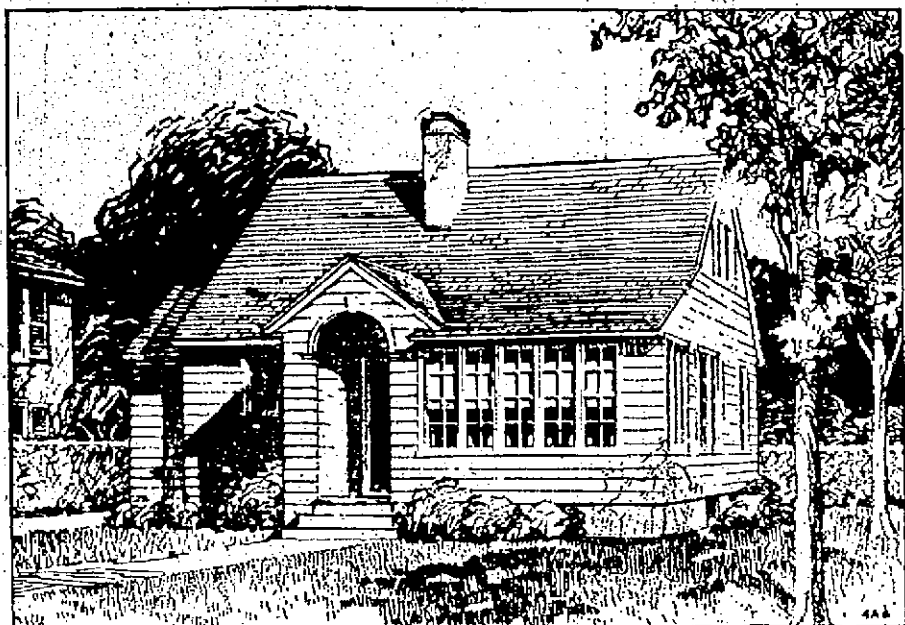

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition. Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes anyone so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

CONNECTICUT COLONIAL ADAPTION

Plan No. 348.

This demure homestead, recalling the colonial houses of Connecticut, is a house that by its sterling qualities will do honor to its owner's taste, judgment and good sense. It is the kind of a house that makes building dollars buy full value in conveniences, comforts and good looks without the necessity of spending more than the average pocketbook can afford. It is one of those houses planned to eliminate all unnecessary space and "extra" equipment which adds so greatly to present day building costs. At the same time it offers considerable more than the average flat or small apartment.

The pointed roof of the entrance porch is softened by the arched doorway, with its moulded band and keystone. The bank of casement windows in the sun porch is nicely proportioned; the addition of a dining alcove extension is successfully achieved; it is a pleasing and natural continuation of the main house.

The house is planned to be built of frame construction on masonry foundation, cement base course. The exterior finish is wide clapboards for walls and a shingle roof. A lot from 38 to 43 feet in width will be required. A full basement under the entire house contains laundry, heater room and fuel bins. The combination sunroom and living room provides exceptionally large living quarters in a house as small as this one. Eight windows in the sunroom insure plenty of light and air. The sunroom really amounts to an enclosed porch. A large open fireplace is a feature of the living room. Attic storage is reached by stairs in the main hall. The kitchen is small in size but planned scientifically to route steps and save labor. The dining alcove which forms a part of the kitchen provides a built-in table and seats. Under the seats are linen presses and above china cupboards. Two bedrooms on the rear of the house enjoy cross circulation of air and adequate light.

The suggested color scheme for the house is white walls and trim and chimney stack; dark variegated green roof shingles; dark green band around chimney cap.

It would be difficult to include more in the way of conveniences and comforts in a small home than you will find here. For this reason this house deserves careful study by people interested in small quarters planned to afford every convenience and comfort most people demand.

The cost to erect this home will depend upon what you put into it and how thoroughly it is equipped. If you are willing to use simple material and inexpensive equipment this house should be reasonable to build. Expensive equipment will increase the cost; inexpensive equipment will decrease the cost. The cost will also be affected by the locality in which the house is built.

PROPOSALS
Drill Tower Addition to the Fletcher Street Fire Engine House

Sealed proposals will be received from local contractors only, at the office of the Inspector of Public Buildings at City Hall on December 3rd, at 3 p. m. for the construction of a Drill Tower Addition to the Fire Engine House on the corner of Fletcher and West Clark Streets, for the City of Lowell, Mass. in accordance with the plans and specifications drawn by Percy E. Gilbert, architect.

The plans and specifications may be obtained by applying at the office of the building Department at City Hall. The work will be let in one general contract.

Each proposal must be made on the blank form which accompanies the specifications and no bid will be considered if presented in any other form. Each bidder must be prepared to give bond to the amount of 20 per cent of the contract price, conditioned on the satisfactory execution of the contract as required by the plans and specifications.

The Inspector of Public Buildings reserves the right to reject any or all proposals, or to accept the proposal which seems for the best interests of the City of Lowell.

Per order, JOHN E. MOYNAHAN, Inspector of Public Buildings.

"A Prince There Was," Opera House Play

MISS LILLIAN DESMOND

Leading Lady, Stanley James Players

"A Prince There Was," delightful comedy by George M. Cohan, is announced as the bill for next week at the Lowell Opera House, home of the spoken drama. The Stanley James (Inc.) Players have a splendid vehicle in this offering which originally played at the Cohan theatre in New York for a year, after which it had long runs in Chicago and Boston as well as extensive successes on tour.

Cohan seems to have struck a popular chord in Lowell. "Irene," "So This is London" and others given here all having done a splendid business. Sensing the public's liking for Cohan shows Mr. James has booked "Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway" and "The O'Brien Girl" in addition to "A Prince There Was" next week's bill. Next week will mark the first week of the engagement with the local company of one of the most clever ingenues in stock, Miss Gladys Lloyd, former camera star who comes here direct from the Proctor Players at Albany, N. Y. Miss Lloyd is an excellent comedienne and eccentric dancer and is a graduate of Ned Waghorn's school of stage dancing. She is a clever actress with pleasing personality and charm of manner that is certain to help her in making many warm friends in Lowell.

All manner of down-to-date subjects are handled in a Cohanesque manner in "A Prince There Was," from international relations to a boarding house stew. Cohan even resurrects William Jennings Bryan for a few moments in the last of the three lively acts. This play was suggested by Darragh Aldrich's famous story "Enchanted Hearts" and was originally written by Mr. Cohan as a starring vehicle for Robert Hilliard. Because of Mr. Hilliard's illness Mr. Cohan jumped into the leading role himself on the second night of the show's successful New York run and he continued to play it until the show took to the road.

Camden Man's Amazing Message to Rheumatics

After Suffering Intense Agony for Many Years—He Wants to Tell Others.

Dr. Brigidotti, I amply had to write and tell you that your wonderful Camphorol has done for me. For many years I suffered the tortures of rheumatism as only those who have it know. At the same time I had a terrible itch and covered with sores, the aches and pains were so severe, I could not sleep. I tried to get up and rub and scratch. It almost drove me crazy. I tried doctor after doctor and all kinds of medicine I was told to take, which only left me worse. I could not bend my knees. I am a steamfitter by trade and had to give up my work. Seeing your advertisement in a paper, I thought I would take another chance and told my neighbor to get me a package of Camphorol. You can imagine my surprise after using Camphorol. I started to get better right away. After using two jars of Camphorol I am well and happy and have gone back to work. I shall never forget the day I took a chance on Camphorol. After all the years I suffered, it feels like a weight has been lifted. Robert W. Teedale, 1917 High St., Camden, N. J.

Paul Whiteman and Famous Orchestra to Appear in Auditorium

We will have America's best known citizen with us on Friday evening, Dec. 12. Paul Whiteman and his internationally famous orchestra will appear in the Memorial Auditorium. Mr. Whiteman earned the title of America's best known citizen through his responsibility of introducing jazz to the world.

According to export statistics there is no country on the face of the globe which does not purchase American jazz, either "canned" or in sheet music form.

The program which the Whiteman orchestra will give will show what has happened to the great American noise from the time of its birth in the south to its present stage where Stokowski, Stravinsky and most of the world's greatest music masters have come out heartily and openly to sing its praises.

The program which will be played at the Auditorium will be the same that Mr. Whiteman introduced in New York city's famous Carnegie hall where jazz for the first time was heard within those classical walls.

Step by step the program takes one from the early Dixie Land one-step by La Rocca, who got together the first jazz band.

These five musicians playing with La Rocca played entirely without music, every man for himself and made to the one making the most noise.

ROLAND HAYES COMING TO THE AUDITORIUM

Here is Roland Hayes, who is coming to the Memorial Auditorium on Tuesday evening, Dec. 2, to look to the musical title of the Boston Transcript at the time of his concert there last summer.

Even at midsummer, as seasons in Boston go, Mr. Roland Hayes is assured of an audience. He filled Symphony hall yesterday afternoon, overflowed with applause, asked and received repetitions and extra numbers. He is a man of the great handiwork of the week, starting with Sunday's matinee. Come and see them—gorgeously gowned, jewel bedecked, well bred, pleasure-loving darlings—prizes for all the young authors, but now prizes for all the forgotten like many a prize that has been won—women who still love as they did before marriage, but married to men who forget that love is a woman's only recompense. Corinne Griffith and Milton Sills bring to you with all the drama of this poignant problem—in beautiful settings—magnificent dress. It's a picture story for men as well as women for young people as well as those more mature. It's a story that will provide food for serious thought. Don't miss it. In addition to this big attraction Directing Manager Torgan has arranged for the presentation of Will Rogers in his newest humor-making screen offering, "Going to Congress," and also the newest Our Gang feature, "Derby Day." It's an unusually strong bill and should attract banner crowds at all performances.

ROLAND HAYES

Schubert, Schumann and Wolf. Next evening three songs by American composers, pleasant and sufficiently artistic. Griffith, Mr. Whitley and Mr. Warren Storey Smith wrote them. Three "Negro spirituals" ended the list—the equivalent, though in different vein, of Mr. McCormack's Irish pieces. With reason, as singers of high worth and far-spreading voice, they may thus exchange formulas. In many of these numbers Mr. Hayes remained the singer that Boston first discovered last winter—in Schumann's "Gesternabhe," Griffith's "In a Myrtle Shade," Mr. Whitley's "I Know a Hill," Mr. Smith's "A Caravan from China Comes," the extras from Handel and Massenet. That is to say, he once more disclosed a voice of pure and finely tempered tenor-timbre plastic to every modulation of the composer; sensitive to every coloring of his own bestowing; never coarsened never forced; married only by too eager pursuit of an elegant falsetto to kin that with which Monsieur Clemens used to spice his cinnamons. Again Mr. Hayes's ear for the true pitch, a diction both mobile and precise; the shapen and unfolding phrase, the sustained and unfading melodic curve; the pace and rhythm perceived, felt conveyed; pauses slurring; accents and climax aptly placed—all commended him. He is a singer of conscious art.

"Gerald Cranston's Lady" at the Rialto

SCENE FROM GERALD CRANSTON'S LADY

If there's one picture you cannot afford to miss seeing, it is the one that is coming to Lowell's Rialto the first three days of the week, starting Monday. It is the William Fox Super-Special production, "Gerald Cranston's Lady," which has been acclaimed by critics to be one of the finest pictures ever made at the William Fox studios, and that's saying a whole lot. And what more; the cast is superb! James Kirkwood, Alma Rubens, Walter McGrath and Marguerite De La Motte are only a few of the names of those who essay the important parts. The picture is a powerful society drama, based on the novel from the pen of Gilbert Frankau, and is directed by Emmett Flynn. It is the kind of a film in which Miss Rubens is certain to wear beautiful clothes, for which she is well known, and the kind of a role in which she may be aloof and mysterious and beautiful. James Kirkwood, also, is particularly well cast as the self-made millionaire who believes that position might be purchased and that love was a game for fools.

The scenes are laid in England and Paris with a few stray shots showing life in Nigeria with its attendant thrills. There is also a scene inside a big passenger ship crossing the English channel in a terrific storm which is very well done.

The plot of "Gerald Cranston's Lady" requires that the tense climax of the story takes place in the air in a biplane. The picture is a picture of the great air pullman, she pours out her love for him; a great storm breaks, and, as the pair sail swiftly over the city, the big machine buffeted about in the clouds, there comes a sensation that brings the story to a highly dramatic conclusion.

Another big feature of this picture is the wonderful sets that have been built especially for this production. Director Emmett Flynn is very enthusiastic over what he claims to be the most elaborate interior set ever constructed in Hollywood. It is the scene of the wedding at St. Margaret's Cathedral near Westminster Abbey, London, and was duplicated in every detail at the Fox studios. The set is the exact production of the original in every way. The wedding scene in "Gerald Cranston's Lady" was filmed on this set which is beautiful to behold.

The added attraction on the bill is "The Millionaire Cowboy," starring "Lefty" Flynn. Taking the role of an immensely wealthy young prodigal who is marooned for one of his misdeeds in a deserted frontier town out west, Maurice (Lefty) Flynn steps into the screen spotlight with all the sang froid of John Harrymore. In "The Millionaire Cowboy" and "steals" a show that has so many good points it is mighty hard pilfering. Gloria Gray has the leading feminine role.

Other attractions on the bill include a comedy and the very latest issue of Fox News. "The Marriage Market," with Alice Lake, Pauline Garon, and Jack Mulhall, and "The Dancer of the Nile," with the dancing troupe, are the pictures that will be shown Sunday only.

"Single Wives" at the Strand

CORINNE GRIFFITH AND LEW TELLEGEN IN "SINGLE WIVES"

"Single Wives," the ones that husbands forget, the wives who are hungry for romance, the wives who sometimes listen when forbidden love calls, is the feature picture offering on the Strand program for the first four days of the week, starting with Sunday's matinee. Come and see them—gorgeously gowned, jewel bedecked, well bred, pleasure-loving darlings—prizes for all the young authors, but now prizes for all the forgotten like many a prize that has been won—women who still love as they did before marriage, but married to men who forget that love is a woman's only recompense. Corinne Griffith and Milton Sills bring to you with all the drama of this poignant problem—in beautiful settings—magnificent dress. It's a picture story for men as well as women for young people as well as those more mature. It's a story that will provide food for serious thought. Don't miss it. In addition to this big attraction Directing Manager Torgan has arranged for the presentation of Will Rogers in his newest humor-making screen offering, "Going to Congress," and also the newest Our Gang feature, "Derby Day." It's an unusually strong bill and should attract banner crowds at all performances.

A prominent eastern judge who had presided over several hundred divorce trials recently declared that 50 percent of all divorce cases are based on indifference. "The fault lies chiefly with the husband," he stated. "A man forgets that he must continue to court a wife even after the knot has been tied. A wife likes to be told over and over again that she is loved; she likes as much attention after marriage as before, and if she doesn't get it she is going to seek it elsewhere—at least that's the danger. The man must figure out for himself how to find the most trouble with marital conflict placed on the shoulders of the wife. More often than not the husband is the one responsible for conflict of this nature because of his indifference. In every home where the husband continues to be as effective a lover as he was in the courtship days there is perfect harmony." The First National picture, "Single Wives" was written around a typical American society home where a husband's indifference to his wife brings about a most tragic state of affairs. The wife, seeking love and attention is virtually forced into another man's arms, through her husband's lack of appreciation. The husband is too wrapped up in his business to give the needed attention to his wife and family. He neglects his social obligations and thereby neglects his wife, accepting the proverbial standard that "a fish should not be fed but after it is caught." In "Single Wives" Corinne Griffith, appears as the wife, and assisting her is Milton Sills, Lou Tellegen, Phyllis Haver, Henry B. Walthall, Kathryn Williams, Jere Austin and others.

3000 ACRES OF TIMBER DESTROYED

ALAMOGORDO, N. M., Nov. 28.—Fire which has been raging in the Lincoln national forest near here since Monday, is burning on a front five miles long and has already destroyed more than three thousand acres of yellow pine timber, according to the forest service officials here. The fire is believed to have been started by hunters.

CASES DISPOSED OF IN DISTRICT COURT

Eleanor Paraski was adjudged guilty, in district court today, of illegally selling liquor, and was ordered to pay a fine of $100.

Lew Huff, arrested a week ago in Billerica for drunkenness and operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor, was sentenced to 15 days in the house of correction on the latter charge. The drunkenness complaint was filed.

Matthew Sheridan was ordered committed to the house of correction for five months, a suspended sentence being revoked. He was charged with drunkenness. Lorenzo Prince, threatening, was continued until next Saturday.

Attractions at Keith's Theatre—Sunday Bill

MISS MAYBELLE PALMER AT B. F. KEITH'S NEXT WEEK

"Broadway Dreams" will hold the big spot on the boards at the B. F. Keith theatre, tomorrow afternoon and evening, rounding out the sensational stay here of this act. Lahr & Mercedes will also put over their bit of tomfoolery, and Brerres & King are slated for appearance. Others who will be on the bill are Ross & Thorne in an excellent skit; Francis & Hume, snappy youths, and "Canary Opera." The picture feature will be "Fighting Blade," a production full of life and heroics.

For the coming week there will be a headliner which has held the attention of thousands at the New York Hippodrome and the big music halls of London. It is none other than Marcelle with his trained sea-lion. There have been many seals and sea-lions here in the past, and all of them have shown marked proficiency in juggling. Here is one which not only does the juggling, but sings and romps and plays and does every bidding of her master. It is the most remarkable product of the sea that ever came before the public and audiences will marvel at it.

The Wilton Sisters return once more with their delightful mixture of songs and refined comedy. They sing, dance, talk and play the piano and the violin. Not long ago vaudeville looked the sisters to mislead comedy, where they were featured as "The Little Whopper." But they have returned to their first love, the varieties, where they are as big favorites as ever.

Arthur Wanzel and Mabelle Palmer—do you remember them? They put forward the best character sketch that vaudeville knew all of last season, and they are going to bring it here. It is called "One Saturday Night." Songs and humor meet through this skill, and make it one of the most enjoyable turns that the current season will record.

A new kind of a nut has broken forth. He is labeled Charlie Wilson, and he begins at no place in particular and winds up about the same spot. He feeds on laughter, and continually rattles out now stuff, he has an inexhaustible fund of good things, and on 2 days of the week does he do the same things. He is a nut and is proud of it, and so will you be after you have sampled his work.

Clark and Crosby have a comedy skit called "Don't Understand." Mr. Clark has the part of a way who gains his point through pretended ignorance. But there are several good songs in the turn, and the patter is first class.

The Sittkus are gymnasts. Balancing is their strong point, but they take the things which have been done before and present them from a new angle. They not only balance themselves but many inanimate objects, too.

"Down by the Rio Grande," is the picture attraction for the week. It is a story of border love and hate, and it is offered by an excellent cast.

"A Sainted Devil" at Merrimack Sq. Theatre

RUDOLPH VALENTINO AND NITA NALDI AT THE MERRIMACK SQ.

After an absence of two years, from the screen, did Rudolph Valentino "come back" in "Monsieur Beaucaire?" We'll say he did!

And he's followed-up this triumph with another just as big—bigger, in fact—"A Sainted Devil," by Rex Beach. It comes to the Merrimack Square theatre tomorrow for a four days' engagement.

Here in the screen's greatest lover in a South American picture of contrasts—the old hacienda life of the Argentine, contrasted with the smart social life of Buenos Aires, the Paris of the Americas. It has fire and dash and is set in surroundings that enhance its pictorial beauty and give zest to the plot; it stirs the emotions to high intensity. "A Sainted Devil" is a melodrama tinged with romance.

The story carries a wallop in every scene. It is elemental. There's action—plenty of it. To say that the star has a roll equally good as his "Monsieur Beaucaire" is putting it pretty strongly. But that's just what he has in "A Sainted Devil" nevertheless.

As a dashing young South American, Don Alonso Castro, Valentino has a role never to be forgotten. He combines the best parts of his characters in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and in "Blood and Sand." There is an opportunity for him to dance the Argentine tango for which he is internationally famous. He has love scenes aplenty and there is action for him in his fights with bandits.

"A Sainted Devil" is a fiery tale of this Spanish-American youth whose bride is stolen from him on his wedding night. His vain search for her, his embittered turning against the injustice of life and becoming a bandit, seeking vengeance for his wrongs, make a tense, exciting drama full of hot-blooded action and suspense. Valentino's role is that of a handsome young planter who becomes the terror of the neighborhood and wreaks vengeance against everyone with whom he comes in contact. The conditions under which he finally finds his bride and the vengeance he takes bring us up to an event that is probably more sensational than anything the star has done before.

The makers of the picture promise definitely that here is a far better production than either "The Sheik" or "Blood and Sand." "A Sainted Devil" is right up to the same class as "Monsieur Beaucaire," although an entirely different type of production.

Helena d'Algy, a newcomer in Paramount pictures, plays Juliette, the bride of Alonso (Valentino). Nita Naldi does some high-powered vamping as Carlotta, and Louis Lagrange, who did such good work in "The Side Show of Life," has a sympathetic role. The rest of the cast is equally high calibre.

The settings for this picture are both picturesque and romantic. The huge hacienda took up the entire back lot of the Paramount Eastern studio. And that's big. Exotic cabaret scenes and water-front dives in Buenos Aires are other outstanding features. The star dances the tango in "A Sainted Devil," and has a number of knife duels with bandits. The picture's real feature, the bandit's hangout in the mountains, the wedding ceremony, banquet, raid, abduction, etc., are but a few of the countless big scenes in this action-romance. There's something happening every minute. The picture moves right along without the slightest trace of lagging.

An excellent surrounding bill has been arranged to accompany this picture. The second feature is "The Extra Girl," starring Mabel Normand, the queen of laughter, in six reels of roars and thrills. It's a Mack Sennett

MRS. MAUDE ROBINSON

THE CROWD TRYING TO GET INTO COURT REACHED MOB PROPORTIONS

The jury found that there had been a conspiracy to extort money from the prince and that the prince, whose name was kept secret for reasons of state, parted with 150,000 pounds while his mind was unsettled through fear. It found, however, that neither Mr. Robinson nor his wife was a party to the conspiracy.

Was Beside the Issue
Judge Darling had decided that the question of negligence on the part of the bank in connection with the 125,000 pounds which Mr. Robinson alleged with due him, was beside the issue, but after the jury gave its verdict on the conspiracy point, it retired again to consider other technical questions concerning the bank and the check put by the judge.

The jury's replies to these questions established that the bank in paying out 150,000 had obeyed the mandate under which the money was received and cleared the check, and that William Cooper Hobbs, a solicitor, who had been declared on the witness stand, was a party to the plot against "Mr. A." in drawing out the money, purported to act under the same authority as that under which he paid the check into the bank; that Hobbs had no intention of transferring his whole right, if any, in the check of 150,000 pounds to the plaintiff. But on the question whether the rights in the check were ever transferred by Hobbs or Appleton & Co. to the plaintiff, the jury disagreed. The judge said, he would not take the responsibility of ordering the jury to retire again to consider this question, which was not sufficiently material. The jury was then discharged and the court rose.

In the course of his summing up, Judge Darling remarked on the risk being taken by Montague Noel Newton, who had testified as having posed as the husband of Mrs. Robinson. "He is in danger now," the judge said, "there is no doubt of it."

Newton's appearance when it was supposed he was abroad, has been one of the most startling incidents of the trial, and the judge's remark is considered significant.

The judge emphasized that "Mr. A." gained nothing despite the concealment of his name, but it was difficult to believe that anyone who knew him would be unable to identify him.

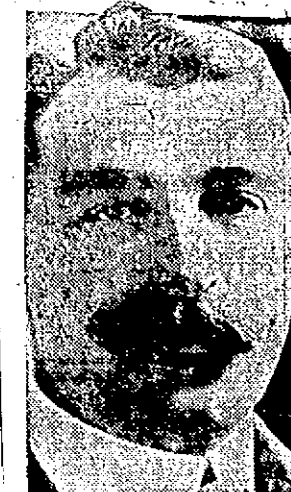

Regarding the potentate's aide-de-camp, the judge declared: "Only that the revelation of his name might have led to the discovery of the potentate's identity, I should have liked nothing better than to have his name made public to the world. I think he deserves every punishment which can be inflicted upon any person who so disgraced an English name."

Judge Darling described the bank as an innocent victim of a plot, and characterized Mr. Robinson as the "in-timidant husband—there when wanted and away when unwanted."

Hobbs Lodged in Jail

LONDON, Nov. 29.—After a preliminary hearing in court today, the jail doors were swung to again upon William Cooper Hobbs, solicitor's clerk, one of the prominent figures in the suit of C. E. Robinson, a former book-maker, against the Midland bank, the testimony of which revealed a blackmailing plot through which an unnamed Indian potentate was mulcted out of 150,000 pounds after being discovered in a Paris apartment with Robinson's wife.

REPORT SWIFT TO REPLACE HARRIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Former Attorney-General James E. Swift of Fall River, is slated to succeed Judge Robert O. Harris of Boston as United States district attorney at Boston. This arrangement was made before the election and it is understood was agreeable to both Chairman Butler of the Republican National committee and Senator Lodge, before the latter's death.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS
SEAL SALE NOW ON

The seventeenth annual Christmas seal sale was launched in Massachusetts yesterday by the Massachusetts Tuberculosis league and its 27 affiliated county and city associations. Members of the Lowell branch are performing their part wholeheartedly as usual, and the Christmas seals are now being distributed in the usual way. All good citizens who contribute their pennies, dimes and dollars for the great cause of humanity are life savers in truth as well as label. Contributors to the Massachusetts fund have reason to feel that they are actually helping to stamp out the great white plague. Lowell men and women have always contributed generously to the charitable cause in the years that have gone. Members of the local tuberculosis council hope that the sale of the Christmas seals this season will be larger than ever. They can be purchased in any amount, in sheets where large quantities are desired.

The first sales of the familiar Christmas seals were made 17 years ago, for the purpose of securing funds to support voluntary anti-tuberculosis work. Since that year, the proceeds have steadily grown until, last year, in Massachusetts alone, $191,000 was realized and more than $4,200,000 in the entire country.

The active leaders in charge of the sales campaign believe that all records will be broken, and that more than $200,000 will be raised in Massachusetts and $4,600,000 at least in the other 47 states of the Union.

Official records kept by each one of the 27 branch councils in Massachusetts, show positively that in the last 17 years, the death rate from tuberculosis has been more than cut in half. This means an annual saving of more than 3000 lives in Massachusetts alone and 100,000 lives in the entire country, with the untold human suffering and economic losses which accompany the disease wherever it is found.

Experts believe that this progress means that the disease can be controlled, and if the present campaign work can be intensified and extended, this will come about within a reasonable length of time.

Army flyers' own story of flight around the world

Only complete, official narrative from diaries and experiences of the six aviators, put in vivid words by the famous author and adventurer, Lowell Thomas, commencing tomorrow.

ALL the world has been waiting to hear the real story of the greatest adventure of our time—the first aerial circumnavigation of the globe. Many have called it the last great adventure.

Mr. Thomas has been living and flying with the six Army adventurers—taking down from their lips the personal narrative of their hairbreadth escapes, their battles with the Arctic blizzards, flights through blinding rain and snow, encounters with tropic monsoons and typhoons, experiences with the natives of many lands.

This American Odyssey from real life is the intimate tale of the great adventure. There never has been another story like it since the days of Columbus and Magellan. Look for the start of it tomorrow—and daily and Sunday thereafter until the story is told.

VOTE AS YOU PLEASE, BUT VOTE

At the state election a great drive was made to bring out the largest vote possible. The vote cast then, although it might have been larger, was highly satisfactory to those who had appealed for a complete expression of the popular will in the choice of candidates.

Our city election may not seem quite as important, but it is closer to all of us and more intimately concerns our every day lives. It is a local matter of our own, as it were, and upon our action in reference to the choice of city officials will depend very largely the success of our city government for the next two years.

If a corporation were about to hire officials for a term of two years, it would look into their records and standing very carefully. It would see whether they have the necessary equipment for the business for which they are to be employed. That is what the voters should do in selecting the candidates for office at the polls next Tuesday. It is, therefore, very important that they come out to vote in full numbers. There is serious danger in having a great number of blanks in any particular contest. Special precautions should be taken to prevent any such laxity as was revealed in the recent primaries when the envelopes containing the ballots from certain precincts were found open with seals broken.

It is to be hoped that the voters who want good government whether they are interested in the candidates who are up for office or not will go to the polls and exercise their best judgment in the selection of candidates. We have heard some voters remark that there is not much difference between the candidates who are fighting for the various offices and while that may be true in some respects in regard to some of the offices, the fact remains that every citizen is under an obligation to vote in next Tuesday's election. Those who fail to do so may justly be ranked as political slackers. We sincerely hope that there will be few slackers next Tuesday and that the officers chosen will be the choice of a vast majority of the electorate. Let the old slogan in regard to voting be observed. Go to the polls next Tuesday and vote—"Vote as you please, but vote."

FOR A BLUE SUNDAY

Before the United States senate there is a bill providing for a blue Sunday law for the District of Columbia. It was introduced by Senator Jones of the state of Washington and is understood to represent the views of the Lord's Day Alliance which is campaigning throughout the country in behalf of the measure and seeking the endorsement of trade and labor organizations as well as of churches and other public bodies. It is alleged that the intention of the proponents of this measure is to have the Jones bill enacted for the District of Columbia and then have one quite similar provided for the various states.

It is right that Sunday should be religiously observed, but that does not call for any law obliging the people to refrain absolutely from physical labor that is necessary and to shut down all places of amusement just as if we were to put on the habiliments of gloom and await the end of the world with the dawn of each Sunday morning.

The proposed restrictions upon the liberties of the individual, provided in this bill would strike a serious blow at American freedom as guaranteed in the constitution and would interfere with the religious observance of Sunday upon which the people should be free to decide for themselves. The enactment of any measure such as the Jones bill, would simply tend to spread disrespect for the law and to promote law-breaking instead of greater respect for all laws human and divine, as we presume is the object of the bill.

The observance of Sunday is a matter for the people of each state to decide for themselves. Congress in attempting to pass such legislation would show a disposition to encroach upon state rights.

A. F. OF L. POLICIES

The American Federation of Labor in its recent national convention did not adopt any policy differing materially from its platform of previous years. Perhaps the greatest departure—a step forward it might be called—was to favor a labor insurance company such as has been operating in England. Another important plank in the platform is that opposing any invasion of private industry by the government. It is plain that except in emergencies such as war or any great calamity, the government should not become a competitor in any branch of private industry. In the matter of politics, the Federation wisely adheres to its time-honored policy of neutrality as between the political parties. Any other policy would be fatal. Thus the idea of forming a third or labor party for political action has been abandoned.

Some restriction of the veto power of the supreme court is favored, but a clear understanding of the duties of the court will show that its function in reference to the acts of congress is not one of approval or disapproval as the measure is put before the president. It is simply one of interpreting the constitution, and no authority can tell the court whether it will uphold the constitution in whole or in part. This talk about a veto is absurd. The court when called upon for an opinion upon the constitutionality of any measure, answers affirmatively or negatively, giving its reasons; it cannot say that an act of congress is 90 per cent constitutional and 10 per cent otherwise. If it violates the constitution in the slightest, then the decision is negative and the act so condemned is thereby annulled. Were it otherwise, we should have no authority to tell us what is constitutional and what is not. Under such conditions the constitution would soon be obliterated.

SHORT SESSION OF CONGRESS

Plans for the short session of congress which will open next Monday, have already been outlined by the republican leaders. It appears that the investigations of Nicola Sacco, Teapot Dome and a few other matters are likely to be resumed, while the postal pay bill which President Coolidge vetoed will probably be passed over the veto, inasmuch as now that election is over the members will not be afraid to commit themselves on the measure.

If in expected that the session will be a very busy one. One of the interesting items of business has to do with the attempt to unseat Senator Mayfield of Texas whose election has been placed under a cloud that must be passed upon by a committee of the senate followed by a vote of the body. There will be a movement to repeal the publicity clause of the income tax law on which the government has become so entangled that it cannot give any clear definition of the statute. Even the courts disagree as to whether the newspapers that published returns under this law are liable to prosecution.

The congressional farm bloc will come in with a program of legislation, which will be backed up by the insurgent element that has already been practically expelled from the republican party. With the amount of business to come before the session and the divisions representing the varied interests on many of the issues, it is safe to say that the short session will be a rather hot one, while it may last much longer than expected.

DRIVE AGAINST HARRIS

It seems that there is a real republican drive started to oust United States Attorney Robert O. Harris who has had charge of the run-running cases in the town of Salisbury and Newburyport. The action of United States Attorney General Stone in sending a contempt order to the court not to sentence two selections of Salisbury who had been convicted of conspiracy and run-running, has caused surprise and amazement. The court had already named the sentence that would be meted out to these two officials, but had not in reality pronounced it. The defendants had been given a certain period of time in which to straighten out their affairs before going to jail. Now it is alleged that they will be allowed to turn the state's evidence against others who took a minor part in the conspiracy. The statement is made that Judge Harris is not persona grata with the administration, and that he is to be driven out. It is said that he has been kept in office by Senator Lodge, but now that the senator is dead, he will have to fight his own battles and he allows that he is quite ready to do so. The public will watch with keen interest the outcome of this almost unprecedented interference from Washington with the prohibition law.

PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT AGENCY

In view of the difficulties confronting the farmers in securing the necessary labor when most needed in spring and autumn, the Russell Sage Foundation after considerable research, advocates a government agency to assist the farmers in finding laborers and equally to assist the laborers in finding desirable employment where their services are most needed. There is undoubtedly here a situation in which such an agency as proposed might be of considerable service both to the farmer and the unemployed. The present immigration law has cut off the annual influx of labor from Europe which was always ready to seek out the fields where employment could be found most readily. In order to bring the limited labor supply to the places where it is most needed, therefore, a public employment office that will also direct the transportation of laborers, might prove very useful alike to the farmers and the laborers seeking employment and willing to work.

MR. JEE ON EDUCATION

Alonzo R. Jee, a manufacturer of elevators in Brooklyn, N. Y., believes that modern education, particularly that of women, is one of the great evils of the age, and while his opinions may not be worth very much, still he has undertaken to put them in book form for the enlightenment of the reading public.

He believes that women's colleges should be burned to the ground for the reason, as he alleges, that college education is not good for women. If he refers to the effect of such education on the nervous system of women students, his statements may have some foundation in fact. It is true, that women cannot go through the long years of hard study without more or less injury to their nervous system, if not to their physical constitution. The same is true but to a less degree of some men.

Mr. Jee's view of education is, "that we are getting too many of the 'talents' into our schools and that we pay too little attention to the three 'R's' and the training necessary for plain business vocations. All this is old stuff."

Perhaps Mr. Jee knows more about education than Henry Ford, knows about history and yet the former's opinions recall what Mr. Ford said in regard to history being "pure bunk." However, the public will doubtless read Mr. Jee's book and may possibly later be privileged to pursue one by Henry Ford in reference to history. Both books will derive their principal interest from the standing of the authors as manufacturers. It sometimes appears very strange that men, who possess but slight general knowledge and even little education, succeed so well in a particular line of business, to which they devote their entire energies.

MARVIN'S CALENDAR

Dr. Marvin, the head weather prophet for Uncle Sam, favors a change in the calendar which would have 13 months a year with 25 days in each month. Many people would back him on learning that his specifications call for an extra holiday on the 35th day, which would be left over in the revised calendar.

It would be very convenient, of course, to have every month begin on Sunday and end on Saturday; but the year so arranged would not after all be astronomically correct, and certain corrections would have to be made at stated periods in order to keep pace with the seasons and the tropical year. It would be very difficult to get the people of all nations to adopt such a calendar and unless it is universally used there will be great confusion of dates. The Gregorian calendar, although inconvenient in some respects, is about as nearly accurate as we can have, and Dr. Marvin's proposition may be noticed in the calendar on account of its convenience and the advantage arising from having an exact number of days in each month and having all anniversaries fall on the same day of the week.

RUSSIAN TREATY DROPPED

When Premier Ramsay MacDonald of England retired a few weeks ago, he had on hand an Anglo-Russian treaty ready for signature, but not ratified by parliament. Now it appears, the new premier, Stanley Baldwin, has told Russia the treaty will not be ratified for the reason, as alleged, that the soviet government, through the third international, is trying to start a revolution in England. It is trying to start the revolution everywhere, but is making little or no progress. It was for the same reason that Secretary Hughes said Russia was trying to foment disaster in this country a year ago. Both Hughes and Baldwin base their charges on letters by President Zinoviev of the third international. The genuineness of these letters is not questioned, and the Russian authorities say they are forgeries. The question it seems is whether Zinoviev represents Russia and the soviet government or merely a revolutionary organization that diffuses a lot of hot air which is not likely to start a conflagration anywhere.

FOOD OF ATHLETES

It is announced that sugar was fed in unusually large quantities to the soccer team of Yale to increase the physical energy of the players. The purpose was merely to verify the theory that depletion of sugar in the blood is what causes exhaustion of athletes. Professors say results were noticeable, but not convincing. We are surprised that any such experiment should have been tried by the representatives of any educational institution. It is well known that for many years past that while sugar has a slightly stimulating effect for the moment, its use in excess is like burning the furniture of the house to keep up the heat. If Yale's soccer team failed to show virility or endurance, the sugar experiment may explain why.

DANGEROUS CORNER

There should be a post with a directing sign at the outer junction of the riverdale boulevard with First street where the fatal accident occurred on Thursday night. At present the white cone ends abruptly in the roadway at the junction of the two thoroughfares. There is nothing to guide strangers who might be disposed to follow the car track on First street, the white line marking the middle of the roadway and following the curve would assist motorists in keeping the right path.

GOODWIN'S PLAN

Registrar Goodwin's proposed method of dealing with violators of the motor vehicle laws, seems plausible and should be seriously considered. It would turn over to his department many of the cases which are now crowding the court dockets and wasting the time of police officers.

The election commission should insist that precinct officers shall follow orders or lose their jobs. Quitting the job before the vote is counted and the returns sent to city hall as required by law is a serious offense. It destroys the security with which the returns should be protected against being tampered with in any way.

A Lynn man named Spannan applies to the courts for permission to change his name to Hugh Manly. He is a teacher of physical culture and perhaps feels that his new name would suggest his calling. But it does not seem that he ever did much to honor the old name he has cast aside.

Citizens of Lowell who fail to go to the polls next Tuesday to register their choice for mayor, councilors and school officers in the coming year, will be in every sense of the word.

A Thought

As sure as God's good, so surely there is no such thing as necessary evil.—Southey.

Dearly Loved Him

James went home feeling well pleased with himself. He had some pleasant news for his wife. He told her he had insured himself for $1000. She said, "Thank goodness for that. Now I need not keep on telling you to be careful when you cross the roads."

The Canoe Seat

The clerks in a bank were finishing up the day's work and getting ready to leave when the manager rushed into the room and asked if the cashier, a Scotsman, had gone home. "No, sir," a junior, replied, "he must be in the building." "Are you certain," asked his chief. "Quite certain," was the reply; "his matches are on his desk."

Slow at Learning

A schoolteacher was talking to the mother of a boy who had reached the eighth grade. "He's got all the learning he'll ever want," said the mother. The teacher replied: "I was at school until 18, and spent four years at college, and I know very little." "Ah, my son," said the mother, "some folks are much slower at learning than others."

Some Traveler

Some idea of the traveling propensities of the Canadian geese can be measured by the fact that a 12-year-old specimen of this species was brought down by a duck hunter near Lafayette, N. C. The bird was an aluminum tin bearing a Biblical text and the address of Joe Miner, whose sanctuary for feathered creatures is located in Kingsville, Ontario.

A Mother's Love

Within a garage at Winslow, Ariz., when it was ignited by the explosion of a drum of gasoline, were eight puppies, new born and helpless. The mother dog ran through the flames to emerge with one of her offspring. She repeated this eight times, till her coat was burned from her back, her last trip completed with a scorched and dead puppy. But she is quite happy with the others.

Getting Things Mixed

"Miss Carlyle," murmured the officer in charge of the dog, "don't you want to be a dog? You really don't." "Let's have the answer," said the damsel nonchalantly. "What's gone wrong now?" "I just want to ask you not to write your young man during business hours. Letters are apt to get mixed up with the report we have sent 'em a shipment of love and kisses instead of the axle grease they ordered."—Pittsburg Sun.

Taking His Sillies Down

A young man with an inflated opinion of his own importance called upon a very busy lawyer and was kept waiting for some time. When he was shown into the office he said, indignantly, "Imagine, sir, that you do not know who I am. My father is the director of a railway company." "Take a chair, please," said the lawyer. "And my uncle is a millionaire grain merchant," continued the young man. "Take two chairs, please," said the man of law.

Misplaced Confidence

"That intelligent-looking boy," said the schoolmaster to the man he was showing over the school grounds, "is Brown. I am proud of Brown. I have inculcated in him the love of learning to such an extent that he now prefers study to play. I expect at this moment he is writing Latin prose, while all the other pupils are at play. I will ascertain." He called the lad to him. "Now," he said, "let us see the result of your industry." "I'd rather not, sir," blushed Brown. "Note his modesty," whispered the schoolmaster. "Come, Brown, let me see what you have been writing." Still the boy demurred. But the schoolmaster insisted. Mr. Thomas Nicholson and Miss Grace E. Haskell, Mr. Frank J. Young and Miss Emma Kelley; Mr. John Sullivan and Miss Elizabeth Brown. Rev. Avile Anyot, O.M.I., of St. Joseph's church united in the bonds of matrimony, Mr. Charles Thoralt and Miss Marie L. Gagnon; Mr. David Lavender and Miss Emma McShane; Mr. Patrick Riley and Miss Elizabeth O'Connor were married by Rev. Michael O'Brien.

Over and Over Again

Over and over again. No matter which way I turn, I always find in the book of life some lesson I have to learn.

I must take my turn at the mill. I must grind out the golden grain. I must work at my task with a resolute will.

Over and over again. We cannot measure the need Of the tiniest flower. Nor check the flow of the golden sands That run through a single hour.

But the morning dew must fall. And the sun and the summer rain. Must do their part and perform it all. Over and over again.

Over and over again. The brook through the meadow flows. And over and over again. The ponderous mill wheel goes.

Once doing will not suffice. Though doing be not in vain. And a blessing falling us once or twice May come if we try again.

The path that has once been trod Is never so rough to our feet. And a lesson we once have learned Is never so hard to repeat.

Though sorrowful teams may fall. And the heart to its depths be riven With storm and tempest, we need them To render us meet for Heaven.

—JOSEPHINE POLLARD.

UNDER THE SPOTLIGHT

"Under the Spotlight '24" was again presented in Memorial Auditorium last evening before a capacity audience which enjoyed the presentation from the rise of the curtain to its fall. The players were exceptionally good last evening and all deserve an equal share of praise in making the affair the success that it was. The orchestra was particularly careful to play the music to the accompaniment of the play. To them on Thanksgiving day and to the firemen who furnished transportation for them, and to from the Auditorium.

PARK WHIST CLUB

A meeting of the Park Whist club was held last evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Merchant in Middlesex street. The following short business session an entertainment program was enjoyed with all participating. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Tom Ray and Mrs. Mamie Daley of St. Albans, Vt.

QUARTER CENTURY AGO

William P. Thornton, head attendance officer of the school department read a paper before the Massachusetts Tripartite Officers' Association at Marlboro on "School Offenders" and gave many suggestions for the prevention and reform of such delinquents.

City election 25 years ago was held on December 12. The old bleachers at the city hall were then in force.

Elks Memorial Services

Lowell Lodge of Elks held its annual memorial service at the Opera House on Sunday evening, Dec. 3. Daniel J. Donohue, Esq., delivered the principal address. In evening he said: "From the icy fastnesses of the land of perpetual snow to where the warm winds of the south; from where the restless Atlantic breaks on the rocky Redoubt New England coast to where the setting sun kisses the giant redwood of California bidding this redoubt good night; all over this broad land the Elks meet today in memory of their dead."

"Not in the spring, when the birds sing, not in the summer when the flowers bloom, not in the autumn when nature is shedding her foliage, but in black December when birds and flowers and leaves are gone, we come together to pay tribute to our dead."

The speaker dwelt eloquently upon the principles of the order, Charity, Justice, Brotherly Love and Fidelity, and closed with this paragraph: "We leave them in their home graves we leave them in their home hearts that mingle with the dust shall tell them with their fragrance, we leave them still. Let us thank God that through the clouds of sorrow is shining the rainbow of eternal happiness and immortality, never to be broken."

Dr. F. C. Plunkett Died

Dr. Francis C. Plunkett, one of Lowell's leading physicians, died suddenly at his home in Worthen street. He came from Ireland in 1881 when he was 23 years old. He had graduated from the Royal College of Surgeons in Dublin.

Given a Testimonial

John Dion who had his leg broken in a basketball game was tendered a testimonial by the C. C. Association. The program took the form of a dance and entertainment and was largely attended.

John Desmond a Hero

John Desmond, a graduate of the old Mann school, escaped from the clutches of the Philippines where he had served nearly two months in prison. He received two medals from congress for deeds of bravery in action as a member of Young's Scouts. He passed through a great many exciting battles and his deeds of bravery caused even his commanding officers to wonder how he ever escaped with his life.

A DAY'S work

When the sun has gone down and the day has passed, out, and your work-time has ceased for a spell, do you know what your day's work has all been about? Is your mind sick, or feeling real well? The eight hours for work and the eight hours for play and the eight hours for sleep sounds just right. "I will work out that way if you work in the day, 'cause your mind will be clear for the night."

The fellow who loafs and is shirking his job plays a game that will lose in the end. It isn't your boss but yourself that you rob when to business you fail to attend.

Whenever you feel that the hours drag along and your path seems an up-hilly grade, the answer, perhaps, is that something is wrong in the way that you're plying your trade.

Take check on yourself every night when you quit; recall how your work-time was spent. You'll find that you're generally feeling real fit if you've battled one hundred per cent.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

With the 15,000 attendance at the Lowell-Lawrence football game Thanksgiving Day a permanent fixture in their memories, many of the local high school supporters are looking forward to next year's clash between the same two teams in this city. Alumni field, they reckon, will accommodate not more than 8000, and it is a certain bet that there will be a demand for as many tickets next year as this. Of the sport fans who stand forth in the sport fans' ranks in a standing ovation to Haverhill's which would accommodate about 16,000, but they know one year is too little time for any such project to be put through. Meanwhile they sit and think matters over, although many feel already that the only solution will be to play the game on neutral field.

In this city where a big crowd can be handled easily.

Motorcycle Officer Bernard J. Judge has a very busy time of it Thanksgiving day. In the morning he was assigned to cover the Andover street route where a steady stream of automobiles was in progress from 8 o'clock in the morning until 10, the machines being populated with Lowell people going to the Lowell-Lawrence football game at Lawrence.

When the game was over the procession had to come back over the road and again Officer Judge was on the job. Not a single mishap was recorded. In the afternoon, the same officer was detailed to service on the Lowell-Tewksbury road and once again he and his hands full of weight vehicles crowded the highway before and after the game between the Bulls and the O.M.I. Cadets at Alumni field. "This officer's holiday was all work, and we don't mean maybe."

On December 5, next Friday, the new state law for the enforcement of prohibition will take effect under the mandate of the popular vote at the state election. It is known as Chapter 310 of the Acts of 1924. The term liquor in the act will apply to any beverage containing more than half of one per cent alcohol by weight, a stated temperature. Offenders can now be brought into the state courts instead of having the entire business done in the federal courts. Otherwise the adoption of the new law makes little difference.

CHILDREN WILL GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

On Dec. 9 and 10 in St. Joseph's College hall, the children of St. Joseph's orphanage will give an entertainment and play, the proceeds of which will be donated to the fund for the Home for the Aged of St. Joseph's parish. Plans are completed and already a large number of tickets have been sold. The capacity of the hall will be filled, and

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL SEASON FOR 1924 IN RETROSPECT

Ten Games Played Result in Six Victories, Three Defeats and One Scoreless Tie—Team Played Intelligent Football and Showed Fine Spirit

selection upon the season just closed shows the Lowell high school football team in 10 games, of which number six were victories, three were defeats and one was a scoreless tie. Three so-called big games, with Manchester, N. H., Pitchburg and Lawrence, were won, while the Haverhill game, another defeat, was a victory. Other teams defeated were Concord, N. H., Concord, Mass., Boston High School of Commerce, Amesbury and Woburn. Nashua, the opening game of the season, was a 0 to 0 tie.

In these 10 games Lowell scored 72 points and had 45 points scored against them.

An unusual situation is that no team scored more than 13 points in any game against Lowell and likewise, Lowell's biggest total in any game was limited to the same mystic and somewhat magical figure.

all teams, therefore, would seem that defense was considerably stronger than attack.

Opening the season against Nashua with a scoreless tie, Capt. Heron's team took the next two games, against Concord, N. H. and Commerce, by scores of 6 to 0 and 13 to 0. Then came two setbacks, against Manchester, and Fitchburg. Manchester got a 13 to 0 verdict and Fitchburg scored two touchdowns for a total of 13 points, while holding the Concord defenseless. Then followed four victories in Concord, Mass., Uxbridge, Amesbury and Fitchburg, leaving the victims and the respective scores, 13 to 0, 7 to 6, 7 to 0 and 13 to 0. The Lawrence game on Thanksgiving day, ending in a 13 to 7 defeat, closed the season.

wards into a compact and effective front, taught them how to tackle, how to carry their hands legally and how to carry out their assignments whether on the offense or the defense.

Behind this line, Head Coach Linton perfected the workings of a good backfield and instilled a spirit that was unconquerable. This coaching combination worked out most effectively in what is more, produced real results.

Frank Heron as captain, proved himself a capable leader and his play in the Lawrence game was fine. His hill, it had at least one touchdown drive (varnate over Lowell) on Balmoral field and that is the way the big game came out. Lawrence beat Haverhill, 13 to 6, while Lowell was beating the Drown 7 to 6.

Football interest within the school this year reached the highest point in history and resulted in the largest squad ever. At a time it was possible to have six all-star sections running through signals at one time and right up to the end, through daily squad held up to the end, through daily and a grueling practice, the school and allowed the coaches an opportunity to make judicious selections of first string men and substitutes. The result was a fine string of replacement men well able to hold up their end with the varsity lineup.

From this big squad, Coach Littleton picked moulded a good team. Let there be no doubt that the save all he had in his last contest and be found under every play no matter how hard he chose to attempt. He knew the rules, knew the points and in every way made the most of captain.

There is much in the season's results to praise as not so much to criticize. The team seemed to play better between the 30-yard lines than between them and the goal line and have seemed to play pass as well as run. They will "go" at least ten times out of five tries. But on the whole, the coaches should feel satisfied in the interest shown in the school at large and the general public felt the team worthy of praise. Next year an even better showing will be made.

This year's first team graduates next June will take a long leave leaving a considerable hole in the line. The eight who will not re-

This year's eleven played 'intelligent' football, knew how to fight and never gave up. In the backfield Baron was a sizzling light, but the line was too well balanced and too uniform to warrant any individual selection.

The line play was the best in years, due to Al Pierotti's excellent coaching. He whipped a strong set of forward for 1935 are Capt. Heron, O'Neil, Southland, Gauthier, Allard, Baron, Roman and Mulino.

This means two new ends, a new centre, one new guard and two new tackles and leaves Jack Ryan as the only veteran. Around him a new line must be built. Kufe, Denough and McManmon are good replacements to form a nucleus.

Gossip

The present football prospectus indicates that the curtain will be rung down on the first street oval tomorrow afternoon when the Fenians will take the Kenwood Rovers in the grand finale. The game will get under way at 2.30 p.m. Lock sharp with all the players on edge and rearing to go.

The Ricard cup, it seems, is going to the O.M.I. Cadets by virtue of their 6-0 victory over the Butlers at Alumni field Thursday. Although the St. Peter's Cadets have challenged the winners of this debate, it seems impossible at this writing that the teams will meet this season. The adviser on the St. Peter's, we understand, objects to a clash between these two teams on present its strongest lineup. The winner will claim the city title at that weight.

Lowell high has not broken off athletic relations with Lawrence as reported in a Boston paper. To our knowledge at this time would be a tragedy and surely Lowell does not want to disrupt the rivalry. Neither does Lawrence.

The Rovers are the favorites to win the encounter, but like Lowell high went into the Lawrence title the under-dog so will the Fenians against the Kenwoodians. Bill Dugan

The ground that the St. Peter's are too young for the bigger Cadets.

Regardless of whether the St. Peter's engage in another game this year, there is no denying the fact that they were the biggest sensation of the season. They were the biggest surprise of the year after they held the Butlers to a 6-5 deadlock.

The Ponies-Rovers game will be the big clash on tomorrow's program. Both teams have prepared for the struggle since the first of the year. They have direct all their energy in the direction of this game, and hoofs will be when they oppose each other tomorrow.

The Lowell newboys played a 12-12 game with the Grand A. C. yesterday morning. The feature of the game was the line plunging of Boyer and Diette for the newbies and Rosenkard and and All Crossland. Pony mentors say they have a great surprise in store for the victors.

It is to be sincerely hoped that the game will proceed along its course without unnecessary interruption. There will be thousands of fans in attendance and all are expecting to see a thrilling game. That's what they intend to pay, and that's what they want to get. The rest is up to the contestants.

Impartialists officials will have charge of affairs. No official will have connection with the rival teams whatsoever, and in this way, argument will be eliminated.

The playing field will be roped off and the yard-lines chalked. All that is needed now is a clear day, but rain or slighc the game will go on.

Hayward, Tom Dorsey, Jim Corbett and Fred Vinal will be the starting backfield for the Kenwood Rovers in their game with the Ponies tomorrow. The Rovers held practice last night and wound up their preparations for the game.

The starting backfield lineup of the Ponies will probably be Jim Gardner, Mort Riley, Eddie Klatka and G. Keefe.

An important football game is scheduled for the North common tomorrow afternoon, when the fast moving St. Patrick's school team, will line up against the Triangle 2nd XI.

Both teams have been preparing for this game for some time, and each will

During the early part of the season the Kenwood Rovers were coached by Arthur Lynch.

The Triangles, strong contenders for the 100-pound championship, advanced nearer their objective, when they defeated the St. Peter's Cadets Thirds by a 12 to 5 score on the South common Thanksgiving day. The St. Peter's were the first team to score on the Triangles in seven games. The Triangles still remain undefeated, and would like to meet the Cubs or St. Patrick's on the North common tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

A large delegation of local fans went to Boston today to witness the annual battle at Braves field between Boston college and Holy Cross. B. is the favorite to come through.

PADEREWSKI OFFERED POST TO U. S.

WARSAW, Nov. 29.—Ignace Jan Paderewski, the great pianist and former premier of Poland, is to be offered the post of minister to the United States. It is rumored in political circles. His acceptance, however, is considered very doubtful.

St. Paderewski and his wife are expected to arrive here today.

MAN FELL 3 STORIES, INJURED HIS ANKLES

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Nov. 29.—James Baker, a boomboxer in the night shift of the Citydendale Worsted company here and weighing 235 pounds, fell three stories down an elevator well in the mill during the night and escaped with fractured ankles. Failure of a safety device designed to close the gates when the elevator is on another floor is held to be responsible for the accident.

LOCAL MILL BUSINESS IS PICKING UP

The healthier condition of the textiles in the American sales markets and the demands for new goods, to meet supplies no longer coming in competitive quantity volume from foreign sources, was responsible for the unusual production in several local textile mills throughout the week ending this noon.

Most mills took no advantage of general market conditions and a weekly run by a mill, but continued production yesterday and this morning as usual, and will operate in December on the usual scale at present in force.

The Massachusetts mills have one department ahead of the others, the small pay-roll, straight through, the week, and this was in operation as usual yesterday and today.

Hamilton Manufacturing company maintained its regular schedule, which constituted a week ago, when the "old section" was opened for a long shut-down. Production continues until Saturday noon.

Tremont & Suffolk corporation had departments operating yesterday, but has no weekly schedule.

Spewick mills maintain full-week production schedules, backed by a healthier business outlook in the production of stockings reported. Wholesale markets are in a much better condition to accept new orders to all retailers' vacant stock rooms.

The New England Southern and the Lowell Silk mills are steadily operating on their attractive lines, there being no lessening in the demand for both the wide sheetings and the spooled silks.

Shoe Industries (a) Full production activities in local shoe manufacturing plants completed many mail orders for novelty and McKay footwear specialties, and business up to the first of October, was excellent. Since then, in some of the leading local industries there have been somewhat reduced outputs, owing to the general halting of the wholesale market during the four months interim before making annual selections of new footwear needed for the different trades next spring.

Few Lowell manufacturers have received many orders for the 1925 market as yet, but work in all plants continues with about the same complement of employees on payrolls during the "waiting period." The leaders of the shoe and leather industry in Lowell hope for the best.

The Laganas company on Market street, has no rush orders to fill at present, but continues production weekly with plenty of out-of-town merchants on the regular list, buying in conservative quantities to meet seasonal orders. The well-established Lowell shoe manufacturing concern is prepared for the first sign of 1925 spring business about the first of December. Mr. Laganas said: "The company will have latest designs in the McKay 'lover' and novelties for women and girls' wear."

C. V. Watson Co. finds no hectic market demands in the shoe industry, but steady local production continues and the company is good for quantity spring orders, which may arrive much before January 1. It is believed here.

The shoe market finds itself in a "seasonable slow-down" condition at the present time. Some manufacturers prefer to believe that there are too many mid-western factories turning out men's and women's shoes today, with many surplus stocks predominant in the larger cities, where the wholesale markets are somewhat congested.

There is a feeling that the over-supplies will be disposed of if the weather shows a disposition to make it an old-fashioned winter, however, and local manufacturers are optimistic enough when discussing spring business. Today's story of the shoe manufacturing business in Lowell may have a new angle to it when the New Year rolls in.

Textile Shares Advancing

The sharp advances in the Boston stock market trading again this week, have caused the cotton mills, 24 shares in the auctions Wednesday sold for 125 1/2—just 7 points higher than previous sales of small blocks on Monday and Tuesday. Hamilton company's shares sold for 54 on Wednesday and Thursday, advancing for the week of 11 points. The latter's remarkably good showing in production at the present time was responsible for the picking up of the speculative markets.

American Woolen company advanced two points to 61 and Lowell bleachers, Boot mills and Tremont & Suffolk stocks stiffened perceptibly on every sale of a few odd lot shares.

And this sudden strengthening in old reliable New England cotton mill corporate shares comes at a time when southern cotton mills are operating at approximately full capacity, with a good volume of orders ahead.

CHRISTMAS BAZAAR AT OLD LADIES' HOME

Final plans have been made for the annual Christmas bazaar to be held at the Old Ladies' Home, in Fletcher street early next month, for the benefit of the home. Mrs. Rodriguez Mignault, chairman of the general committee is being assisted by a corps of able workers, all members of the Patron's organization, and a large attendance is expected this year. The following committees are in charge of the affair:

Art tables—Miss Miriam Secor, chairman; Miss Thelma Laurin, assistant; Misses Virginia Cook, Shirley Beharrell, Eunice Cook, Catherine Dutton, Elizabeth Fisher, Dorothy Fuller, Betty Foster, Estelle Laurin, Frances MacBryne and Betty White.

Doll table—Miss Katherine Bartlett, chairman; Miss Beatrice Warner, assistant; Misses Dorothy Blenchesett, Elizabeth Dexter, Lillian Hedrick, Vera Kay, Ann Lambert, Ruth Lambert, Betty MacBryne, Betty McIlhargue and Sarah Pearson.

Food table—Miss Natalie Gardner, chairman; Miss Katherine Clapp, assistant; Misses Mary Barbara Cooke, Priscilla Fox, Nancy Hawley, Doris McKiltrick, Elizabeth Page, Eleanor Pratt and Ruth White.

DECREASE IN THE LOCAL DEATH RATE

A decided decrease in the death rate for the city is reported this week by the board of health, the rate being 10.15, compared to 14.78 the week previous. There were 22 deaths during the week, a decrease of 10 from the figures of the week previous. Of this number 5 were due to pneumonia, 3 were of children under five years of age and one of an infant less than one year of age.

Infectious diseases reported for the week follow: Tuberculosis, 4; measles, 1.

FRATERNAL NEWS

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will meet in the veterans' wing of the Memorial Auditorium Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock to take part in the dedication of a number of squares in the Centralville district in honor of World War heroes.

B. F. Butler Women's Relief Corps members are requested to meet in the Memorial Auditorium, post 185 room, at 2:15 p. m. tomorrow, and to wear badges and white gloves.

A regular meeting of the Pawtucketville Social club was held last evening in the club rooms in Moody street with President Alphonse Fortier in the chair. Routine business was transacted and a number of committee reports filed. A meeting of the political organization of the club followed the business meeting with Timothy Roy, president of the Comité Permanent de Naturalization, in charge.

Corde Paroissiale de Notre Dame de Lourdes met in regular session last evening in the parochial hall in East Pine street with President Ovilla Bergeron in the chair. Routine business was transacted and a talk of general interest was given by Rev. Fr. Lucien G. Brassard, chaplain. The fourth round of the whist tournament followed the business meeting, and the winners were as follows:

William Dunn, Gerlie Fortin, Wilfrid Boisvert, Alfred Lebonne, R. L. Loupre, H. Cormier, Joseph Gregoire, David Gendreau, L. Chervin, A. Gaudet, H. Moreau, Ovilla Bergeron, Alfred Nadeau, Ernest Lambert, Leo Cormier, A. W. Fortier and Louis Cote.

Will Dedicate Tablets

Continued

It is to be an observance of appeal to the heart and the noblest sentiments of American citizenship, and will appeal particularly to a community that has furnished so many soldiers of war in the cause of American freedom.

The impressive dedication of the soldiers' memorial tablets will begin promptly at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The principal speaker of the day will be Frederick Palmer, famous war correspondent, who served in the first rank during the World War and was awarded officially the Congressional Medal of Honor by the American Expeditionary Forces, in direct contact at all times with Gen. John J. Pershing. Mr. Palmer's memorial address will be notable in many ways, and highly appropriate for the dedication ceremony.

The formal exercises will open with an invocation by Rev. Wallace C. Sampson, pastor of Calvary Baptist church of this city, who saw service during the World War as chaplain. After a brief address by the mayor, there will be remarks by Gen. Joseph A. Mollo, for the American Legion; Alexander D. Mitchell, for the Spanish War Veterans; and Dudley L. Page, representing the Grand Army of the Republic.

A short address will be delivered by Alfred J. Sawyer of the Lowell Historical society and then will come the singing of "America," by all present.

The ceremony of unveiling the tablets will be participated in by the following veterans: A. J. Gilman, M. M. Hayden, George Nutting, F. J. Brown, Capt. Donald B. MacIntyre, D.S.C., Maj. Fred A. Estes, Capt. Winifred C. MacBryne, D.S.C., and Nathan Lamson.

The salute will be given by members of Battery F, 102nd Regt. M.G., of this city and taps will be played by Buglers Francis Riggs, George E.

BEST SHOE REPAIRING AT 251 MIDDLESEX

Don't pay exorbitant prices when you want your shoes repaired, new taps and heels obtained to save your upper leathers. And get good service for the money you spent for your footwear. The Middlesex Shoe Repairing company at No. 251 Middlesex street is the best place in Lowell to give prompt service, quality repairing with quality leather products and the prices are always the lowest in the city.
Right now is the time to have your summer shoes repaired to withstand the winter weather conditions to come. Many people have good shoes that need tapping and neglect to have the work done. The Middlesex Shoe Repairing company will sew taps on men's shoes and also put on best quality rubber heels for $1.25. Women's shoes will receive the same remedial treatment to best quality materials and finest workmanship for a single dollar bill. Men's rubber heels are priced at 40 cents which includes putting on the heels so they will stay until they slowly wear out in the course of time after giving the longest possible service because of the live rubber used in their construction. The Middlesex Repairing station uses only Armory's famous standard oak tan leather and all first quality rubber heels.

PLenty OF TRADES IN BEST OF REAL ESTATE

It costs nothing to investigate the claims of Charles A. Howard, one of Lowell's best known real estate operators, whose office at No. 64 Central street is always busy and so handy to visit that it can't be overlooked when customers seek real estate bargains or have real estate offerings to place on the local or outside markets.
It may be that someone desires a summer cottage, or a bungalow location within the city, or a farmstead outside the boundaries or a chance to enter business in some good location where there are better opportunities to increase one's field of activities in the mercantile.
The Charles A. Howard real estate agency has a lot of trades in real estate and business chances to offer, and it costs nothing to investigate.

REAL ESTATE SALES

In the Christian Hill section of Centralville, conveyance has been effected of the modern residential property at 22-24 Fremont street. The house is of two apartments with six rooms and bath each. Land to the amount of 4430 square feet carrying an assessment at the rate of 170 per acre, a farmstead. The transfer is negotiated on behalf of the resident owner, Henry B. Butler. The grantees being John H. Hamel and Mary Hamel buying for personal occupancy.
In the Belvidere section the sale is negotiated of a new residence, situated at 55 Pentucket avenue near its junction with Andover street. This house is of colonial type with six rooms and bath and is modern to the last detail. The transfer is effected on behalf of Messrs. Angelo Solazzo and Gardenia Solazzo, the local landscape gardeners. The grantees are James J. Hemingway, who buys for a home.
Final papers have been sent to record in the transfer of a duplex property at 255-257 Rogers street, almost opposite its junction with Reppeth. Each apartment has nine rooms, heat and bath. The buildings occupy a lot of 5698 sq. ft. The grantees are Messrs. A. D. Sargent and Charles J. Wier, executors of the estate of the late Mrs. Freeman B. Shedd. The grantees are Mr. Alfred B. Hovey and Elizabeth F. Hovey, already resident on the premises.

TIRE SPECIALISTS GUARANTEE WORK

For the past 15 years, Messrs. G. A. Hoagaboom and M. Darnell have been H. & D. tire specialists. The store at 40 Branch street, is one of the busiest in the city today. The long established reputation of the managers is one that cannot be equaled in similar lines of business in Lowell motordom today. In the motor car necessary field, it has always shined in the local ornament. Hoagaboom and Darnell repair correctly all sizes of tires up to 40x8 pneumatic truck shoes. Work is guaranteed as well, and there are no "come backs." Prices are always right. For instance, this concern at No. 40 Branch street deals extensively in the famous Cooper tires, with special 30x3½ tires now selling for $9.00 apiece, and wonderful values they are, each and every day.

COMMERCIAL TREATY SIGNED
VIENNA, Nov. 29.—The commercial treaty between Czechoslovakia and Austria, based on the Austrian tariff recently passed by the national assembly has been signed. Czechoslovakia concedes duty reductions on one-third of the principal articles exported by Austria.
The finance minister, Dr. Ahrer, is quoted by the press as declaring his intention of relieving Austrian industry, now burdened by 30 per cent tax in every way possible.

CAMERAGRAMS

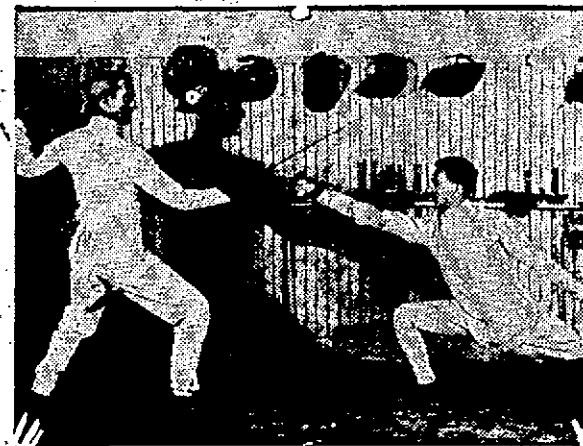

PETER PAN CAUSED PRETTY 17-YEAR-OLD BETTY BRONSON to lose her hair. When she was chosen by Sir James M. Barrie to appear in the motion picture version of "Peter Pan," Betty had the beautiful locks shown at the left. But alas, Peter is a boy and the gorgeous crest had to disappear. And now Betty's locks are a memory of the past—as the picture at the right shows.

HERE IS A FARMER who never needs to worry about dry weather. He has his farm under the ocean. Into his ox-drawn wagon he is pitching kelp, a seaweed, in Digby, Nova Scotia.

HERE ARE TWO DIPLOMATS engaged in something more dangerous than a play of words. Henry Breckenridge, former under-secretary of state, and Hassanien Bey, of the Egyptian embassy, are shown with crossed blades at the Raquet-club in Washington.

OUT OF THE DUNGEON-LIKE BLACKNESS of this cave at Selang, Cavite, in the Philippine Islands, trickles a small waterfall that is said to have marvelous health-giving properties. Its source never has been discovered.

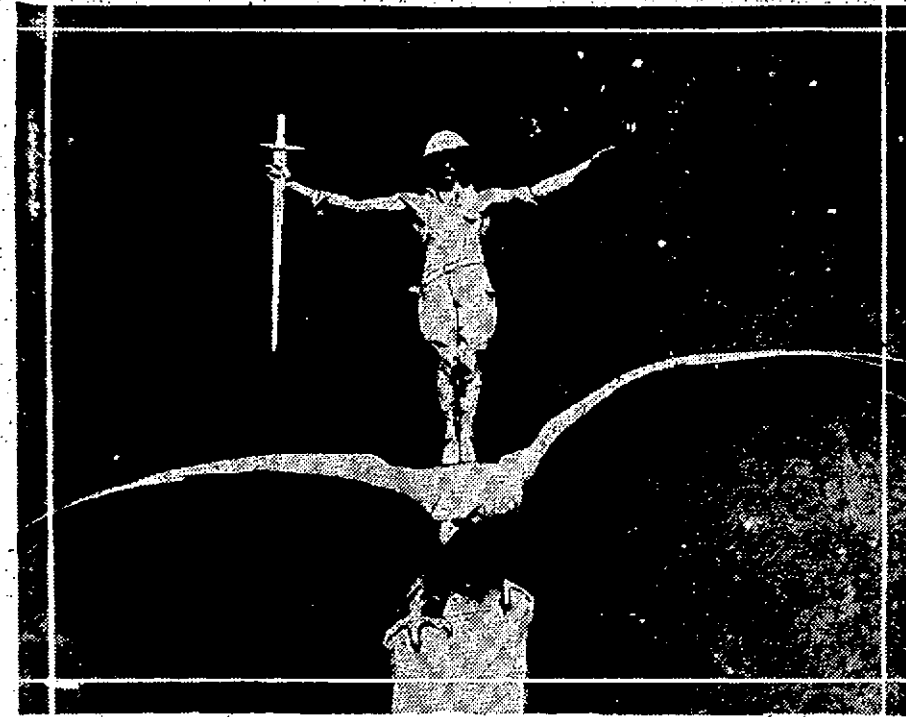

THIS MINIATURE MILL NESTLES in the woods near Marshfield, Massachusetts. Mrs. I. Winslow Jorgensen built it 17 years ago on the site of a regular-size mill of ancient vintage. Thousands of people have visited the spot and marveled at the toy plant.

THIS BABY RHINOCEROS at the Washington zoo was very lonesome. So the zoo authorities began unwinding red tape and secured from the bureau of animal industry of the Department of Agriculture a domestic goat, "Dorothy," and put her in the same cage.

DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN you went on joy rides this time of the year in equipment like this? You didn't have to worry about changing your mixture or putting on chains in those days of snow, Dobbin, and good times.

ON A ROCK JUTTING 50 FEET OUT OF THE WATER in the harbor of St. Nazaire, France, will be placed this memorial statue commemorating the first landing of American soldiers in France on June 16, 1917. The statue, designed by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, shows an American soldier astride a spread eagle, and armed with a crusader's sword.

RAINIER NATIONAL PARK is a picture-maker's paradise. Here is shown a wind-swept pine in the brooding shadow of a snow-peaked mountain that overlooks Paradise Valley and Nisqually Glacier. Winds in this vicinity sometimes attain tremendous velocity.

YOU HEAR MUCH OF OREGON'S tall pines—but Oregon's spruce trees could hardly be called mere saplings. Witness this spruce log, 100 feet in diameter, on a car en route from the forest to a sawmill. If you are of a mathematical turn of mind, figure out how many houses can be built from the lumber it contains.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 15

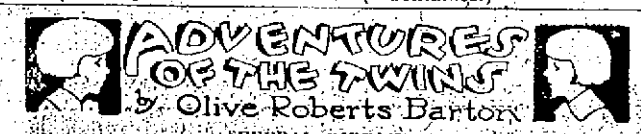

As the little adventurer found himself being lifted out of the cavern he discovered that Flop, his pet monkey, had jumped off his shoulder. "Where are you Flop?" he shouted. A squeak answered him and in an instant the monkey had climbed up the loadstool stem and joined Jack.

"I don't know where we are going," said the little adventurer, "but I'm going to hang on and find out." Then the loadstool stopped and Jack found that he was on the floor of another cavern. It looked very much like the room he had just left, and the hole they had come through was closed.

"Well, where are we now?" he said. And the little loadstool surprised him by replying, "I'm the little loadstool who will take you far and near, to places where you want to be. Your dog will soon be here." Then the loadstool said, "Just keep an eye on that entrance." (Continued.)

"WELL, TOM TINKER GUESSED IT ANYWAY," SAID THE RIDDLE LADY, "AND HE GETS THE PRIZE—A BOTTLE OF PERFUME."

"There's a riddle for everybody to guess," said the Riddle Lady. "It's very easy to plain as the nose on your face." Nancy and Nick and all of Mrs. John's visitors stopped talking and listened with all their might. "This was the riddle: 'I beat you to school, and I beat you getting home again. No matter where you go or what you do, you never catch up to me. I am right before you, yet you never see me. Who am I?' " "A shadow," guessed Nimble Jack. "No," said the Riddle Lady. "The wind," guessed Johnny Sprigg. "No," said the Riddle Lady. "Ah, I know!" cried Tom Tinker. "It's your nose." "No, your nose," laughed the Riddle Lady. "My nose doesn't beat you to school and beat you home again. It's your own nose." "You should say my nose," corrected the Wise Man. "If you wish to know anything about grammar, come to me." "Well, Tom Tinker guessed it anyway," said the Riddle Lady, "and he gets the prize—a bottle of perfume."

Report of Scientific Experts
—Coroner to Report

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 29.—Nothing that might be of value in clearing up the mystery which has surrounded the discovery of the practically cremated body of Mrs. Addie Sheatsley, in the furnace of Christ Evangelical Lutheran church parsonage, Nov. 17, was unearthed during a six and a half hour examination of the three elder members of the Sheatsley family yesterday and last night, according to County Prosecutor John H. King.

The Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, husband of the victim, and his two sons, Milton, 20, and Clarence, 16, were questioned at length by Mr. King, Assistant County Prosecutor J. A. Goodwin, Detectives Harry Carson and James Creedon and Dr. R. C. Tarbell, an alienist.

"Not a single divergence" from statements given officials in the three days of the tragedy resulted from the examination," Mr. King said.

Search for a youth wearing a light cap, who, according to detectives, entered the basement of a house in the fashionable Boxley district, not far from the parsonage, about 1 o'clock on the day of the tragedy, was being made today.

Prosecutor King will have a conference with his aides this morning. Future activities, he said, will depend upon the report of scientific experts who have conducted experiments with guinea pigs in an endeavor to learn how much, if any, carbon monoxide is developed by the furnace.

Analysis of blood taken from the lungs of the victim by Chemist C. F. Long showed no trace of carbon monoxide poisoning, causing Mr. Long to conclude that Mrs. Sheatsley was dead when her body entered the furnace, a report he made to Mr. King said.

Analysis of brownish crimson stains on articles found in the parsonage, which was first thought by authorities to have been human blood, showed they were not, Mr. King was informed late yesterday.

County Coroner Joseph Murphy, who announced a few hours after the body of Mrs. Sheatsley was found, committed suicide by casting himself into the furnace, will confer with members of the Sheatsley family today, he announced last night. He will make his report on the mystery next week, he said.

partment he was connected with Engine Co. 3 in Branch street and to all men within the department he was known as "Deacon" Boynton.

Capt. Boynton joined the fire department in 1869. He was a resident of the city since infancy. For many years he was prominent in trap shooting circles, being a member of the old Lowell Rod and Gun club and a member of the board of directors of the Fish and Game association. He also held membership in the state association, Highland Vedette lodge, No. 5, I.O.O.F., and the Lowell Firemen's Fund association. In earlier days he gained prominence as a baseball player as a member of the old Clippers.

Capt. Boynton is survived by two brothers, Fred of this city, and Charles of Minneapolis.

The body was removed to the rooms of Undertaker George W. Healey in Westford street.

up with pearls and ostrich feathers. Both gown and veil were worn by her mother at her wedding. Her bouquet was of lilies of the valley and orchids.

During the mass, vocal selections were rendered by St. Michael's quartet and Miss Irene Lawler, violinist, gave several solos with Mrs. Ella Reilly Toye at the organ.

Sent in the sanctuary during the ceremony were Rev. A. C. Madden, Rev. Thomas J. Hanney, Rev. Joseph A. Cullen and Rev. J. J. Foley.

The Misses Marie and Etheldreda McKenna, sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids. Mr. William P. Cawley, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Miss Margaret Shively, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. The bridesmaids wore orchid pink chiffon gowns and silver lace picture hats and carried yellow roses, while the flower girl wore a frack of blue Georgette over pink and carried a basket of pink roses.

The ushers at the reception and at the church were Messrs. Ernest Perry, Raymond Liston, Peter Craig and Stephen Shively.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Louise McKenna, 757 Bridge street, where more than 100 guests and friends assembled to welcome the bridal couple.

The house was attractively arranged with palms and yellow chrysanthemums, while the auto rooms and stair case leading to the dressing rooms were hung with greenery. Music was furnished by the Anne Carney orchestra. Out of town guests at the reception included friends from Boston, New York, Colby university and Trinity college.

Mrs. Cawley, a graduate of Trinity college, was one of Lowell's most popular high school teachers. A graduate of Notre Dame academy, she is prominent in all its activities.

Mrs. Cawley is a graduate of Colby university and is a prominent business woman and well known in athletic circles.

After an extended honeymoon trip to the south, Mr. and Mrs. Cawley will make their home at 330 Nesmith street.

Hobbs was brought to Bow street police court today and charged under the larceny act with receiving property which was described by a representative of the director of public prosecutions as a check for $150,000 which Hobbs is accused of having received on Dec. 27, 1919. The court ordered Hobbs to be committed.

The accused man characterized the warrant on which he was arrested as "quite absurd." He was taken to jail in a taxicab.

MIDDLESEX NORTH POMONA GRANGE

Middlesex North Pomona Grange's newly-elected master, Mrs. Lillian Snow of Tyngsboro, will call the members to order for the last rally of the current year, next week Friday morning, in Odd Fellows hall, Centralville. Her Master Sarah X. Mooney, popular in grange circles everywhere, will be present at the opening exercises, but no longer appears in the role of leader of the organization that flourishes in nine communities in the Lowell district.

Mrs. Snow has taken up her important duties with spirit and determination that augurs well for the Pomona Grange's 1925 activities in local fraternal fields. As overseer of No. 16 during the past year, she was very successful in all her efforts to encourage and faithfully support all members in the granges affiliated with Middlesex North.

Next Friday's all-day meeting of the grangers in Centralville—the last one of the current year—promises to be interesting from beginning to end. Home economics will be the most important topic for discussion in the afternoon. The speaker has not yet been selected. Dinner will be served by Lovell Grangers, who excel in providing grange banquets of a high order. The public is invited both to the dinner and the afternoon entertainment and lecture.

The morning business meeting calls for reports on current events. Mrs. Ruth West Crosby, leading there will also be an interesting display of modern electrical conveniences of the economical kind, so-called. A local corporation will exhibit new electrical household appliances.

Both Pomona and subordinate grange activities in the jurisdiction of Middlesex North No. 16, may be distributed at the December meeting.

criticized the management of a number of city departments and declared himself in favor of a stricter enforcement of the prohibition laws. Mr. Braden has been on the stump for the past week, while the mayor has confined his campaign for the most part to indoor meetings and an occasional outdoor speech. Both candidates will be outdoors tonight and both are expected to speak from the Auditorium stage Monday evening.

The unusually large vote cast at city primaries three weeks ago showed great interest in the campaign and while next Tuesday's vote may not total quite as big, it interest is maintained over the week-end and a poll of between 26,000 and 27,000 is probable.

While the majority fight has taken the centre of the stage, contests for the six councillor-at-large seats and for three school board positions have not been lost sight of and the possibilities for some new faces in the council are considered strong. This six present councillors have one more week along with six others and in the latter group are two or three men who are expected to show strength all over the city.

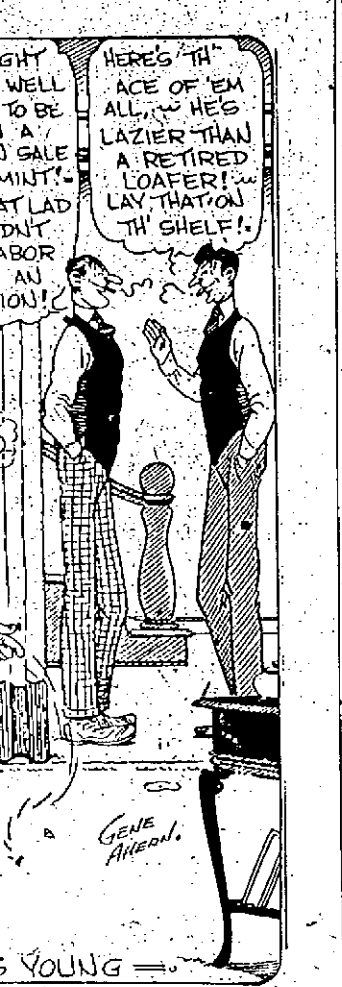

Present members of the school board, Mr. Delaney, Mr. Riley and Mr. Cameron, the latter filling out an unexpired term, also were nominated at the primaries, along with three others and the battle for places in this group will be keen.

Polls will open next Tuesday at 8 a. m. and will close at 6 p. m. These hours are identical with those of national election day, and with a short ballot, results should be known fairly early in the evening.

At a meeting of precinct officers called by the board of election commissioners for last Monday night, it will be emphasized that the next morning vote shall be telephoned to city hall by precinct officers as soon as tabulated. Arrangements also have been made between the election commission and newspapers to give these figures early publication through bulletin service.

FORBES-THOMPSON CASE

Introduction of Testimony
Will Begin Monday in Federal Court

CINCINNATI, Nov. 29.—Introduction of testimony against Charles R. Forbes, former veterans' bureau head, and John W. Thompson, St. Louis contractor, will begin Monday in their trial in federal court on charges of defrauding the government in contracts for veterans' hospitals in 1922.

In addition to its chief witness, Elmer H. Mortimer, the government has indicated it will question Mrs. Caroline Volaw, sister of the late President Harding, and possibly the former wife of Forbes. The defense plans to use the testimony of the former Mrs. Mortimer and possibly her mother, Mrs. Tullage of Philadelphus, as chief witnesses. The defense numbers will depend on the extent of the prosecution witnesses.

which he is still considered a citizen.

The warrant against Ponzi, obtained after several days of investigation into his activities in the past 20 years, charges that he is in the country in violation of the laws and Comintern. Johnson said that until Ponzi was given a hearing detailed charges could not properly be made public. It is known, however, that the evidence includes a record of Ponzi's conviction for smuggling aliens into the country from Canada for which he was sentenced to serve two years at Atlanta; the record of his three years' sentence for forgery at Montreal as Charles Bianchi in connection with his position as clerk in a private bank there and the evidence adduced in the federal courts where he was convicted of using the mails to defraud in his multi-million scheme of 1920.

The federal jury found him guilty and sentenced him to five years or a fine of $10,000, or both. He was in the state court two weeks ago disgraced on charges of larceny on which he was tried shortly after his release as a federal prisoner.

It is contended by the immigration authorities that when Ponzi re-entered this country several years ago, he failed to make known the record of his convictions in Canada and in this country, which would have been sufficient to refuse him entry at that time, and which are considered sufficient to effect his deportation now.

Ponzi was arrested early this morning in the Brighton apartment which he has recently occupied, the expensive mansion that he bought in the heyday of his international postal coupon scheme having been sold for his release. He made no resistance, it was said.

Commissioner Johnson said an immigration inspector would be assigned to conduct a hearing today or Monday, if Ponzi is able to obtain counsel. He said that he would be sent to the Washington for the customary survey by a board of review, and the report there would go to the secretary of labor for action. Ponzi may ask and receive a stay of proceedings here and may be required also to post a $5,000 bond to bring the matter before the courts, rather than the immigration authorities.

The man whose wizardry with figures, when he was convincing clients that he could meet his promises to pay, had led to his recent arrest, was recently matched by his wizardry with legal procedure in acting as his own attorney before the state courts when the jury returned a disagreement, may elect to act as his own counsel again.

It is understood that Ponzi had intended to become a United States citizen in March 1918. He said he was thirty-six years old at that time and came to Boston from Italy on the steamship Vancouver in 1903. The document is said to include no mention of his stay in Canada, of his conviction there or in this country.

Details Not Revealed
WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Immigration officials at Boston will have the entire responsibility for dealing with Charles Ponzi.

Commissioner-General Husband of the immigration service here today said the Boston authorities were authorized to investigate Ponzi's status as an alien within the United States, and that in the course of the investigation facts developed which justified the issuance of a warrant. He did not reveal details. Until receipt of their report no action will be taken in Washington.

New York Police Act to Prevent Further Bloodshed in Chinatown

Police Head Orders Patrolmen Stationed in All Laundries

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Police were prepared today to take drastic measures to prevent further bloodshed in the renewed hostilities between members of the Chinese gangs.

Several hours before the end of an armistice between the Hip Sing and the On Leong Thursday, Chang Food, an On Leong member, was shot to death in a Bronx laundry. Within 24 hours two other men were mortally wounded by gunfire, and one was stabbed to death as he slept in a Chinese tenement.

Cok Yen was the man stabbed to death and the two who were shot through the abdomen in their Brooklyn laundries were Gong Sing and Tom Hong. Neither is expected to recover. Along was a Hip Sing and Sing was the son of an On Leong who told police that the bullets that struck his son were intended for him. Sing is a cousin of Chang Food.

Hong and Sing were shot shortly after a meeting between the Chinese consul-general and acting Police Commissioner John A. Loech last night, at which the police official promised all necessary action to halt the bloodshed and ordered patrolmen stationed in all laundries and other places where outbreaks might be expected.

the police that they had gathered in a Hanover street poolroom, early in the evening and decided to engage in a card game later in the deserted Suffolk street house. Greenhalge was a member of the party, and joined in the game, and decided to leave the scene under pretense of going to his home.

About half an hour after that, a knock came at the door and two men were admitted. The doorkeeper said one of them was Greenhalge. The doorkeeper promptly went back to the game, according to the two arrests. A few minutes later, a masked man entered and, leveling a revolver at the men in the house, ordered them to face the wall and throw up their hands. He then commanded them to lay their money on the table, and the only four men, who had cash left, placed $5, $15, $12 and $25 respectively, on the table placed by the band.

When the money was collected together, the gunman pocketed it and departed, firing a shot as he descended the stairs. The victims reported the incident to the police and at 12 o'clock, Cooney and Lynch apprehended Greenhalge, and a companion, at Broadway and Willis street. At the police station, Greenhalge denied that he was the robber, even after one of the victims had pointed out to officers that he was the man.

Lieut. Patrick Frawley and Sergt. James Kennedy questioned the youth at length, and had to use force in locking him up when he offered resistance.

Greenhalge is a member of the crew of the U.S.S. Trenton, now in drydock in the Philadelphia navy yard. He was in civilian clothes when arrested.

Second Kidnap

The arrest of Greenhalge cleared up for the time being one of two holdups and robberies committed in this city last night.

The first occurred about 11:30 p. m. when William Pitts of 169 Essex street, Quincy, who reported to the police that he was accosted by four men in Market street, near Donovan's harness shop, and relieved of his wallet, containing $30. When the contents had been emptied, the robbers threw back the wallet to Pitts and hurried away in an automobile.

No arrests have been made in connection with this case.

"STICK-UP" MEN AND HIGHWAY ROBBERS OPERATE HERE

Member of United States Navy is Charged With Holding Up and Robbing Four Men in Suffolk Street House—Auto Bandits Rob Man in Market Street

Following a city-wide search extending over a period of several days, Carrol J. Greenhalgh, 21 years old, a member of the United States navy, home on furlough at 49 Chaire street, was placed under arrest by Police Officers Alfred J. Cooney and Daniel M. Lynch, and locked up on suspicion of having held up and robbed four men at a card game in a vacant house in Suffolk street shortly after midnight last night.

This morning, after a comprehensive investigation which resulted in the identification of the young sailor by one of his victims, Officer Cooney preferred a specific charge of robbery on four counts, against the suspect. He was arraigned on these counts in district court this morning and pleaded not guilty. He was continued in $2000 bonds until Dec. 8. Officers Cooney, Lynch and Edward Liston were on duty in the station at 12.30 o'clock today when two men put in an appearance and complained that they with eight others, had been held up and robbed during a game in the Suffolk street tenement. They described the robber as being masked with a handkerchief and armed with a revolver, and said he had collected $4 from four members of the party, they said, he left the premises with the stern warning that he would shoot to kill the first individual who attempted to spread an alarm. On his way out, it is alleged, he discharged a shot from his revolver, to emphasize the sincerity of his threat.

52,000 PEOPLE BRAVE RAIN TO WITNESS B. C.-H. C. GAME

BRAVES FIELD, Boston, Nov. 29.—Before 52,000 people, coming from all parts of New England, the rival Boston College and Holy Cross eleven engaged in their annual gridiron battle in mild rainstorm this afternoon.

Both teams entered the game confident of victory, but the weather conditions caused a change in the plans of the coaches. Snow in the morning gave way to rain shortly after the noon hour, and at game time the field was soft and slippery.

Each eleven had its cheering section and as the players appeared on the field they were enthusiastically greeted. The lineup follows:

Holy Cross scored a touchdown after three minutes of play when Wallis skinned Boston College's right flank line. Crowley kicked the point that for thirty-two yard run to the goal made the score, Holy Cross 7, Boston College 0.

Holy Cross was breaking through Boston's left side for long gains. McMahon made a 42-yard run soon after the Holy Cross touchdown, but the Purple had to kick a moment later. Boston was unable to gain, and Darling furnished twice, Mahaney recovering for Holy Cross the first time.

Crowley's fumble on Boston's 20-yard line stopped a Purple drive. Darling recovered. After Boston kicked again Crowley rushed 16 yards to midfield. Boston's left side was being opened wide. Doyle broke through and tossed Wallis for a 7-yard loss and Holy Cross had to kick.

When Darling's punt was partly blocked, Holy Cross got the ball on Boston's 20-yard line. A forward pass, McMahon to Mahaney, sent the ball to the 8-yard line. Two rushes advanced it to Boston's 4-yard line, where the period ended.

PRES. COOLIDGE AND OTHER OFFICIALS AT ARMY-NAVY GAME

BALTIMORE, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Love of football reached its peak today and gathered at the stadium here for the Army and Navy game, perhaps the most notable crowd ever assembled for the annual gridiron encounter between the two service schools.

The spirit of the contest reached far and wide in gathering its thousands of cheering throngs.

From all along the Atlantic seaboard and from far inland, states, special trains and hundreds of automobiles brought to the city thousands of fans and spectators to swell the crowd that turned out from the city itself. Half an hour before game time there was no doubt that the municipal stadium would be filled to its capacity of 75,000.

Among the arrivals was President Coolidge who temporarily put aside the government's business to join with the thousands that the national capital sent here to watch the encounter. He was accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stearns.

Maxime Lepine, a very well known resident, died early this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William J. Buron, 58 Deland street, aged 65 years. Deceased was born in Canada but came to this city while still a boy. He received his education in this city, and later entered the newspaper business, being connected with "Le Petit" the local French daily. He later became one of the owners as well as editor of the same newspaper. Several

BRILLIANT CEREMONY

St. Michael's Church Scene of Cawley-McKenna Wedding This Forenoon

One of the most elaborate weddings of the season, of interest in local social circles was solemnized at a nuptial mass, celebrated at St. Michael's church at 8.30 o'clock this morning when Mr. Edward Cawley and Miss Louise Hickey McKenna were united in marriage by Rev. John J. Shaw.

The bride was most charming in a gown of white satin with overdrapes of Belgian princess lace and veil caught

DONATION DAY AT ST. PETER'S ORPHANAGE

Donation day was auspiciously observed at St. Peter's orphanage today when generous parishioners and patrons donated articles of linen, clothing and food as well as money. Towels, sheets, pillow cases and table linen were supplied in profuse quantities, while clothing for the children was also received in large quantities.

In connection with the observance, an enjoyable musical entertainment was given under the direction of Miss Katherine V. Hennessey, with the following participating: Fred Cummings, baritone; Kathleen Jennings.

DEFENDANT IN LIQUOR CASE IS FINED AND SENTENCED

Sotirious Afierakis is Fined $300 and Sentenced to Three Months in House of Correction—Capt. Palmer Calls Defendant's Place Notorious Rum Centre

The biggest liquor fine yet imposed in the local district court was meted out to Sotirios Afierakis by Judge Burdick this morning, defendant being fined $300 and sentenced to three months in the house of correction when he was found guilty of illegally selling liquor. The fine and sentence were appealed and Afierakis was ordered to recognize in $500 for his appearance in superior court next month. In testifying against Afierakis, Capt. Palmer of the liquor squad, stated that defendant is the proprietor of one of the "notorious rum centers" in the city. His place of business is at Cross and Adams streets.

FEDERAL AUTHORITIES TAKE STEPS TO DEPORT PONZI

"Coupon King" Arrested at Brighton—Immigration Officials Plan to Begin Deportation Proceedings Immediately—To Be Sent Back to Canada or Italy

BOSTON, Nov. 28.—Charles Ponzi, promoter of the get-rich-quick scheme of four years ago that attracted investments of many millions, was arrested today by immigration authorities on a warrant charging that he was in this country illegally. Deportation proceedings will begin immediately, it was said by Immigration Commissioner John P. Johnson.

Whether deportation will be to Canada or Italy, in the event that the charges are sustained, can be decided only by Secretary of Labor Davis. Ponzi came to this country from Canada after being convicted there of banking irregularities at Montreal, but if Canada objects to having him deported to the dominion, officials of this country may order him sent to Italy, of

ACCIDENT CASES ARE GIVEN TO JURY

SANTA CLAUS IN CITY

Atherton's Invites Jolly Old Soul to Talk With Lowell's Youngsters

Driving his team of reindeer at a fast clip, Santa Claus arrived in Lowell this morning and went straight to his headquarters, Atherton's Toyland on the fourth floor of the Chalifoux building. There he found a cozy, warm log cabin awaiting him and he made himself comfortable prepared to stay there until Christmas Eve when he will make the rounds to the chimneys of the homes of all the good little boys and good little girls in the world. Jumping from his sleigh on the roof of the Chalifoux building Santa shouted "Ho ho ho" to his team of prancing reindeer and the well-trained team scampered back to the white-covered land of mystery from whence they came. Santa, with big packs of toys, sleds, and all sorts of presents, shook hands with Manager Robert H. Atherton of the Atherton store, and accepted gladly the hearty invitation to make himself at home.

A fine log cabin has been built for Santa on the fourth floor of the big building and he has made himself comfortable there. He has a table in the center of the room with a lot of toys of all sorts, games, scooters, autos and the like, all about the place and then sat back to await for the kiddies of Lowell to learn of his arrival and come and visit him. He didn't talk long for the news spread like wildfire and youngsters were all about him by the scores before noon and dinner time.

Toyland was fitted up carefully to prepare for Santa's visit, he having sent a radio to Manager Atherton about a week ago saying he had been in Lowell with the first flakes of snow. Toyland is decorated in real Yuletide style and Santa was tickled to death with the reception given him. Being especially fond of little boys and girls he spent most of his time today talking with them and finding out just what they want most for Christmas. Many young folks came in with their fathers and mothers or older sisters or brothers and Santa had a kind word and an attentive ear for all of them. His hearty laugh proved infectious and all who visited him left the wide spaces of Toyland in a most happy mood.

Dolls, doll carriages, sleds, autos, trains, and most everything one can think of as suitable for Christmas gifts Santa brought with him in abundance. Santa has stocked his cabin with extra stuff as well. He sits in the doorway always with a few confidential young boys or girls whispering their secret hopes in his ear. Great old merry soul he is and he seems to be even better natured this year than ever before.

Electric trains, scooters, velocipedes, Milton Bradley games, the latest in puzzles, mechanical toys, rocking horses, dolls, beds and everything under the sun are stocked in the Atherton Toyland and a visit is sure to provide a real thrill to young and old alike.

LOWELL-LAWRENCE GAME AT STRAND

If you want to enjoy the thrills of the Lowell-Lawrence high school football game, played at Shawmut last Thursday, all over again, then attend The Strand Sunday, Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday next. Directing Manager Samuel Torgan secured an exclusive right to the picture taken at the game, which will show all of the important plays, including the one Lowell touchdown, as well as shots of the Lowell and Lawrence cheering sections, the officials, prominent persons of this city and Lawrence, and the first motion picture of a Lowell-Lawrence football game, and will undoubtedly be interesting, not alone to the student body and teachers, but to the large number of football fans in and outside of Lowell. The film will be presented to the high school by Manager Torgan some time in the future.

NO JAPANESE AMBASSADOR NAMED

TOKIO, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Vice-Minister Tsuneko Matsudaira today denied he had been selected Japanese ambassador to the United States. Reports were widely circulated in semi-official circles today that he had been picked. It was learned in foreign office circles that no selection has been made.

CALL MEETING OF LEGION TOMORROW

Members of American Legion auxiliary are requested to meet at their quarters in Memorial Auditorium tomorrow (Sunday) afternoon, at 2 o'clock to participate with Lowell post in the dedication of squares and memorial tablets.

The regular meeting of the auxiliary for the nomination of officers for the ensuing year, will be held next Tuesday evening.

Eat and Get Thin

If you are overfat and averse to physical exertion, if you are fond of eating and still want to reduce your excess flesh, go to your drugstore and get a box of Marmola Prescription Tablets. These tablets, compounded in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, contain the exact ingredients necessary to produce a normal healthy reduction of excess weight. "Take one tablet after each meal and at bedtime and you will begin to lose your fat steadily and easily. Continue the treatment until your weight is what you desire—until your figure is slender and attractive again. You don't need to try starvation diets or weakening exercises. Go on eating what you like. Leave exercising to the athletes. Just take your little tablet faithfully, and without a doubt your flabby flesh will quickly disappear. Your figure will become slender and shapely. Just as you have always wanted it to be. Thousands of men and women each year regain healthy, slender figures this way. Why not you? Marmola Prescription Tablets are so pleasant and easy to take that anyone who is suffering the embarrassment and discomfort of overweight owes it to himself to try them. All drug stores the world over sell Marmola Prescription Tablets for one dollar a box. Or send the money direct to the Marmola Company, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich., and a box will be sent to you postpaid.—Adv.

Please Give Us A Little Time When Ordering Coke

During the cold weather which is now upon us our coke delivery system is bound to be taxed to its utmost.

Almost every one waits until the last moment before calling for his winter's fuel. We have 13 wagons and 5 trucks that are busy from morning till night delivering Lowell Coke to all parts of the city.

We pride ourselves on being able to give service, but on busy days it is many times impossible to make delivery within a few hours after the order has been received.

When the weather is cold and stormy, when the snow and slush are on the ground, we find it necessary to treat our horses kindly, sometimes allowing them to work only part of the day. This also holds true of our men, who are many times forced to work long hours.

In order to make as great delivery as possible we hire additional trucks to take care of the many orders received daily.

We have thousands of tons of Lowell Coke to sell and are in a position to supply the needs of all those in Lowell who have learned that Lowell Coke is the best solid fuel, with more heat value, less dirt and very little ash.

But, in ordering, we ask you to please remember that there are other orders ahead of yours and that we are straining every effort to give the best service possible.

SHAME! I SAY SHAME!

The last place on earth where politics should be played is in the Charity Department. The lame, the halt and the blind who, through unfortunate circumstances are forced to accept the hospitality of the City, should not be used as political footballs.

In April of this present year, the State Department of Welfare reported on the Chelmsford Street Hospital, then under the direction of Supt. Gormley (and this report is a matter of public record), and their report stated "The Chelmsford Street Hospital is up to the standard of efficiency."

AFTER THE REMOVAL OF SUPT. GORMLEY, HOWEVER, THE NEW SUPERINTENDENT INCREASED THE NUMBER OF EMPLOYEES FROM 36 TO 79. WHY, I ASK, WAS THIS DONE IN VIEW OF THE REPORT OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT OF WELFARE?

The advertising bureau of my opponent in their ad. on Thursday, concerning the Chelmsford Street Hospital, said:—

"THE TRUTH SHOULD BE TOLD—EVEN IN POLITICS."

At last my opponent and I fully agree on one subject, and THE TRUTH SHALL BE TOLD—READ IT—EVERY WORD

The City Auditor (who was appointed by my opponent) in his letter over his own signature, and reproduced in the ad., quoted the following figures as being the unexpended balances, as of Nov. 26, 1924, in the Charity Department:—

Chelmsford Street Hospital—Salary and Wages	$1,529.34
Expense and Supply	9,030.16
Mothers with Dependent Children—Salary and Wages	5,448.75
Expense and Supply	3,288.22
Outdoor Relief—Salary and Wages	3,587.89
Expense and Supply	10,507.71

This shows a total balance (and I am quoting from the letter of the Auditor) with which to pay all bills, expenses, salaries and wages in these various departments for the balance of the year of $33,402.06.

Based upon the expenses of this department up to Nov. 1, 1924, which I have taken from the monthly printed reports of the City Auditor, the estimated cost of these departments to finish out the year will be as follows:—

Chelmsford Street Hospital	$18,939.99
Mothers with Dependent Children	22,592.37
Outdoor Relief	27,513.88
TOTAL NEEDED TO FINISH YEAR	$69,046.24
Balance on hand, according to Auditor	33,402.06
Amount needed to finish the year	$35,644.18

HERE IS A SHORTAGE OF $35,644.18 IN THIS DEPARTMENT. WILL THIS MONEY COME FROM THE SAME SOURCE AS DID THE TRANSFER IN AUGUST OF $44,425.25? (See Auditor's printed report for August.) WILL THIS MONEY COME FROM THE SAME SOURCE AS DID THE TRANSFER IN OCTOBER OF $35,013.00, WHICH WAS TAKEN FROM OVERLAY SURPLUS AND WHICH MUST BE RETURNED TO TAKE CARE OF ABATEMENTS? (See Auditor's printed report for October.)

HERE IS THE RECORD OF THE CHARITY DEPARTMENT FOR 1924

$44,425.25 transferred to Charity Department in August.
$35,013.00 transferred to Charity Department in October.
$35,644.18 needed to finish the present year (estimated).

I REPEAT, THE CHARITY DEPARTMENT WENT BROKE IN AUGUST AND $44,425.25 WAS TRANSFERRED TO KEEP IT RUNNING.

THE CHARITY DEPARTMENT WENT BROKE IN OCTOBER AND $35,013.00 WAS TAKEN FROM OVERLAY SURPLUS FUND TO KEEP IT RUNNING.

THE CHARITY DEPARTMENT IS AGAIN BROKE, AND IT WILL TAKE $35,644.18 WITH WHICH TO PAY ITS BILLS UP TO THE CLOSE OF THE YEAR.

FROM PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

Mrs. Bradford Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Phoebus, Virginia.—"Having this opportunity I just cannot refrain from saying a word of praise for the Lydia E. Pinkham medicine. I have used them an occasion required for twenty years, and my three sisters have also used them, and always with the most satisfying results. During the Change of Life I had the usual distressing symptoms—hot flashes, insomnia, etc.—and I am pleased to testify to the wonderful results obtained from the Vegetable Compound. I heartily recommend it to any woman and I will be pleased to answer any inquiries that might be sent to me through the publication of my testimonial."—Mrs. H. L. BRADFORD, 109 Armistead St., Phoebus, Va.

Consider carefully Mrs. Bradford's letter. Her experience ought to help you. She mentions the trials of middle age and the wonderful results she obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you are suffering from nervous troubles, irritability, or if other annoying symptoms appear and you are blue at times, you should give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Pres. Coolidge at Army-Navy Game snappy signal drill, the Cadets burst forth with prolonged cheers.
Continued

A few minutes later the midshipmen came in for their turn at cheering, as the Navy eleven trotted from the clubhouse.

Army won the toss and Garblach kicked off to Walling, who was down on Navy's 18-yard line. Navy opened a forward passing attack on the first play, but Gillmore intercepted and it was Army's ball on Navy's 18-yard line.

The Navy's heavy line smeared two Army players and blocked a forward pass. On the fourth down Garblach dropped back for a try at field goal from Navy's 20-yard line. His attempt was blocked by the Navy line but he recovered on the Navy's 35-yard line. Thrown back again, Garblach took another shot at the goal posts, but kicked short, the ball rolling over the goal line and Navy put the ball in play on her own 20-yard line.

After an exchange of punts, Army opened an offensive that netted one first down and carried the ball to Navy's 27-yard line. Here the sailors attempted a field goal from the 28-yard mark that went wide of the posts.

After putting the ball in play on their own 20-yard line, the midshipmen completed a 15-yard pass, Philip to Shapley. Army held but Hamilton's kick sailed for the goal posts.

The Army 5-yard line where the receiver was downed in his tracks. Wood punned from behind his own goal but the ball went outside on Army's 20-yard line and Navy was within scoring distance.

Launching a rushing attack, Navy made first down on Army's 10-yard line, but the Cadet defense lightened and Army took goal from the 20-yard line when two forward passes were checked. The Navy had tossed away a chance for field goal in favor of using its aerial weapons.

Score and first period: Army, 0; Navy, 0.

SECOND PERIOD
Wood's fine kicking pulled the Army out of a hole at the start of the second period. From behind his own goal line he booted nearly to midfield and then, after Navy was halted at the line, forced the sailors back into their own territory with another well placed punt.

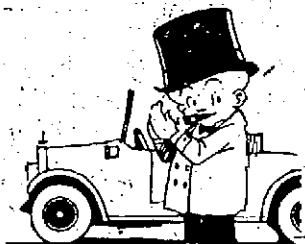

Two punts by the Navy were blocked at midfield, but after the sailors recovered the first one, Captain Garblach pounced on the second and put the ball in the Army's possession on Navy's 41-yard line. The first blocked punt was recovered for the sailors by Stolz.

With Gillmore bearing the brunt of the attack, Army made first down on Navy's 20-yard line. Stopped twice at the line Gillmore broke through center for a seven-yard gain that put the ball on Navy's 23-yard line. Captain Garblach then dropped back and booted a pretty kick through the uprights from the 27-yard line.

The score: Army, 3; Navy, 0.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Stock prices moved vigorously ahead today as trading continued in an undiminished volume. Weekly mercantile reviews, attesting to the current improvement in all lines of business, provided a sound basis for the continuation of bullish enthusiasm. Buying orders were spread over a wide field of speculative issues in the steel, motor and public utility groups, while Southern western rails again responded to favorable dividend prospects. Notations in active stocks ranged from 1 to 5 points with about two score issues achieving new peak prices for the year. Rock Island, St. Paul preferred and American Woolen forced to absorb heavy selling at times and United States Steel also met large offerings. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

BRITAIN NOT TO PURSUE AGGRESSIVE POLICY

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—In a speech here today Neville Chamberlain, minister of health, declared with regard to the Egyptian situation that British were not going to pursue an aggressive foreign policy.

"Any suggestion that what has happened in Egypt is merely a veiled attempt to destroy the independence given some time ago is founded either on misunderstanding or else is deliberate misrepresentation," he said.

"Nothing is more likely to lead Great Britain to friction or war with other powers," he added, "than to allow them to think we do not mean what we say."

"We are not going to allow tolerance or leniency to be misinterpreted as weakness. We are not going to allow the British name to be dragged in the dirt, or obligations due to us to be flouted."

"We desire to maintain friendly relations with the whole world. I believe, indeed, that it is only by a mixture of firmness and restraint that we can restore confidence and order in all the king's dominions."

SECOND PERIOD
Holy Cross was held for downs on Boston's three-yard line. Darling's kick from behind his goal to Boston's 45-yard line where McMahon fumbled but Wise recovered for Holy Cross. The Purple then began to gain again through Boston's left flank. McMahon's attempt at field goal from the 25-yard line failed.

Crowley intercepted a forward pass from Darling on Holy Cross' 40-yard line and the Purple kicked on the next play. Darling fumbled and Captain McMahon recovered on the 20-yard line and ran for Holy Cross' second touchdown. Crowley again kicked the point.

Score: Holy Cross 14; Boston 0.

THE TRUTH

AS YOU KNOW IT

It has never been recorded that the Citizens of Lowell have denied re-election to a Mayor who has given a square deal to the city while in office.

MAYOR DONOVAN'S CONDUCT IN OFFICE IS CLEAN AND ABOVE REPROACH

You Will Re-Elect Mayor Donovan Because You Know HE DESERVES IT

WHY SHOULD YOU TURN A GOOD MAYOR OUT OF OFFICE WHEN HIS OPPONENT HAS NOTHING "WORTH WHILE" TO OFFER?

IF HIS "ONE TERM" PLEA IS SOUND, THEN YOU HAVE DONE WRONG IN THE PAST WHEN YOU HAVE GIVEN FORMER MAYORS SECOND TERMS.

WHAT ARE THE PLATFORMS?

Mayor Donovan's Opponent.
His Platform of Constructive Policies.

Mayor Donovan's Platform Is the Same for the Next Two Years as for the Past Two Years.

Reduction in the tax rate.
Public service courageously and fearlessly rendered.
An administration free from scandal and spectacular conduct.
Taxpayers, large and small, given a square deal.
Waste and extravagance reduced to a minimum.
A pay-as-you-go policy for departmental expenditures.
A Mayor on the level with the city and its citizens.
Every promise made to the citizens of Lowell fulfilled.

"I Do Not Want a Second Term"

Why does Mayor Donovan's opponent remain silent on issues that the public are interested in? He has been asked to declare his attitude on the following:—

Wage increases for policemen and firemen?
Reduction of the Tax Rate?
Beaver Brook Bridge situation?
A sound constructive financial policy?

Regulation of public expenditures?
BUT—HE IS SILENT

Trying to ride into office on a platform of irrelevant talk is not quite inspiring enough.

Egyptian Situation Described in London Official Quarters as Serious But Not Critical—Telephonic Communication With Sudan Restored

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Egyptian situation, as the result of the latest messages, was described in official quarters in London this afternoon as serious but not critical. Interest mainly centered in the Sudan, which appears to have been quieted.

Communication restored
LONDON, Nov. 29.—Telegraphic communication with the Sudan was restored at 12:50 o'clock this afternoon. It is announced in an agency despatch from Cairo.

Mutineers Surrender
CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—The surviving mutineers at Khartoum have given into the British. It was officially announced here this afternoon.

The mutiny among the troops was confined to two platoons of the eleventh Sudanese and the mutineers who survived surrendered after a bombardment of the compound of the Egyptian army hospital. Two British officers were killed and eight men wounded.

The official announcement stated that the situation at Khartoum was well in hand.

The behavior of the other Arab and Sudanese troops is characterized as excellent.

FAHY GETS 25 YEARS
Sentenced for Part in $2,000,000 Mail Robbery at Rondout, Illinois

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—William J. Fahy, former postoffice inspector, and James Murray, a politician, recently convicted of conspiracy in connection with the $2,000,000 mail robbery at Rondout were sentenced to 25 years each in the federal prison at Atlanta, by Federal Judge Coffey today.

Sentencing of Fahy and Murray, the convicted arch plotters of what has been called "the greatest train robbery," followed denial of new trials. The sentencing of Willis, Willie, Jesse and Joseph Newton, and Brent Glasscock, the latter in charge of the robbery, was deferred until Monday.

Counsel for Fahy and Murray, in support of the action for a new trial, declared that the $2,500,000 in loot brought into the court room during the trial never was identified as loot from the mail train. It was only identified, they contended, by Brent Glasscock as property which he had turned over to government agents.

WAGE REDUCTIONS IN BROCKTON SHOPS

BROCKTON, Nov. 29.—The state board today handed down its first decision in the series of cases raised by the Brockton Shoe Manufacturers' association asking for wholesale wage reductions in all branches of the shoe trade. Today's decision relates to the various crafts of the sole fasteners' departments and grants wage reductions of from 6 per cent to 18 per cent and averaging about 10 per cent. This is about half of what the manufacturers asked for. The reductions are heavier on the cheaper grades of shoes and on the rougher classes of work than on the high grades and more technical operations. It is now expected that further decisions will follow this first one and that wages will be reduced in general about 10 per cent over the entire shoe industry of the Old Colony district.

CROSS-WORD PUZZLES IN FITCHBURG CHURCH

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 29.—Cross word puzzles will hold sway in the Knoxville Baptist church Sunday evening when members of the congregation will be called on to solve a puzzle designed by the pastor, the Rev. George McElveney. A large blackboard has been placed in front of the pulpit and today the minister was busy working out his combinations. After the opening prayer Sunday night, the churchgoers will be told that the puzzle must be solved before the pastor can preach. For when the minister was supplied, members of the congregation will find that they have puzzled out the text of the sermon.

FIREMAN CRAWFORD'S CASE REOPENED

The Crawford case, which created considerable furor in fire department circles several months ago when George Crawford, a fireman in the department, charged that he had been unfairly discriminated against in the appointment of several lieutenants by Chief Edward P. Saunders, although his name topped the eligible list, was reopened today.

At that time Mr. Crawford asked for a hearing before the city council and it was granted, but the appointments of the chiefs were changed. Today Attorney J. Tierney said that he had arranged a conference with the fire chief for this afternoon and unless this resulted satisfactorily to his client, the matter would be carried as far as it can to secure justice for Mr. Crawford.

While no definite statement has been made by either the chief or Mr. Tierney, it is believed that the reopening of the case has been brought about because of the pending appointment of another lieutenant in the department.

Gas Used by Hub Burglar

Continued
In the past two weeks one or two burglaries, a night burglar, have been reported, and all apparently were the work of the same person. In each instance inmates of the houses complained of head aches and showed other symptoms of gas poisoning. According to Superintendent Crowley the burglar turned on the gas in each house he entered long enough to render the inmates unconscious, then turned it off and went about his work.

A large quantity of jewelry stolen from South End houses has been recovered. It was said that the burglar counts to be charged against Burns may be as high as thirty.

TWO KILLED IN CRASH ON R. R. CROSSING

Lawrence, Man Committed Suicide by Jumping Into South Canal

EATON, O., Nov. 29.—Two persons were killed and another was probably fatally injured in the wrecking of two passenger trains on the Pennsylvania railroad today. Fourteen persons, including a party of actors and actresses appearing at a local theatre, were occupants of the machines.

The dead are Mrs. Charles Fagen, 29, known on the stage as Ruth Jeanette, and an unidentified woman. Roy West, of Dayton, was probably fatally injured.

Charles Fagen, 29, husband of the dead woman, Helen Miller of Boston, actress, and Miss Neil Keeler, Dayton, were out and bruised.

Drives of the two machines, it was said, in attempting to avoid a collision, skidded and crashed into the train.

CLAIMS CURES IN 600 PNEUMONIA CASES

PARIS, Nov. 29.—Dr. D. E. Gerin is leaving for New York on the steamship Paris to demonstrate under the auspices of New York state physicians' organization, a method by which he claims to have brought out cures in more than six hundred pneumonia cases, with no death to mar the record. He also intends to demonstrate a method of treating pernicious anemia without blood transfusions. The tests, to be conducted in the hospital of New York, will occupy four months.

Dr. Gerin was born of French parents in Nashua, N. H., in 1867, and has always retained his American citizenship. He has practiced in New England and California and for some years was president of the French colony in San Francisco.

ITALIAN STEAMSHIP IS REPORTED IN DISTRESS

LONDON, Nov. 29.—A Lloyd's despatch from Valencia says the Italian steamship Enrico Totti, out of Baltimore on Nov. 9, is in distress at latitude 37.14 north, longitude 55.08 west. The German steamship Pasajes is proceeding to her assistance.

The Enrico Totti, a vessel of 8000 tons, returned to Baltimore on Nov. 18, after going aground, necessitating the lightering of part of her cargo of coal, destined for Liverpool. She sailed two days later. The Pasajes does not appear in the shipping registers.

READING LA FOLLETTE OUT OF PARTY APPROVED

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 29.—Victor L. Berger, socialist representative in congress, previous to his departure today for Washington expressed the opinion that the republican party had acted properly in reading Senators La Follette, Ladd, Frazier and Brookhart out of the party.

"It was absolutely proper for the republican senatorial caucus to read Senators La Follette, Ladd, Frazier and Brookhart out of the party, because, as I take it, only a republican has the right to belong to the republican party, and only a democrat has the right to belong to the democratic party," Mr. Berger said.

NAVAL CAPTAIN EXECUTED IN MEXICO

VERA CRUZ, Mex., Nov. 29.—Jose Girard, a naval captain who was concerned in the de la Huerta rebellion, was executed by a firing squad on Tuesday at Paraiso, Tabasco. His execution was ordered by Gen. Vicente Guzman after he had resumed rebel activities.

REQUESTS TO 20 INSTITUTIONS

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—Twenty charitable and philanthropic institutions of Boston will receive bequests under the will of James Brown, former president and general manager of the Hotel and Railroad News company, who died last week. The will, filed for probate today, provides that after several small bequests have been satisfied the residue of the estate, estimated to exceed $1,000,000 shall be divided into twenty equal shares for the twenty institutions named.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGED

KEENE, N. H., Nov. 29.—Alvin Beauregard, of Keene, charged with manslaughter in the second degree, pleaded not guilty in municipal court before Charles J. Madden and his case is continued until the arrival of his attorney, John J. Landerer, who is expected to arrive here today at 2:00. Beauregard was the driver of an automobile in which Maurice Jaffe, a passenger, was killed while the party was returning from a dance Friday morning.

GUILTY OF ABDUCTION

NOWATA, Okla., Nov. 29.—Joseph E. Yates, former Attorney General, was sentenced to five years in prison today when he was found guilty of abduction, in connection with his disappearance, of a 16-year old girl, member of his church choir. The jury deliberated 15 minutes.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN JURY DISAGREES IN FAMOUS COMPOSER DEAD

WALL STREET $2,200,000 SUIT

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—A stock dividend of 80 per cent has been declared on the common stock of the Pacific Lighting corporation subject to the approval of the state corporation commission of California, payable Dec. 22 to stock of record Nov. 25. The corporation owns all the common stock of the Los Angeles Gas & Electric Co.

The North American company which reported a large gain in assets and general expansion of its activities is understood in the financial district to be planning the creation of an investment trust with probable capitalization of $10,000,000 first preferred stock, $5,000,000 second preferred and 500,000 common shares of no par value.

October gross revenues of the Canadian Pacific fell about $1,400,000 to $19,352,340 compared with October last year, while net decreased more than $1,000,000 to $7,622,171. Not for $27,468,000 for the ten months this year was slightly larger than in the corresponding period of 1923 despite the fact that gross dropped about $15,700,000 to $138,711,033.

Railroad financiers estimate that October earnings of the railroads of the country will probably approximate $30,000,000. Should this calculation be borne out it would be the best month the carriers have had since July 23, 1923, result has been better than possible, the report said, by the heavy traffic has continued at a high level until late in the year and drastic economies in operations.

Increased European buying of bonds in this market is reported by houses with foreign connections. Although the flow of orders has not yet reached large proportions, British interests have been buying the rail issues, both dollar and sterling, since the pound passed $4.50. Repurchasing of British 5's of 1925 also has been noted. The return on long term bonds, chiefly those of foreign countries, is higher here than in London in addition to attractive exchange features.

48-HOUR SCHEDULE IN HAVERHILL SHOPS

HAVERHILL, Nov. 29.—The shoe factories in this city the coming week go onto a 48-hour schedule, according to the terms of the working agreement. It is provided that December 1 to May inclusive the five and one-half day week of 48 hours shall apply. June, July and August are limited to five days of 48 hours, and the remaining three months are optional with the union. Although the 48-hour week is available beginning next week, few manufacturers are at present pressed with sufficient business to demand the extra hour of labor.

SEAPLANE AND TWO MEN BELIEVED LOST

SACKET HARBOR, N. Y., Nov. 29.—Hope for the safety of Carl Groby and Harry Dionne, aviators, missing since Sunday afternoon, when their seaplane disappeared from sight while passing over Lake Ontario, was virtually abandoned today when two boats which had visited the Ontario Islands 12 miles from here, in search of the men returned reporting no trace of the fliers.

The fliers were enroute from Ogdensburg to Florida when they met with the misfortune.

$1,000,000 BOND ISSUE

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 29.—The New Hampshire public service commission today authorized the Manchester Electric Light & Power Co. to issue $1,000,000 five per cent first mortgage, sinking fund, gold bonds, which are to be sold at not less than 80 per cent of their face value. The bonds are authorized to meet indebtedness incurred and anticipated in connection with plant improvements.

GIACOMO PUCCINI, WHO WROTE MANY OPERA SUCCESSES DIES AT BRUSSELS

BRUSSELS, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Giacomo Puccini, famous opera composer, died at noon today from a throat infection following an operation.

His death was due to a heart attack complicated by other troubles followed by a recent operation for malignant growths in the throat.

Giacomo Puccini was one of the few composers of recent times whose opera successes were numerous and lasting. As to numbers, he is matched only by Massenet, but so far as frequency of performances, the Italian composer surpassed Massenet in America, at least. Giulio Gatti-Casazza, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera House, once said Puccini was the most popular composer with Americans.

One of the unfortunate efforts of Puccini was his "Edgar," produced at the Scala in 1899. Although he remained silent nearly four years, the composer compensated for this failure with his "Nunziatella." This and his later works, including "La Tosca," "Madama Butterfly," and "The Girl of the Golden West," proved such popular successes that it is seldom a season of opera anywhere does not include one or more of these.

Puccini was born at Lucca, Italy, June 22, 1858. He had many hobbies and at least one superstition. The hobbies were shooting quail and the wild pigeons and wringing music, and the superstition was that he must finish the writing of an opera in the place where it was begun.

"BOY EMPEROR" OF CHINA IS RELEASED

LONDON, Nov. 29.—According to a Reuter despatch from Peking, Huan Tung, the "boy emperor" of China, who was yesterday granted his freedom by the new government of Tian-Chi-Jui, today took refuge in the Japanese legation. It was stated there was no cause for him to fear immediate danger.

WILL DEMONSTRATE LIFE-GIVING LIGHT

Next Tuesday afternoon, Liberty hall in Memorial Auditorium, will be the scene of a most unusual electrical demonstration, arranged under the auspices of Lowell Rotary club, with the public at large invited to be present after the weekly dinner ceremonies are concluded.

For the first time in Lowell, there will be displayed in full view of a public audience, wonderfully conceived apparatus, which will produce new and peculiarly powerful purplish light, to which is attributed high medicinal values in the treatment of human bodily ailments. The discovery, by trained electricians in State of Maine university, has been developed by qualified experts at the General Electric Co. plant in Lynn.

Mr. Edward H. Berry, assistant consulting engineer of the electrical corporation, will be the Rotarian speaker, Tuesday. He will bring with him and display on the platform of Liberty hall, the new and somewhat mysterious apparatus, which will produce the light that investigators into the still fruitful field of electricity have no true name for as yet.

Engineer Berry's label for it carries only the explanation that it is a new and life-giving light derived from fused quartz. Ordinary electric light passing through the quartz, as transformed, is said to have great healing powers, particularly in cases where youth suffers from various afflictions of the flesh and bones.

INTERSECTIONAL FOOTBALL

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—An intersectional football game between St. Paul college of St. Paul, Minn., and Boston university, to be played at St. Paul on Oct. 24 or Nov. 14 next year, was tentatively agreed upon here today.

Thomas college's hockey team is to make an eastern trip during the Christmas holidays and probably will meet the Boston college team here on Nov. 24 for a 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Dec. 25 and 27, it was announced.

CONNECTICUT COLONIAL ADAPTION

Plan No. 448.

This demure homestead, recalling the colonial houses of Connecticut, is a house that by its sterling qualities will do honor to its owner's taste, judgment and good sense. It is the kind of a house that makes building dollars buy full value in conveniences, comforts and good looks without the necessity of spending more than the average pocketbook can afford. It is one of those houses planned to eliminate all unnecessary space and "extra" equipment which adds so greatly to present day building costs. At the same time it offers considerable more than the average flat or small apartment.

The pointed roof of the entrance porch is softened by the arched doorway, with its moulded band and keystone. The bank of casement windows in the sun porch is nicely proportioned; the addition of a dining alcove extension is successfully achieved; it is a pleasing and natural continuation of the main house.

The house is planned to be built of frame construction on masonry foundation, cement base course. The exterior finish is wide clapboards for walls and a shingle roof. A lot from 38 to 43 feet in width will be required. A full basement under the entire house contains laundry, heater room and fuel bins. The combination sunroom and living room provides exceptionally large living quarters in a house as small as this one. Eight windows in the sunroom insure plenty of light and air. The sunroom really amounts to an enclosed porch. A large open fireplace is a feature of the living room. Attic storage is reached by stairs in the main hall. The kitchen is small in size, but planned scientifically to route steps and save labor. The dining alcove which forms a part of the kitchen provides a built-in table and seats. Under the seats are linen presses and above china cupboards. Two bedrooms on the rear of the house enjoy cross circulation of air and adequate light.

The suggested color scheme for the house is white walls and trim and chimney stack; dark variegated green roof shingles; dark green band around chimney cap.

It would be difficult to include more in the way of conveniences and comforts in a small home than you will find here. For this reason this house deserves careful study by people interested in small quarters planned to afford every convenience and comfort most people demand.

The cost to erect this home will depend upon what you put into it and how thoroughly it is equipped. If you are willing to use simple material and inexpensive equipment this home should be reasonable to build. Expensive equipment will increase the cost; inexpensive equipment will decrease the cost. The cost will also be affected by the locality in which the house is built.

PROPOSALS
Drill Tower Addition to the Fletcher Street Fire Engine House

Sealed proposals will be received from local contractors only at the office of the Inspector of Public Buildings at City Hall on December 9th, at 3 p. m., for the construction of a Drill Tower Addition to the Fletcher Street Fire Engine House on the corner of Fletcher and West Clark Streets, for the City of Lowell, Mass., in accordance with the plans and specifications drawn by Percy F. Gilbert, architect.

The plans and specifications may be obtained by applying at the office of the building department at City Hall. The work will be let in one general contract.

Each proposal must be made on the blank form which accompanies the specifications and no bid will be considered if presented in any other form.

Each bidder must be prepared to give bond in the sum of 20 percent of the contract price conditioned on the satisfactory execution of the contract as required by the plans and specifications.

The Inspector of Public Buildings reserves the right to reject any or all proposals, or to accept the proposal which seems for the best interests of the City of Lowell.

Per order,
JOHN B. MOYNAHAN,
Inspector of Public Buildings.

"A Prince-There Was," Opera House Play

MISS LILLIAN DESMONDE
Leading Lady, Stanley James Players

"A Prince-There Was," delightful comedy by George M. Cohan, is announced as the bill for next week at the Lowell Opera House, home of the spoken drama. The Stanley James (the) Players have a splendid vehicle in this offering which originally played at the Cohan theatre in New York for a year, after which it had long runs in Chicago and Boston as well as extensive successes on tour.

Cohan shows signs to have struck a popular chord in Lowell, "Trend." "So This is London" and others given here all having done a splendid business. Sensing the public's liking for Cohan shows Mr. James has booked "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway" and "The O'Brien Girl" in addition to "A Prince-There Was," next week's bill. Next week will mark the first week of the engagement with the local company of one of the most clever linguists in stock, Miss Gladys Lloyd, former camera star who comes here ilrect from the Proctor Players at Albany, N. Y. Miss Lloyd is an excellent comedienne and eccentric dancer and is a graduate of Ned Wayburn's school of stage dancing. She is a clever actress with pleasing personality and charm of manner that is certain to help her in making many warm friends in Lowell.

All manner of down-to-date subjects are handled in a Cohanesque manner in "A Prince-There Was," from international relations to a boarding house stew. Cohan even resurrects William Jennings Bryan for a few moments in the last of the three lively acts. This play was suggested by Darragh Aldrich's famous story "Enchanted Hearts" and was originally written by Mr. Cohan as a starring vehicle for Robert Hilliard. Because of Mr. Hilliard's illness Mr. Cohan jumped into the leading role himself on the second night of the show's successful New York run and he continued to play it until the show took to the road.

Camden Man's Amazing Message to Rheumatics

After Suffering Intense Agony for Many Years He Wants to Tell Others.

Dr. Briggsell, I simply had to write and tell you what your wonderful Camphorol has done for me. For many years I suffered the tortures of Rheumatism as only those who have it know. At the same time I had a terrible skin and covered with sores, the sharp pains were so severe I could not sleep. Had to get up and rub and scratch. I almost drove myself crazy. I started to get me a package of Camphorol. After using two jars of Camphorol I am well and happy and have gone back to work. I shall never be able to tell you enough about Camphorol. After all the years I suffered, it feels good to be well again. Robert W. Fessenden, 1917 High St., Camden, N. J.

LOOK OUT FOR THIS FELLOW

Through officials of the Lowell Gas Light company, the police this morning were informed of a man about 40 years of age, five feet, five inches in height and poorly dressed, who is selling gas meters under pretense that he is a representative of the Lowell Gas Light company. Yesterday he duped a Playette street resident into depositing $5 with him as part payment for a new quarter meter, which he said would be delivered to her in due time. Gas company officials and the police feel he may attempt to work the same game on other localites and request citizens to be on their guard.

PLAY HERE DEC. 12

Paul Whiteman and Famous Orchestra to Appear in Auditorium

We will have America's best known citizen with us on Friday evening, Dec. 12. Paul Whiteman and his internationally famous orchestra will appear in the Memorial Auditorium. Mr. Whiteman earned the title of America's best known citizen through his responsibility of introducing jazz to the world.

According to export statistics there is no country on the face of the globe which does not purchase American jazz, either "canned" or in sheet music form.

The program which the Whiteman orchestra will give will show what has happened to the great American noise from the time of its birth in the south to its present stage where Stokowski, Stravinsky and most of the world's greatest music masters have come out heartily and openly to sing its praises.

The program which will be played at the Auditorium will be the same that Mr. Whiteman introduced in New York city's famous Carnegie hall where jazz for the first time was heard within these classical walls.

Step by step the program takes one from the early Dixie Land one-step to the present day jazz.

These five musicians playing with La Rocca played entirely without music, every man for himself and praise to the one making the most noise.

The amazing rapid stride which this music has taken are shown in all their forms culminating in George Gershwin's "Rhapsody Blues," the first piece written in pure classical form and in pure jazz spirit.

ROLAND HAYES COMING TO THE AUDITORIUM

Here is how Roland Hayes, who is coming to Lowell Memorial Auditorium on Tuesday evening, Dec. 9, looked to the musical critic of the Boston Transcript at the time of his concert there last summer:

Even at midsummer, as seasons in Boston go, Mr. Roland Hayes is assured of an audience. It filled Symphony hall yesterday afternoon; overflowed with applause; asked and received repetitions and extra numbers quite as though the tenor were now established in the royal line. His modest ways, however, did not forsake him. When the clapping gave him opportunity, he would say in his gentle voice: "I have been requested to sing this air from Handel or that fragment of 'Mannan,' and sing it forthwith, as one both gratified and grateful that his honors should be so eager. In his program proper he made no sacrifice of his previous standards; yet in the ordering inclined a little to the ways of Mr. McCormack. An old air from Mozart was the first piece. Three classic German lieder followed, from

ROLAND HAYES

Schubert, Schumann and Wolf. Next came three songs by American composers, pleasant and sufficiently artistic. Griffiths, Mr. Whelpley and Mr. Warren Storey Smith wrote them. Three "Negro Spirituals" ended the list. The equivalent, though in different vein, of Mr. McCormack's Irish pieces. With reason, as singers of high worth and far-spreading vogue, they may thus exchange formulas.

In many of these numbers Mr. Hayes remained the singer that Boston first discovered last winter—in Schumann's "Gestirne," Griffiths' "I Know a Hill," Mr. Smith's "A Caravan from China Comes," the "Extras" from Handel and Massenet. That is to say, he once more disclosed a voice of pure and finely tempered tenor-timbre, plastic to every modulation of the compass; sensitive to every coloring of his own bestowing; never coarsened never forced; married only by too eager pursuit of an elegant falsetto akin to that with which Monsieur Clemens used to spice his climaxes. Again Mr. Hayes's ear for the true pitch, a discernment both subtle and precise, the shapely and unfolding phrase, the sustained and intensified melodic curve, the pace and rhythm perceived, felt, conveyed; pause, shading, accent and climax aptly placed—all commended him. He is a singer of conscious artistry.

SCENE FROM GERALD CRANSTON'S LADY

If there's one picture you cannot afford to miss seeing, it is the one that is coming to Loew's Rialto the first three days of the week, starting Monday. It is the William Fox Special production, "Gerald Cranston's Lady," which has been acclaimed by critics to be one of the finest pictures ever made at the William Fox studios, and that's saying a whole lot. And what more: the cast is superb! James Kirkwood, Anna Rubens, Walter McGrath and Marguerite De La Motte are only a few of the names of those who essay the important parts. The picture is a powerful social drama, based on the novel from the pen of Gilbert Frankau, and is directed by Emmett Flynn. It is the kind of a film in which Miss Rubens is certain to wear beautiful clothes for which she is well known, and the kind of a role in which she may be most mysterious and beautiful. James Kirkwood also is particularly well cast as the self-made millionaire who believes that position might be purchased and that love was a "game for fools."

The scenes are laid in England and Paris with a few stray shots showing life in Nigeria with its attendant thrills. There is also a scene inside a big passenger ship crossing the English channel in a terrific storm which is very well done.

The plot of "Gerald Cranston's Lady" requires that the tense climax of the story takes place in the air in a big ship of the line. The picture is a big star cast, are the pictures that will be shown Sunday only.

pours out his love for him; a great storm breaks, and the pair are swiftly over the city, the big machine buffeted about in the clouds, there comes a realization that brings the story to a highly dramatic conclusion.

Another big feature of this picture is the wonderful sets that have been built especially for this production. Director Emmett Flynn is very enthusiastic over what he claims to be the most elaborate interior set ever constructed in Hollywood. It is the scene of the wedding at St. Margaret's Cathedral near Westminster Abbey, London, and was duplicated in every detail at the Fox studios. The set is the exact production of the original in every way. The wedding scene in "Gerald Cranston's Lady" was filmed on this set which is beautiful to behold.

The added attraction on the bill is "The Millionaire Cowboy," starting "Lefty" Flynn. Taking the role of an immensely wealthy young prodigal who is marooned for one of his misdeeds in a deserted frontier town out west, Maurice (Lefty) Flynn steps into the screen spotlight with all the same frolic of a John Barrymore. In "The Millionaire Cowboy" and "Shells" a show that has so many good points it is mighty hard piffing. Gloria Gray has the leading feminine role.

Other attractions on the bill include a comedy and the very latest issue of Fox News.

"The Marriage Market," with Alice Lake, Pauline Garon and Jack Mulhall, and "The Dancer of the Nile" with a big star cast, are the pictures that will be shown Sunday only.

CORINNE GRIFFITH AND LEW TELLEGEN IN "SINGLE WIVES"

"Single Wives"—the ones that husbands forget, the wives who are hungry for romance, the wives who sometimes listen when forbidden love calls, is the feature picture offering on the Strand program for the first few days of the week, starting with Sunday's matinee. Come and see them—gorgeously gowned, jewel bedecked, well bred, pleasure-led darlings—now for all the young authors, but now wives who are forgotten like many a prize that has been won—women who still love as they did before marriage, but married to men who forget that love is a woman's only recompense. Corinne Griffith and Milton Sills bring to you with all the drama of this poignant problem—in beautiful settings—in magnificent dress. It's a picture story for men as well as women, for young people as well as those more matured. It's a story that will provide food for serious thought. Don't miss it. In addition to this big attraction Directing Master Morgan has arranged for the presentation of Will Rogers' new, newest humor-making screen offering, "Going to Congress," and also the newest "Our Gang" funfest, "Dorby Day." It's an unusually strong bill and should attract banner crowds at all performances.

A prominent eastern judge who had presided over several hundred divorce trials recently declared that 90 per cent of all divorce cases are based on indifference. "The fault lies chiefly with the husband," he stated. "A man forgets that he must continue to court a wife even after the knot has been tied. A wife likes to be told over and over again that she is loved; she likes as much attention after marriage as before, and if she doesn't get it she is going to seek it elsewhere—at least that's the danger that a man must figure with. Rarely do I find the whole trouble with marital conflict placed on the shoulders of the wife. More often than not the husband is the one responsible for conflict of this nature because of his indifference. In every home where the husband continues to be as effective a lover as he was in the courting days there is perfect harmony." The First National picture, "Single Wives" was written around a typical American society home where a husband's indifference to his wife brings about a most tragic state of affairs. The wife, seeking love and attention is virtually forced to another man's arms through her husband's lack of appreciation. The husband is too wrapped up in his business to give the needed attention to his wife and family. He neglects his social obligations and thereby neglects his wife, accepting the proverbial standard that a fish should not be fed bait after it is caught. In "Single Wives" Corinne Griffith appears as the wife, and Lew Tellegen, Phyllis Haver, Henry B. Walthall, Kathlyn Williams, Jere Austin and others.

Attention is again directed to the generally accepted claim that "Strand" programs are always the very best. The name attached to a picture bill is a sure guarantee of superior entertainment and also a factor in making entertainments at this theatre most enjoyable.

CASES DISPOSED OF
IN DISTRICT COURT

Eleanor Paraski was adjudged guilty, in district court today, of illegally selling liquor, and was ordered to pay a fine of $100.

Dilliplex for drunkenness and operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor, was sentenced to 15 days in the house of correction on the latter charge. The drunkenness complaint was filed.

Lorenzo Prince, threatening, was continued until next Saturday.

MISS MAYBELLE PALMER AT B. F. KEITH'S NEXT WEEK

"Broadway Dreams" will hold the big spot on the boards at the B. F. Keith theatre, tomorrow afternoon and evening, rounding out the sensational story here of this act. Lehr & Mercedes will also put over their bit of tomfoolery, and Briere & King are slated for appearance. Others who will be on the bill are Ross & Thorne in an excellent act; Francis & Hume, snappy youths, and "Canary Opera." The picture feature will be "Fighting Blade," a production full of life and heroics.

For the coming week there will be a headliner which has held the attention of thousands at the New York Hippodrome and the big music halls of London. It is none other than Marcello with his trained sea-lions. There have been many seals and sea-lions here in the past, and all of them have shown marked proficiency in juggling. Here is one which not only does the juggling, but sings and romps and plays and does every bit of her master. It is the most remarkable product of the sea that ever came before the public and audiences will marvel at it.

The Wilton Slaters return once more with their delightful mixture of songs and refined comedy. They sing, dance, talk and play the piano and the violin. Not long ago, vaudeville, loaned the sisters to musical comedy, where they were featured in "The Little Whopper." But they have returned to their first love, the varieties, where they are as big favorites as ever.

Arthur Wanner and Mabelle Palmer—do you remember them? They put forward the best character sketch that vaudeville knew all of last season, and they are going to bring it here. It is called "One Saturday Night." Songs and humor shot through this skill, and make it one of the most enjoyable turns that the current season will record.

A new kind of a nut has broken forth. He is labelled Charlie Wilson, and he begins at no place in particular and winds up about the same spot. He feeds on laughter, and continually rattles out new stuff. He has an inexhaustible fund of good things, and on no 2 days in the week does he do the same things. He is a nut and is proud of it, and so will you be after you have sampled his work.

Clark and Crosby have a comedy skit entitled "Tony Don't Understand." Mr. Clark has the part of a wop who gains his point through pretended ignorance. But there are several good songs in the turn, and the patter is first class.

The Mikus are gymnasts. Balancing is their strong point, but they take the things which have been done before and present them from a new angle. They not only balance themselves, but many inanimate objects, too.

"Down by the Rio Grande," is the picture attraction for the week! It is a story of border love and hate, and it is offered by an excellent cast.

"A Sainted Devil" at Merrimack Sq. Theatre

RUDOLPH VALENTINO AND NITA NALDI AT THE MERRIMACK SQ.

After an absence of two years from the screen, did Rudolph Valentino "come back" in "Monsieur Beaucaire"? Well say he did!

And he followed up his triumph with another just as big—bigger, in fact—"A Sainted Devil," by Rex Beach. It comes to the Merrimack Square theatre tomorrow for a four days' engagement.

Here is the screen's greatest lover in a South American picture of contrasts—the old hacienda life of the Argentine, contrasted with the Paris social life of Buenos Aires, the Paris of America. It has fire and dash and is set in surroundings that enhance its pictorial beauty and give zest to the plot; it stirs the emotions to high intensity. "A Sainted Devil" is a melodrama flavored with romance.

The story carries a wallop in every scene. It is elemental. There's action—plenty of it. To say that the star has a roll equally good as his "Monsieur Beaucaire" is putting it pretentiously. But that's just what he has in "A Sainted Devil," nevertheless.

As a dashing young South American, Don Alonzo Castro, Valentino has a role never to be forgotten. He combines the best parts of his characters in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and in "Blood and Sand." There is an opportunity for him to dance the Argentine tango for which he is internationally famous. He has love scenes aplenty and there is action for him in his fights with bandits.

"A Sainted Devil" is a story tale of this Spanish-American youth whose bride is stolen from him on his wedding night. His vain search for her, his embittered turning against her, his seeking vengeance for his wrongs, make a tense, exciting drama full of hot-blooded action and suspense. Valentino's role is that of a handsome young planter who becomes the terror of the neighborhood and wreaks vengeance against everyone with whom he comes in contact. The conditions under which he finally finds his bride and the revenge he takes bring us up to an event that is probably more sensational than anything the star has done before.

The makers of this picture promise definitely that here is a far better production than either "The Sheik" or "Blood and Sand." "A Sainted Devil" is right up to the same class as "Monsieur Beaucaire," although an entirely different type of production.

Felen d'Alcy, a newwoman in Paramount pictures, plays Juliette, the bride of Alonzo (Valentino). Nita Naldi does some high-powered vamping as Carlotta, and Louis Lagrange, who did such good work in "The Side Show of Life," has a sympathetic role. The rest of the cast is equally high calibre.

The settings for this picture are both picturesque and romantic. The huge hacienda took up the entire back lot of the Paramount Eastern studio. And that's big. Exotic cabaret scenes and water-front dives in Buenos Aires are other outstanding features. The star dances the tango in "A Sainted Devil" and has a number of knife duels with bandits. They're real breath-takers. The bandit's hangout in the mountain caves, the wedding ceremony, banquet, raid, abduction, etc., are but a few of the countless, big scenes in this action-romance. There's something happening every minute. The picture moves right along without the slightest trace of lagging.

An excellent surrounding bill has been arranged to accompany this big feature. The second feature is "The Extra Girl," starring Mabel Noyand the queen of laughs, in six reels of roars and thrills. It's a Mack Sennett

London's Blackmail Plot Told in Photographs

MRS. MAUDE ROBINSON

LONDON, Nov. 29. (By the Associated Press.)—The jury delivered its verdict yesterday in the extraordinary suit brought by C. D. Robinson, a former bookmaker, against the Midland bank, but judgment was deferred pending legal arguments, which will be heard at a later day. For eight days the case aroused widespread interest because of the charges brought out that an unnamed Indian prince, referred to as "Mr. A," was held up for blackmail after he had been discovered in a Paris apartment with Mrs. Robinson.

THE CROWD TRYING TO GET INTO COURT REACHED MOB PROPORTIONS

The jury found that there had been a conspiracy to extort money from the prince and that the prince, whose name was kept secret for reasons of state, parted with 150,000 pounds while his mind was unsettled through fear. It found, however, that neither Mr. Robinson nor his wife was a party to the conspiracy.

Was Beside the Issue. Judge Darling had decided that the question of negligence on the part of the bank in connection with the 125,000 pounds which Mr. Robinson alleged with due him, was beside the issue, but after the jury gave its verdict on the conspiracy point, it retired again to consider other technical questions concerning the bank and the check put by the judge.

The jury's replies to these questions established that the bank in paying out 150,000 had obeyed the mandate under which the money was received and cleared the check, and that William Cooper Hobbs, a solicitor, who, it had been declared on the witness stand, was a party to the plot against "Mr. A" in drawing out the money, purported to act under the same authority as that under which he paid the check into the bank; that Hobbs had no intention of transferring his whole right, if any, in the check of 150,000 pounds to the plaintiff. But on the question whether the rights in the check were ever transferred by Hobbs or Appleton & Co. to the plaintiff, the jury disagreed. The judge said he would not take the responsibility of ordering the jury to retire again to consider this question, which was not sufficiently material. The jury was then discharged and the court rose.

In the course of his summing up,

Judge Darling remarked on the risk being taken by Montague Noel Newton, who had testified as having posed as the husband of Mrs. Robinson. "He is in danger now," the judge said, "there is no doubt of it."

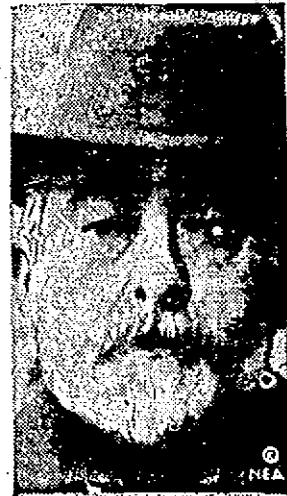

Newton's appearance when it was supposed he was abroad, has been one of the most startling incidents of the trial, and the judge's remark is considered significant.

The judge emphasized that "Mr. A" gained nothing despite the concealment of his name, but it was difficult to believe that anyone who knew him would be unable to identify him.

Regarding the potentate's aide-de-camp, the judge declared: "Only that the revelation of his name might have led to the discovery of the potentate's identity, I should have asked nothing better than to have his name made public to the world. I think he deserves every punishment which can be inflicted upon any person who so disgraced an English name."

Hobbs Lodged in Jail

LONDON, Nov. 29.—After a preliminary hearing in court today, the jail doors were swung to again upon William Cooper Hobbs, solicitor's clerk, one of the prominent figures in the suit of C. E. Robinson, a former bookmaker, against the Midland bank, the testimony of which revealed a blackmailing plot through which an unnamed Indian potentate was mulcted out of 150,000 pounds after being discovered in a Paris apartment with Robinson's wife.

REPORT SWIFT TO REPLACE HARRIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Former Attorney-General James D. Swift, of Fall River, is slated to succeed Judge Robert O. Harris of Boston as United States district attorney at Boston. This arrangement was made before the election and it is understood was agreeable to both Chairman Butler of the Republican National committee and Senator Lodge, before the latter's death.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS
SEAL SALE NOW ON

The seventeenth annual Christmas seal sale was launched in Massachusetts yesterday by the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League and its 27 affiliated county and city associations. Members of the Lowell branch are performing their part wholeheartedly as usual, and the Christmas seals are now being distributed in the usual way. All good citizens who contribute their pennies, dimes and dollars for the great cause of humanity are life-savers in truth as well as label. Contributors to the Massachusetts fund have reason to feel that they are actually helping to stamp out the great white plague.

Lowell men and women have always contributed generously to the charitable cause in the years that have gone. Members of the local tuberculosis council hope that the sale of the Christmas seals this season will be larger than ever. They can be purchased in any amount, in sheets where large quantities are desired.

The first sale of the familiar Christmas seals were made 17 years ago for the purpose of securing funds to support voluntary anti-tuberculosis work. Since that year the proceeds have steadily grown, until, last year, in Massachusetts alone, $191,000 was realized and more than $1,500,000 in the entire country.

The active leaders in charge of the sales campaign believe that all records will be broken, and that more than $200,000 will be raised in Massachusetts and $4,500,000 at least in the other 47 states of the Union.

Official records kept by each one of the 27 branch councils in Massachusetts, show positively that in the last 17 years, the death rate from tuberculosis has been more than cut in half. This means an annual saving of more than 3000 lives in Massachusetts alone and 100,000 lives in the entire country, with the untold human suffering and economic losses which accompany the disease wherever it is found.

Experts believe that this progress means that the disease can be controlled, and if the present campaign work can be intensified and extended, this will come about within a reasonable length of time.

Army flyers' own story of flight around the world

Only complete, official narrative from diaries and experiences of the six aviators, put in vivid words by the famous author and adventurer, Lowell Thomas, commencing tomorrow.

ALL the world has been waiting to hear the real story of the greatest adventure of our time—the first aerial circumnavigation of the globe. Many have called it the last great adventure.

Mr. Thomas has been living and flying with the six Army adventurers—taking down from their lips the personal narrative of their hairbreadth escapes, their battles with the Arctic blizzards, flights through blinding rain and snow, encounters with tropic monsoons and typhoons, experiences with the natives of many lands.

This American Odyssey from real life is the intimate tale of the great adventure. There never has been another story like it since the days of Columbus and Magellan. Look for the start of it tomorrow—and daily and Sunday thereafter until the story is told.

WASHINGTON SCIENTIST PREDICTS NEW FORM OF LIFE FROM GERMS

Tells Smithsonian Institute That Influenza Germs May Originate New Species—Plans For Short Session of Congress—Leaders May Tolerate the Insurgents

Special to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 28.—If you speak today, just say to yourself "I wonder if that is the result of a new form of life coming into existence on the planet?" For Dr. H. H. Henshaw, a noted biologist and devout believer in evolution, has been giving a series of lectures here at the Smithsonian Institution, in which he advances the theory that the germ of the 1918 influenza epidemic may have been the germ of a new form of life on earth.

Dr. Henshaw, talked at length and with enthusiasm about the development of life, he referred to the germ, thereby saying "It is conceivable that the epidemic of 1918 actually marked the appearance of some new form of life on earth—marking that in the earliest conditions of the earth the life germs were so small they could not have been seen under a microscope, and advanced the theory that the influenza epidemic were merely a new form of life that had escaped destruction by being devoured by older forms of life. Dr. Henshaw intermingled his talk with expressions like "supernatural," "miraculous," and "common sense," all of which may be quite clear to persons led up on evolution, but which carry mystery and doubt to the laymen who don't believe in miracles, that they are but one form of the monkey stock.

And speaking of germs, A. C. Hill, chief of the special schools' bureau of New York, was here a few days ago, and expressed the conviction that prison reform is the best way to kill sin germs, as he calls the tendency to crime.

Mr. Hill refers to what he calls "the microbes of badness" and says the germ of criminalism is in every human being. "The microbes of badness," says Mr. Hill, "but every human being may become a criminal. Home influences, education, and environment overcome many native impulses that might lead to a life of crime. Mr. Hill believes that a prison school, properly managed, and with proper religious instruction, will do more than any other thing to truly reform criminals serving sentence.

Short Session Foreseen
Senators and congressmen "are scarce as hen's teeth," as they say way down east. The latest news of the date for Thanksgiving and the fact that many congressional families fall to come for the winter when it is the short or closing session of a congress, has kept members of congress at home till the very eve of the convening of the session next Monday. The excitement will be lessened when a few days earlier or to attend the republican caucus held yesterday.

That Senator Warren will decline the theatre party at the opera house.

THEATRE PARTY AT THE OPERA HOUSE

The regular meeting of the club Tuesday noon will be held at the Y. M. C. A. and the principal speaker will be Frank B. Jaynes, whose topic will be "The benefits and purposes of the community chest."

One week from Tuesday, the Y. M. C. A. club, the Advertising club, the Rotary club and the Lions club will hold a joint meeting in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium in the evening. The speaker on this occasion will be Arthur Nash, better known as "Golden Rule Nash," head of the firm of A. Nash Co., wholesale tailors of Cincinnati.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY OF THE Y. M. C. A.

At the regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. held yesterday afternoon, G. R. Merrill, state secretary of the employed boys department of the Boston Y. M. C. A. was the speaker. He said that the most interesting thing taken in children's work is that this was the only means of promoting good citizenship. Mrs. Mordock, Mackinnon, president of the auxiliary presided at the meeting. Miss Lorraine Leith was the entertainer of the afternoon and was accompanied by Miss Gertrude Lander, Mrs. Charles S. O'Brien, and Mrs. A. G. Titus, assisted by the women of St. Paul's Methodist church, served refreshments.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2.00. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any drugist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as you prefer. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never fails.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the irritable throat tickle and heals the sore, inflamed membranes gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your drugist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex." Give directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

new highway in the territory described above, would mean practically opening up a territory of Middlesex county that has long needed just such a thoroughfare both for agricultural expansion and the building of summer homes. The territory today has practically no handy railroad facilities.

As a preliminary proceeding before the formal public hearing scheduled for Wednesday at the state house, the highway commissioners invited local chamber of commerce men to the hearing, advancing Lowell's hopes and promises of cordial support of the long desired highway construction project that would serve Lowell in many profitable ways for all time to come.

Present at a meeting held yesterday with the state highway commissioners in Harvard, were selectmen from Littleton, Harvard, Clinton and Ayer. Residents of Still River were also present. It is understood that the project now has the strongest advocates in the rural communities, with town governments prepared to share as far as possible in the expense of the new highway construction plan, if called upon to do so.

Senator La Follette Fatigued
Senator La Follette has not been seen here since the election and it is said he is very much fatigued by the campaign. He put up at the Polk hotel, a very sick man for several years, spending much time in hospitals and undergoing several operations. Men who knew him best are surprised he was able to make the five campaign he did, and express the opinion he will take but little part in the work of the winter. In that case, probably, Brookhart will lead the insurgent element in the senate and Nelson of Wisconsin, La Follette's right hand man, lead the opposition in the house as he did last year.

A strange thing about La Follette is his ability to hold as personal friends in the senate the very men who are most bitter against his policies and insurgent leadership. A remarkable instance of this was the friendship that existed between Lodge and La Follette. They were often seen chatting together, laughing and joking intimately, but when it came to politics, they were the most bitter of foes.

Folks out here are wondering what they shall call "Ma" Ferguson, and Mrs. Ross, after they become governor of the state of Texas and Wyoming. "We can't call them governors, without being misunderstood," said one man. "Governors" isn't very bad, but I presume we shall call them governor just as we do men, before we get through electing women." And the man heaved a deep sigh, for he isn't a suffragist, even though the question is now a thing of the past.

NEW STATE HIGHWAY TO WORCESTER

Lowell chamber of commerce is solidly backing the latest substantial effort being made to "start something" that will lead eventually to the creation of a new cross-county state highway, connecting the city of Lowell with Worcester, the town of Littleton, and Harvard.

The matter has been a subject of continual debate and petitioning on the part of cities and towns that would benefit exceedingly by the construction of a state highway along sections of the winding rural roads now invariably in a disgraceful condition and generally avoided by automobilists, if possible.

During the past few months, there has been renewed agitation in civil and industrial community quarters in Lowell, as well as in the progressive villages through which the rambling, narrow country road runs connecting the main state highway already constructed from both the Worcester and Lowell terminals of the roads, forming a direct transportation line.

Today, Lowell chamber of commerce officials received good news. The project long under discussion, which was shelved by the highway commissioners last year and then postponed indefinitely again, has at last been received. Announcement was received by Secretary George F. Wells this morning, to the effect that the state highway department will, on Wednesday next, in Boston, hold a public hearing on the new intersecting road proposition.

At this hearing there will be representatives of the local chamber and also well known business men representing Lowell, Littleton, Westford, Hartford, Ayer Junction, Clinton and Worcester. All will be ready to testify as to the need of constructing a modern connecting highway as proposed.

Great expectations run in the rural sections of both western Middlesex and eastern Worcester counties, for the building of this interconnecting highway. It is asserted, would open up new state avenue of immense traffic, both passenger and freight, and would benefit the rural sections in particular, because of the increased volume of interstate passenger and motor truck transportation between Maine and New Hampshire points through Lowell, direct to Clinton and Worcester via the town of Harvard, and also in reverse order.

Three of the busiest through highway traffic lines in New England would be tapped, if the present project of constructing the new cross-county highway goes through as now seems probable. There would be connections on one end of the north with the Daniel Webster Boston-Lowell-Concord and White Mountains highway.

In Harvard, the road would tap the famous Minute Men's trail, so-called—the state highway branching off from the Boston-Ayer-Fitchburg highway at Concord Junction, and running through West Acton, Boxboro, Harvard and then to Ayer, joining the Boston-Fitchburg thoroughfare on the eastern side of the town.

The third state highway that the new thoroughfare across the Littleton and Harvard hills would lead to via the present excellent highway serving Clinton, Sterling, West Boylston and the Worcester entrance, would be the Boston-Worcester-Springfield road, where traffic is almost continuous day and night.

As a preliminary proceeding before the formal public hearing scheduled for Wednesday at the state house, the highway commissioners invited local chamber of commerce men to the hearing, advancing

Lowell's hopes and promises of cordial support of the long desired highway construction project that would serve Lowell in many profitable ways for all time to come.

Present at a meeting held yesterday with the state highway commissioners in Harvard, were selectmen from Littleton, Harvard, Clinton and Ayer. Residents of Still River were also present. It is understood that the project now has the strongest advocates in the rural communities, with town governments prepared to share as far as possible in the expense of the new highway construction plan, if called upon to do so.

VOTE AS YOU PLEASE, BUT VOTE

At the state election a great drive was made to bring out the largest vote possible. The vote cast then, although it might have been larger, was highly satisfactory to those who had appealed for a complete expression of the popular will in the choice of candidates.

Our city election may not seem quite as important, but it is closer to all of us and more intimately concerns our every day lives. It is a local matter of our own, as it were, and upon our action in reference to the choice of city officials will depend very largely the success of our city government for the next two years.

If a corporation were about to hire officials for a term of two years, it would look into their records and standing very carefully. It would see whether they have the necessary equipment for the business for which they are to be employed. That is what the voters should do in selecting the candidates for office at the polls next Tuesday. It is, therefore, very important that they come out to vote in full numbers. There is serious danger in having a great number of blanks in any particular contest. Special precautions should be taken to prevent any such laxity as was revealed in the recent primaries when the envelopes containing the ballots from certain precincts were found open with seals broken.

It is to be hoped that the voters who want good government whether they are interested in the candidates who are up for office or not will go to the polls and exercise their best judgment in the selection of candidates. We have heard some voters remark that there is not much difference between the candidates who are fighting for the various offices and while that may be true in some respects in regard to some of the offices, the fact remains that every citizen is under an obligation to vote in next Tuesday's election. Those who fail to do so may justly be ranked as political slackers. We sincerely hope that there will be few slackers next Tuesday and that the officers chosen will be the choice of a vast majority of the electorate. Let the old slogan in regard to voting be observed. Go to the polls next Tuesday and vote—"Vote as you please, but vote."

FOR A BLUE SUNDAY

Before the United States senate there is a bill providing for a blue Sunday law for the District of Columbia. It was introduced by Senator Jones of the state of Washington and is understood to represent the views of the Lord's Day Alliance which is campaigning throughout the country in behalf of the measure and seeking the endorsement of trade and labor organizations as well as of churches and other public bodies. It is alleged that the intention of the proponents of this measure is to have the Jones bill enacted for the District of Columbia and then have one quite similar provided for the various states.

It is right that Sunday should be religiously observed, but that does not call for any law obliging the people to refrain absolutely from physical labor that is necessary and to shut down all places of amusement just as if we were to pit on the habiliments of gloom and await the end of the world with the dawn of each Sunday morning.

The proposed restrictions upon the liberties of the individual, provided in this bill would strike a serious blow at American freedom as guaranteed in the constitution and would interfere with the religious observance of Sunday upon which the people should be free to decide for themselves. The enactment of any measure such as the Jones bill, would simply tend to spread disrespect for the law and to promote law-breaking instead of greater respect for all laws human and divine, as we presume is the object of the bill.

The observance of Sunday is a matter for the people of each state to decide for themselves. Congress, in attempting to pass such legislation would show a disposition to encroach upon state rights.

A. F. OF L. POLICIES

The American Federation of Labor at its recent national convention did not adopt any policy differing materially from its platform of previous years. Perhaps the greatest departure—a step forward, it might be called—was to favor a labor insurance company such as has been operating in England. Another important plank in the platform is that opposing any invasion of private industry by the government. It is plain that except in emergencies such as war or any great calamity, the government should not become a competitor in any branch of private industry. In the matter of politics, the Federation wisely adheres to its time-honored policy of neutrality as between the political parties. Any other policy would be fatal. Thus the idea of forming a third or labor party for political action has been abandoned.

Some restriction of the veto power of the supreme court is favored, but a clear understanding of the duties of the court will show that its function in reference to the acts of congress is not one of approval or disapproval as the measure is put before the president. It is simply one of interpreting the constitution, and no authority can tell the court whether it will uphold the constitution in whole or in part. This talk about "a veto" is absurd. The court when called upon for an opinion upon the constitutionality of any measure, answers affirmatively or negatively, giving its reasons; it cannot say that an act of congress is 50 per cent constitutional and 10 per cent otherwise. If it violates the constitution in the slightest, then the decision is negative and the act so condemned is thereby annulled. Were it otherwise, we should have no authority to tell us what is constitutional and what is not. Under such conditions the constitution would soon be obliterated.

SHORT SESSION OF CONGRESS

Plans for the short session of congress which will open next Monday, have already been outlined by the republican leaders. It appears that the investigations of Muscle Shoals, Teague Dome and a few other matters are likely to be resumed, while the postal pay bill which President Coolidge vetoed will probably be passed over the veto, inasmuch as now that election is over the members will not be afraid to commit themselves on the measure.

It is expected that the session will be a very busy one. One of the interesting items of business has to do with the attempt to unseat Senator Mayfield of Texas whose election has been placed under a cloud that must be passed upon by a committee of the senate followed by a vote of the body. There will be a movement to repeal the publicity clause of the income tax law on which the government has some so entangled that it cannot give any clear definition of its status. Even the courts disagree as to whether the newspapers that published returns under this law are liable to prosecution. The congressional firm, also will come in with a program of legislation.

which will be backed up by the insurgent element that has already been practically expelled from the republican party. With the amount of business to come before the session and the divisions representing the varied interests on many of the issues, it is safe to say that the session will be a rather hot one, while it may last much longer than expected.

DRIVE AGAINST HARRIS

It seems that there is a real republican drive started to oust United States Attorney Robert O. Harris from his office. Harris has been charged with the running of the town of Salisbury and Newburyport. The action of United States Attorney General Stone in sending a peremptory order to the court not to sentence two selectmen of Salisbury who had been convicted of conspiracy and run-running, has caused surprise and amazement. The court had already named the sentence that would be meted out to these two officials, but had not in reality pronounced it. The defendants had been given a certain period of time in which to straighten out their affairs before going to jail. Now it is alleged that they will be allowed to turn the state's evidence against others who took a minor part in the conspiracy. The statement is made that Judge Harris is not persona grata with the administration, and that he is to be driven out. It is said that he has been kept in office by Senator Lodge, but now that the senator is dead, he will have to fight his own battles and he allows that he is quite ready to do so. The public will watch with keen interest the outcome of this almost unprecedented interference from Washington with the prohibition law.

PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT AGENCY

In view of the difficulties confronting the farmers in securing the necessary labor when most needed in spring and autumn, the Russell Sage Foundation after considerable research, advocates a government agency to assist the farmers in finding laborers and equally to assist the laborers in finding desirable employment where their services are most needed. There is undoubtedly here a situation in which such an agency as proposed might be of considerable service both to the farmer and the unemployed. The present immigration law has cut off the annual influx of labor from Europe which was always ready to seek out the fields where employment could be found most readily. In order to bring the limited labor supply to the places where it is most needed, therefore, a public employment office that will also direct the transportation of laborers, might prove very useful alike to the farmers and the laborers seeking employment and willing to work.

MR. LEE ON EDUCATION

Alonzo B. Lee, a manufacturer of elevators in Brooklyn, N. Y., believes that modern education, particularly that of women, is one of the great evils of the age, and while his opinions may not be worth very much, still he has undertaken to put them in book form for the enlightenment of the reading public.

He believes that women's colleges should be burned to the ground for the reason, as he alleges, that college education is not good for women. "If he refers to the effect of such education on the nervous system of women students, his statements may have some foundation in fact. It is true, that women cannot go through the long years of hard study without more or less injury to their nervous system, if not to their physical constitution. The same is true but to a less degree of some men."

Mr. Lee's view of education is, that we are getting too many of the "politics" into our schools and that we pay too little attention to the three "R's" and the training necessary for plain business vocations. "All this is old stuff."

Perhaps Mr. Lee knows more about education than Henry Ford knows about history and yet the former's opinions recall what Mr. Ford said in regard to history being "pure bunk." However, the public will doubtless read Lee's book and may possibly later be privileged to peruse one by Henry Ford in reference to history. Both books will derive their primary interest from the standing of the authors as manufacturers. It sometimes appears very strange that men who possess but slight general knowledge and even little education, succeed so well in a particular line of business to which they devote their entire energies.

MAIRY'S CALENDAR

Dr. Mairy, the head venerable prophet for Uncle Sam, favors a change in the calendar which would have 13 months in a year with 28 days in each month. Many people would back him on learning that his specifications call for an extra holiday on the 35th day, which would be left over in the revised calendar.

It would be very convenient, of course, to have every month begin on Sunday and end on Saturday; but the year so arranged would not after all be astronomically correct, and certain corrections would have to be made at stated periods in order to keep pace with the seasons and the tropical year. It would be very difficult to adopt such a calendar and unless it is universally used there will be great confusion of dates. The Gregorian calendar, although inconvenient in some respects, is about as nearly accurate as we can get, although Dr. Mairy's proposition may be adopted in the course of time, on account of its convenience and the advantage arising from having an exact number of days in each month and having all anniversaries fall on the same day of the week.

RUSSIAN TREATY DROPPED

When Premier Ramsay MacDonald of England retired a few weeks ago, he had on hand an Anglo-Russian treaty ready for signature, but not ratified by parliament. Now it appears, the new premier, Stanley Baldwin, has told Russia the treaty will not be ratified for the reason, as alleged, that the Soviet government, through the third international, is trying to start a revolution in England. It is trying to start the revolution everywhere, but is making little or no progress. It was for the same reason that Secretary Hughes said Russia was trying to foment disturbance in this country a year ago. Both Hughes and Baldwin base their charges on letters by President Zinoviev of the third international. The genuineness of these letters is now questioned, and the Russian authorities say they are forgeries. The question it seems is whether Zinoviev represents Russia and the Soviet government or merely a revolutionary organization that diffuses a lot of hot air which is only likely to start a conflagration anywhere.

FOOD OF ATHLETES

It is announced that sugar was fed in unusually large quantities to the soccer team of Yale to hasten the physical recovery of the players. The purpose was merely to verify the theory that depletion of sugar in the blood is what causes exhaustion of athletes. Professors say results were noticeable, but not convincing.

We are surprised that any such experiment should have been tried by the representatives of any educational institution. It has been well known for many years past that while sugar has a slightly stimulating effect for the moment, its use in excess is like burning the furniture of the house to keep up the heat. If Yale's soccer team failed to show virility or endurance, the sugar experiment may explain why.

DANGEROUS CORNER

There should be a post with a directing sign at the outer junction of the Riverside boulevard with First street, where the fatal accident occurred on Thursday night. A present white fence stands abruptly in the roadway at the junction of the two thoroughfares. There is nothing to guide strangers who might be disposed to follow the car track on First street. A white line marking the middle of the roadway and following the curve would assist motorists in keeping the right path.

GOODWIN'S PLAN

Registrar Goodwin's proposed method of dealing with violators of the motor vehicle laws, seems plausible and should be seriously considered. It would turn over to his department many of the cases which are now crowding the court dockets and wasting the time of police officers.

The election commission should insist that precinct officers shall follow orders or lose their jobs. Quitting the job before the votes are counted and the returns sent to city hall as required by law is a serious offense. It destroys the security with which the returns should be protected against being tampered with in any way.

A Lynn man named Shanahan applies to the courts for permission to change his name to Hugh Manly. He is a teacher of physical culture and perhaps feels that his new name would suggest his calling. But it does not appear that he ever did much to honor the old name he has cast aside.

Citizens of Lowell who fail to go to the polls next Tuesday to register their choice for mayor, councilors and school committee will be political slackers in every sense of the word. There is still need of greater vigilance in the enforcement of the law against glaring headlight.

SEEN AND HEARD

Thirty-three varieties of Cheshire cheese are made in England, not counting her lecturers.

Papua, only 495 miles from Australia, is overrun by cannibals and fat people should not go there.

A Thought

As sure as God is good, so surely there is no such thing as necessary evil.—Southey.

Dear My Love

Jones went home feeling well pleased with himself. He had some pleasant news for his wife. He told her he had insured himself for $1000. She said, "Thank goodness for that. Now I need not keep on telling you to be careful when you cross the roads."

The Cany Seat

The clerks in a bank were finishing up the day's work and getting ready to leave when the manager rushed into the room and asked if the cashier, a Scotsman, had gone home. No, sir, a junior replied. The manager said, "Are you certain," asked his chief. "Quite certain," was the reply. "His matches are on his desk."

Slow at Learning

A schoolteacher was talking to the mother of a boy who had reached the eighth grade. "He's got all the letters of the alphabet," said the mother. The teacher replied, "Was at school until 18, and spent four years at college, and I know very little." "Ah, ma'am," said the mother, "some folk are much slower at learning than others."

Some Traveler

Some idea of the traveling propensities of the Canadian goose can be measured by the fact that a 12-pounder of this species was brought down by a duck shooter near Lafayette, N. B. The bird was an aluminum tag bearing the hunter's name and the address of Joe Miner, whose sanctuary for feathered creatures is located in Kingsville, Ontario.

A Mother's Love

Within a garage at Winslow, Ariz., when it was ignited by the explosion of a drum of gasoline, were eight people, new born and helpless. The mother dog ran through the flames to emerge with one of her offspring. She repeated this eight times, till her coat was burned from her back, her last trip completed with a scorched and done up. But she is quite happy with the others.

Getting Things Mixed

"Miss Curlycue" murmured the office manager to the stenographer, "I don't want to be harsh. Nothing like that, really. I have a letter from the director of the railway company. 'Take care, please,' said the lawyer. 'What's gone wrong now?' 'I just want to say you not to write your young man during business hours. Letters are apt to get mixed. Herb & Blue report we have sent 'em a shipment of love and kisses instead of the axle greases they ordered.'—Pittsburg Sun.

Taking His Sails Down

A young man with an inflated opinion of his own importance called upon a very busy lawyer and was kept waiting for some time. When he was shown into the office he said, indignantly, "Imagine, sir, that you do not know who I am. My father is the director of a railway company." "Take care, please," said the lawyer. "And my uncle is a millionaire grain merchant," continued the young man. "Take two chairs, please," said the man of law.

Misplaced Confidence

"That intelligent-looking boy," said the schoolmaster to the man he was showing over the school premises, "is Benjamin, the son of Brown. I have been in him the love of learning to such an extent that he now prefers study to play. I expect at this moment he is writing Latin prose, while all the other pupils are at play. I will ascer tain." He called the lad to him and said, "Write me a letter in your own handwriting." "No, rather than," blushed Brown. "Let me rather," whispered the schoolmaster. "Come, Brown, let me see what you have been writing." Still the boy demurred. But the schoolmaster insisted. And there, in neat imitation of feminine handwriting, he read the following: "Please excuse my son James from school today. He is wanted at home."

Over and Over Again

Over and over again, No matter which way I turn, I always find in the Book of Life Some lesson I have to learn.

I must take my turn at the mill, I must grind out the golden grain, I must work at my task with a resolute will.

Over and over again, We cannot measure the need Of even the smallest flower, That check the flow of the golden sands That run through a single hour.

But the morning dew must fall, And the evening dew must fall, Must do their part and perform it all, Over and over again.

Over and over again, The brook through the meadow flows, And over and over again, The ponderous mill wheel goes.

Once doing will not suffice, Though doing be not in vain, And a blessing falling us once or twice May come if we try again.

The path that has once been tread Is never so rough to our feet, And a lesson we once have learned Is never so hard to repeat.

Though sorrowful tears may fall, And the heart to its depths be riven With storm and tempest, we need them To render us meet for Heaven.

—JOSEPHINE POLLARD.

UNDER THE SPOTLIGHT

"Under the Spotlight '24" was again presented in Memorial Auditorium last evening before a capacity audience which enjoyed the presentation from the rise of the curtain to its fall. The players were exceptionally good last evening and all deserve an equal share of praise in making the affair the success that it was. The phantoms are particularly grateful to the manager who played host to them on Thanksgiving day and to the firemen who furnished transportation for them, to and from the Auditorium.

PARK WHIST CLUB

A meeting of the Park Whist club was held last evening at the home of Mrs. Charles J. Plunkett. Following a short business session an entertainment program was enjoyed with all participating. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Tom Ray and Mrs. Mamie Daley of St. Albans, Vt.

QUARTER CENTURY AGO

William F. Thornton, head attendance officer of this school department and a paper before the Massachusetts Triennial Officers' Association at Marlboro on "School Offenders," and gave many suggestions for the prevention and reform of such delinquents.

City election 25 years ago was held on December 12. The old biennial charter was then in force.

Elks Memorial Services

Lowell Lodge of Elks held its annual memorial service at the Opera House, on Sunday evening, Dec. 3. Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., delivered the principal address. In opening he said: "From the joyousness of the land of perpetual spring to where the cypress and magnolia sway with the warm winds of the south; from where the restless Atlantic breaks on the rock-ribbed New England coast to where the setting sun kisses the giant redwood of California bidding this republic good night; all over this broad land the Elks meet today in memory of their dead."

"Not in the spring when the birds sing, not in the summer when the flowers bloom, not in the autumn when nature is shedding her foliage, but in bleak December when birds and flowers and leaves are gone, we come together to pay tribute to our dead."

The speaker dwelt eloquently upon the principles of the order, Charity, Justice, Brotherly Love and Fidelity and closed with this paragraph: "When we left them in their graves we left the sweet forest-land that they mingling with the dust shall tell them with their fragrance, we love them still. Let us thank God that through the clouds of sorrow is shining the rainbow of eternal happiness and immortality, never to be broken."

Dr. P. C. Plunkett Died

Dr. Francis C. Plunkett, one of Lowell's leading physicians, died suddenly at his home in Worthen street. He came from Ireland in 1864 when he was 20 years old. He had graduated from the Royal College of Surgeons in Dublin.

Given a Testimonial

John Olson who had his leg broken in a basketball game was tendered a testimonial by the Elks. He was given a program of the form of a dance and entertainment and was largely attended.

John Desmond a Hero

John Desmond, a graduate of the old Mass. A. S. school, escaped from the clutches of the Philippines where he had served nearly two months in prison. He received two medals from congress for deeds of bravery in action as a member of Young's Scouts. He passed through a great many exciting battles and his deeds of bravery caused even his commanding officers to wonder how he ever escaped with his life.

A DAY'S WORK

When the sun has gone down and the day has passed out, and your work-time has ceased for a spell, do you know what your day's work has all been about? Is your mind sick, or feeling real well? The eight hours for work and the eight hours for play and the eight hours for sleep sounds just right. "Will work out that way if you work in the day, cause your mind will be clear for the night."

The fellow who loafs and is shirkin' his job plays a game that will lose in the end. It isn't your boss but yourself that you rob when to business you fail to attend.

Whenever you feel that the hours drag along and your path seems an up-hilly grade, the answer, perhaps, is that something is wrong in the way that you're playin' your trade.

Take check on yourself every night when you quit; recall how your work-time was spent. You'll find that you're generally feelin' real. If you've batted one hundred per cent.

MAN ABOUT TOWN
With the 15,000 attendance at the Lowell-Lawrence football game Thanksgiving Day a permanent fixture in their memories, many of the local high school supporters are looking forward to next year's clash between the same two teams in this city. Alumni field, they reckon, will accommodate next year's 30,000, and it is a certainty that there will be a demand for as many tickets next year as this. Of course, the star which stands forth in the sport fans' minds is a gridiron, similar to Inverhill's, which would accommodate about 15,000, but, they know one year is too little time for any such project to be put through. Meanwhile they all add think-matters over, although many feel already that the only solution will be to play the game on a neutral field not too far from this city where a big crowd can be handled easily.

Motorcycle Officer Bernard J. Judge had a very busy time of it Thanksgiving day. In the morning he was assigned to cover the Anderson street road where a

Unusually Brilliant Eastern College Football Season Comes to End Today

SPOTLIGHT OF FOOTBALL WORLD ON ARMY-NAVY GAME

Soldiers Top-Heavy Favorites to Win Over Sailors at Baltimore—Holy Cross Meets Boston College at Boston—Notre Dame vs. Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—An unusually brilliant football season in the east will come to a close today. With the spotlight of the football world on the Army-Navy game, the eastern season will be played, four other eastern games will attract their share of interest.

The Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech game at Pittsburgh will draw down the curtain for western Pennsylvania. Although Notre Dame is an overwhelming favorite, Carnegie Tech is considered a well-drilled fighting team which may surprise.

The Army-Navy game, meeting for the twentieth time in keen rivalry, will play at the Polo grounds here. Boston college will play Holy Cross at Boston and Saint-Boniface will battle Haverford at Philadelphia.

Army vs. Navy.—(By the Associated Press.) The Army-Navy football game, the greatest of the season, will be played at the Polo grounds here. The Army-Navy game, the greatest of the season, will be played at the Polo grounds here. The Army-Navy game, the greatest of the season, will be played at the Polo grounds here.

The chief executive and his party, arriving by automobile from the capital shortly before noon, were greeted by a throng of distinguished visitors. The president will divide his sympathies during the game by occupying a box on the navy side of the field for one-half and crossing to the army for the other.

Favorable weather has been the only element needed to make the celebration complete. Although the forecasters of rain or snow in early forecasts, the sky seemed likely to be clear for the opening whistle at 2 o'clock.

Army's prospect of victory caught the fancy of a vast majority of gridiron followers, largely because of the more impressive record of the coaches and their more experienced players.

The deadlock in the series, which now stands at 12 victories for the army and two for the navy, has existed since 1922 when St. Peter's Cadets' second year.

The St. Peter's Cadets' second year will line-up against the Lowell Cadets on Sunday at 2 o'clock.

JOE DUNDEE TO MEET ALEC HART

BALTIMORE, Nov. 29.—Joe Dundee, Baltimore's lightweight contender, has been matched to box Alec Hart of Philadelphia in a ten-round bout at the Madison Square Garden on Monday evening, Dec. 8. Hart and Dundee are both candidates for Benny Leonard's crown.

WILLIE HOPPE WINS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 29.—Willie Hoppe, 182 lb. line billiard champion, neatly defeated Jack Schaeffer, former title holder, in a final block of their special 3200 points match here last night. Hoppe ran out with 302 points to spare, the final score standing: Hoppe 3200; Schaeffer 2888.

O.M.I. CADET FOOTBALL TEAM

There will be a special meeting of the O.M.I. cadet football team in the Sacred Heart school hall tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock sharp. The Cadets have accepted the challenge of the St. Peter's Cadets.

PONIES AND KENWOOD ROVERS TO CLASH ON FIRST ST. OVAL

With the passage into history of the high school and Butler-Cadet games, there remains but one more gigantic encounter on the local football calendar, and that is the clash scheduled to ensue between the Centralville Ponies and the Kenwood Rovers on the first street oval tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 2:30 o'clock sharp.

Lowell-Lawrence, Butler-Cadet, rivalry never had anything on this clash for sensationalism. The battle was arranged away back in September before the world series was concluded, but because of its important character, the managers decided to reserve it until the final season.

Ten Games Played Result in Six Victories, Three Defeats and One Scoreless Tie—Team Played Intelligent Football and Showed Fine Spirit

Reflection upon the season just closed shows the Lowell high school football team in 10 games, of which number six were victories, three were defeats and one was a scoreless tie. Three so-called big games, with Manchester, N. H., Manchester and Lawrence, were reverses, while the Haverhill game, another objective, was a victory.

TO RECEIVE "L" AWARD THIS YEAR

An even two dozen players on this year's Lowell high school football team are to receive the "L" award, which means also that these 24 men will be eligible to participate in the election of a captain for 1925. The letter men follow:

wards into a compact and effective front, taught them how to tackle, how to use their hands legally and how to carry out their assignments whether on the offense or on the defense.

Behind this line, Head Coach Lison perfected the workings of a good backfield and installed a spirit that was unquenchable. This coaching combination worked out most effectively and what is more, produced real results.

Frank Heron, as captain, proved himself a capable leader and his play in the Lawrence game was fine. He gave all he had in his last contest and was to be found under every play no matter where Lawrence chose to aim.

There is much in the season's results to praise and not so much to criticize. The team seemed to play better between the 30-yard line than between the 100-yard line and at times it seemed the team did not have scoring plays, plays so well timed that they would "go" at least three times out of five tries. But on the whole, the coaches should feel satisfied and the interest shown in the city at large is proof that the general public felt the team worthy of support. Next year an even better showing will be made.

From this big squad, Coaches Lison and Pierotti must make a good team. This year's eleven played an excellent football, knew how to fight and defend. The line played in the best of form, a shining light, but the line was too well balanced and too uniformly good to be a real individual selection.

Gridiron Gossip

The present football prospectus indicates that the curtain will be rung down on the first street oval tomorrow afternoon when the Ponies meet the Kenwood Rovers. The game will get under way at 2:30 o'clock sharp with all the players on edge and ready to go.

The Kenwood cup, it seems, is going to the O.M.I. Cadets by virtue of their victory over the Butlers at Alumnus field Thursday. Although the St. Peter's Cadets have challenged the winners of that debate, it seems inevitable that the winning team will meet this season. The answer will be the St. Peter's, we understand, objects to a clash between the two teams on the grounds that the St. Peter's are too young for the bigger Cadets.

LOCAL MILL BUSINESS IS PICKING UP

The healthier condition of the textiles in the American sales markets and the demands for new goods to meet supplies no longer coming in competitive quantities from foreign sources, are responsible for continued production in several local textile mills throughout the week ending this noon.

Boott mills took no advantage of general market conditions and continued production yesterday and this morning as usual, and will operate in December on the usual scale at present in force.

The Massachusetts mills have one department steadily employed with a small pay-roll, straight through the week, and this was in operation as usual yesterday and today.

Hamilton Manufacturing company maintained its regular schedule, also constituted some weeks ago, when the "old section" was opened after a long shut-down. Production continues until Saturday noon.

Tremont & Suffolk corporation had somewhat reduced output yesterday, but has no "weekly schedules."

Lowell mills maintain full-week production schedules, backed by a healthier business outlook in the production of stockings reported. While the markets are in a much better condition to accept new offerings to fill retailers' vacant stock rooms.

The New England Southern and the Lowell Silk mills are steadily operating on their attractive three thousand no lessening in the demand for both the wide sheetings and the spooled silks.

Shoe Industries Activities Fall production activities in local shoe manufacturing plants included many call orders for novelty and McKay footwear specialties, and business up to the first of October, was excellent. Since then, in some of the leading local industries there has been somewhat reduced output, owing to the general halting of the wholesale markets during the four weeks' interim before making annual selections of new footwear needed for the different trades next spring.

Few Lowell manufacturers have received many orders for the 1925 market as yet, but work in all plants continues with about the same complement of employees on payrolls during the "winter lull." The makers of the shoe and leather industry in Lowell hope for the best.

The Laganas company on Market street, has no rush orders to fill at present, but continues production weekly with plenty of stock on hand, merchants on the regular list, buying in conservative quantities to meet salesmen's orders. The well-established Lowell shoe manufacturing concern is prepared for the first sign of 1925 spring business, about the first of December, Mr. Laganas said. The company will have latest designs in the McKay "loves" and novelties for women and girls' wear.

C. V. Watson Co. finds no hectic market demands in the shoe industry, but steady local production continues and the prospects are good for quantity spring orders, which may not arrive much before January 1. It is believed that the shoe market finds itself in a "reasonable slow-down" condition at the present time. Some manufacturers prefer to believe that there are too many mid-western factories turning out men's and women's shoes on today and Tuesday, Hamilton company's shares sold for 41 on Wednesday and Thursday, an advance for the week of 11 points. The latter's remarkably good showing in production at the present time was responsible for the picking up of what stray shares were afloat in the speculative markets.

American Woolen company advanced two points to 61 and Lowell bleachers, Boot mills and Tremont & Suffolk stocks suffered perceptibly on every sale of a few odd lot shares. And this sudden strengthening in old reliable New England cotton mill corporate shares comes at a time when southern cotton mills are operating at approximately full capacity, with a good volume of orders unadvised.

ROAD TROUBLES CALL FOR HENRY G. MILLS

Automobilists have a real friend in Henry G. Mills, manager of the garage that is conducted under the Mills name, located at the corner of Queen and Branch streets. When you have any trouble on the road and are far away from the old home fires, telephone to Mills service station, and you will receive prompt assistance. The telephone call for day service is Lowell No. 5397. The night call is Lowell 1922-J.

Manager Mills invites all drivers of motor cars to partake of the free service he offers at his popular and always-busy garage. Drive right in for free crank case and transmission service. The best gas, oils and greases are sold here and repairs are quickly made on all makes of cars. The ignition service can't be excelled anywhere. Sighting is a specialty, too, and cars are sold on consignments.

PETER DOUMAS GIVES SERVICE THAT SHINES

A popular hat-cleaning and shoe-shine parlor is "The White Way" long flourishing at 273 Middlesex street under the able direction of bustling Peter Doumas, who prides himself in giving "better service" to customers all.

Prices at the "White Way" are always the lowest. Hats of all kinds, from the soft brims to the "dabbers" and the latest things in the felt and pithy caps of the sporting type, are cleaned, made to look like new and work guaranteed. Take the old hat to Peter's busy establishment at 273 Middlesex street and let him do the job as it should be done—right.

CHRISTMAS BAZAAR AT OLD LADIES' HOME

Final plans have been made for the annual Christmas bazaar to be held at the Old Ladies' Home in Fletcher street early next month, for the benefit of the home. Will Dedicate Tablets

It is to be an observance of appeal to the heart and the noblest sentiments of American citizenship, and will appeal particularly to a community that has furnished so many soldiers of war in the cause of American freedom.

The impressive dedication of the soldier memorial tablets will begin promptly at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The principal speaker of the day will be Frederick Palmer, famous war correspondent, who served in the first rank during the European war and was attached officially to the executive staff of the American Expeditionary Forces, in direct contact at all times with Gen. John J. Pershing. Mr. Palmer's memorial address will be notable in many ways, and highly appropriate for the dedication ceremonies.

The formal exercises will open with an invocation by Rev. Wallace C. Sampson, pastor of Calvary Baptist church of this city, who saw service during the World War as chaplain. After remarks by the mayor, there will be remarks by Capt. Joseph A. Molloy, for the American Legion; Alexander D. Mitchell, for the Spanish War Veterans, and Dudley L. Page, representing the Grand Army of the Republic.

A short address will be delivered by Alfred P. Sawyer of the Lowell Historical society and then will come the singing of "America," by all present. The ceremony of unveiling the tablets consists of the following: Arthur G. Pollard, Philip S. Nardet, Clarence M. Weed, Mrs. Edith Paulsen, Mrs. Joseph Neamith, Mrs. John P. Saunders, Mrs. Winnifred Brick, Mrs. Sarah R. Kittredge, Timothy Cully, Harry E. O'Sullivan, Ralph Dodge, Walter R. Joyce, Frank Dodge, Charles A. Stevens, James F. O'Donoghue, George B. Barnette and Marshall Hayden.

BEST SHOE REPAIRING AT 251 MIDDLESEX

Don't pay exorbitant prices when you want your shoes repaired, new taps and heels obtained to save your uppers leathers and get good service for the money you spent for your footwear. The Middlesex Shoe Repairing Company at No. 251 Middlesex street, is the best place in Lowell to give prompt service, quality repairing with quality leather products and the prices are always the lowest in the city.

Right now is the time to have those summer shoes repaired to withstand the winter weather conditions to come. Many people have good shoes that need taping and neglect to have the work done. The Middlesex Shoe Repairing Company will see that your shoes are also put on best quality rubber heels for $1.25. Women's shoes will receive the same remedial treatment to best quality materials and finest workmanship for a single dollar bill. Men's rubber heels are priced at 40 cents, which includes putting on the heels so they will stay until they slowly wear out in the course of time after giving the longest possible service because of the live rubber—of purest brand used in their construction. The Middlesex Repairing station uses only Armour's famous standard oak tan leather and all first quality rubber heels.

PLENTY OF TRADES IN BEST OF REAL ESTATE

It costs nothing to investigate the claims of Charles A. Howard, one of Lowell's best known real estate operators, whose office at No. 64 Central street is always busy and so handy to visit that it can't be overlooked when customers seek real estate bargains or have real estate offerings to place on the local or outside markets.

It may be that someone desires a summer cottage, or a bungalow location within the city, or a farmstead outside the boundaries of a chance to enter business in some good location where there are better opportunities to increase one's field of activities in the mercantile.

The Charles A. Howard real estate agency has a lot of trades in real estate and business chances to offer, and it costs nothing to investigate.

REAL ESTATE SALES

In the Christian Hill section of Centralville, conveyance has been effected of the modern residential property at 22-24 Fremont street. The house is of two apartments with six rooms and bath and is modern to the last detail. The transfer is effected on behalf of Messrs. Angelo Solazzo and Antonio Solazzo, the local landscape gardeners. The grantee is James J. Hemingway, who buys for a home.

Final papers have been sent to record in the transfer of a duplex property at 255-257 Rogers street, almost opposite its junction with Nesmith street. The buildings occupy a lot of 60x38 ft. The grantors are Messrs. A. D. Sargent and Charles J. Wier, executors of the estate of the late Mrs. Freeman B. Shedd. The grantees are Mr. Alfred B. Hovey and Elizabeth F. Hovey, already resident on the premises.

TIRE SPECIALISTS GUARANTEE WORK

For the past 15 years, Messrs. G. A. Hoagaboom and M. Darnell have been H. & D. tire specialists. The store at 40 Branch street, is one of the busiest in the city today. The long established reputation of the managers is one that cannot be equalled in similar lines of business in Lowell motordom today. In the motor car accessory field, it has always shined in the local firmament. Hoagaboom and Darnell repair correctly all sizes of tires up to 40x8 pneumatic truck shoes. Work is guaranteed, as well, and there are no "come backs." Prices are always right. For instance, this concern at No. 40 Branch street deals extensively in the famous Cooper tires, with special 30x3½ tires now selling for $9.00 apiece, and wonderful values they are, each and every one.

COMMERCIAL TREATY SIGNED

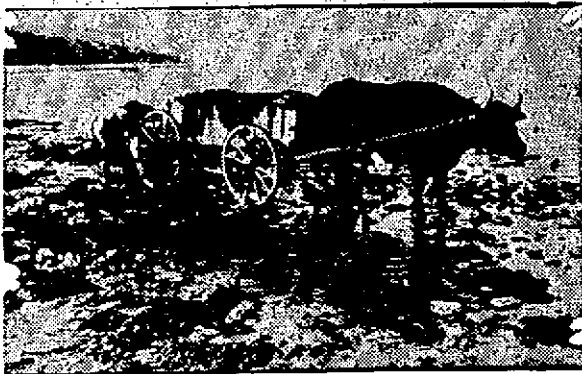

VIENNA, Nov. 28.—The commercial treaty between Czechoslovakia and Austria, based on the Austrian tariff recently passed by the national assembly, has been signed. Czechoslovakia concedes duty reductions on one-third of the principal articles exported by Austria.

The finance minister, Dr. Ahrer, is quoted by the press as declaring his intention of relieving Austrian industry, now burdened by 20 per cent. tax in every way possible.

CAMERAGRAMS

PETER PAN CAUSED PRETTY 17-YEAR-OLD BETTY BRONSON to lose her hair. When she was chosen by Sir James M. Barry to appear in the motion picture version of "Peter Pan," Betty had the beautiful locks shown at the left. But, alas, Peter is a boy and the gorgeous crest had to disappear. And now Betty's locks are a memory of the past—as the picture at the right shows.

HERE IS A FARMER who never needs to worry about dry weather. He has his farm under the ocean. Into his ox-drawn wagon he is pitching help, a seaweed, in Digby, Nova Scotia.

HERE ARE TWO DIPLOMATS engaged in something more dangerous than a play of words. Henry Breckenridge, former under-secretary of state, and Hassanien Bey, of the Egyptian embassy, are shown with crossed blades at the Racquet club in Washington.

OUT OF THE DUNGEON-LIKE BLACKNESS of this cave at Solang, Cavite, in the Philippine Islands, trickles a small waterfall that is said to have marvelous health-giving properties. Its source never has been discovered.

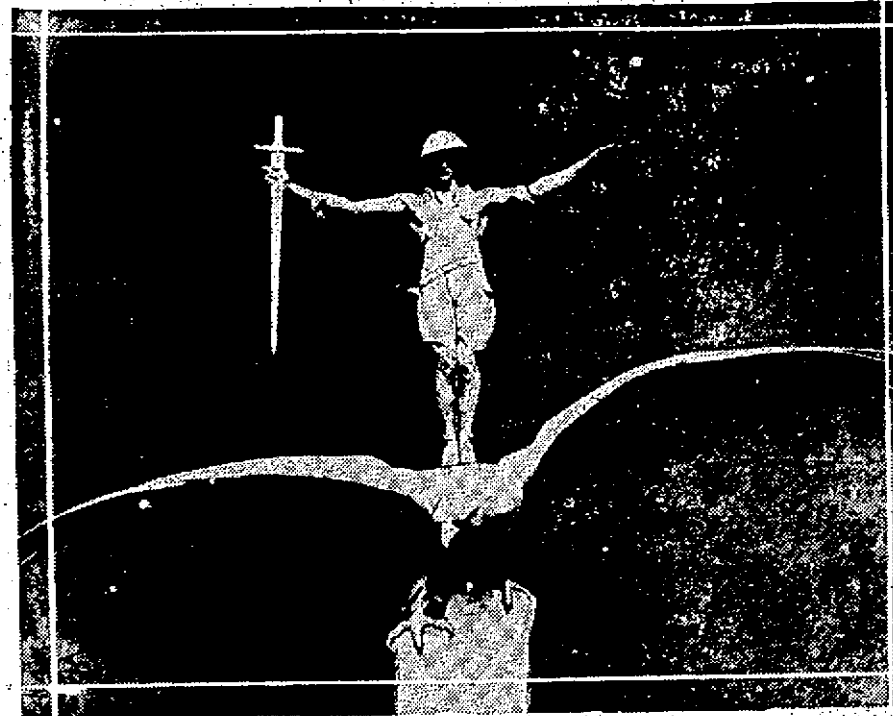

YOU HEAR MUCH OF OREGON'S tall pines—but Oregon's spruce trees could hardly be called mere saplings. Witness this spruce log, ten feet in diameter, on a car en route from the forest to a sawmill. If you are of a mathematical turn of mind, figure out how many houses can be built from the lumber it contains.

THE BABY RHINOCEROS at the Washington zoo was very lonesome. So the zoo authorities began unwinding red tape and secured from the bureau of animal industry of the Department of Agriculture a domestic goat, "Dorothy," and put her in the same cage.

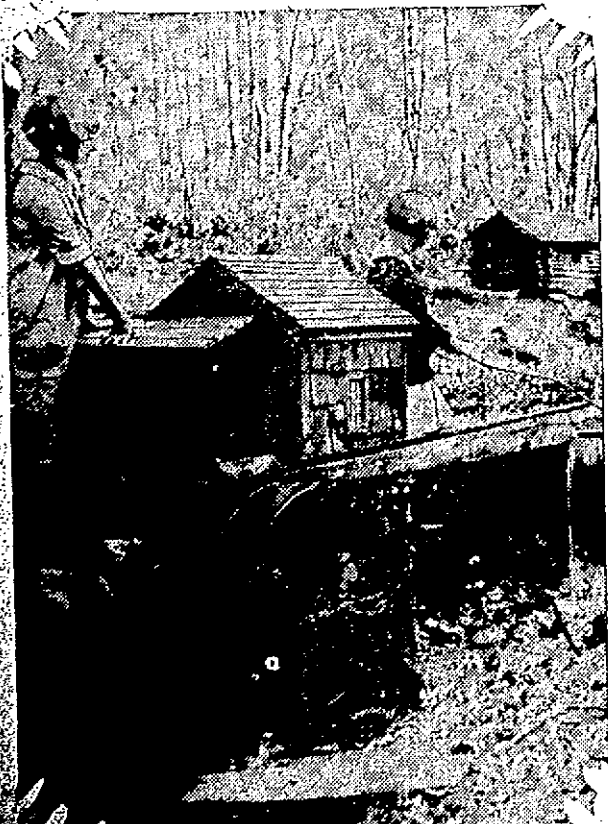

DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN you went on joy rides this time of the year in equipment like this? You didn't have to worry about changing your mixture or putting on chains in those days of Dobbin, and good times.

ON A ROCK JUTTING 60 FEET OUT OF THE WATER in the harbor of St. Nazaire, France, will be placed this memorial statue commemorating the first landing of American soldiers in France on June 26, 1917. The statue, designed by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, shows an American soldier astride a spread eagle, and armed with a crusader's sword.

RAINIER NATIONAL PARK is a picture-maker's paradise. Here is known a wind-swept pine in the brooding shadow of a snow-peaked mountain that overlooks Paradise Valley and Nisqually Glacier. Winds in this vicinity sometimes attain tremendous velocity.

MINIATURE MILL NESTLES in the woods near Marshfield, Massachusetts. Mrs. J. Winslow Mason built it 17 years ago on the site of a regular-size mill of ancient vintage. Thousands of people have seen it and marveled at the tiny plant.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 15.

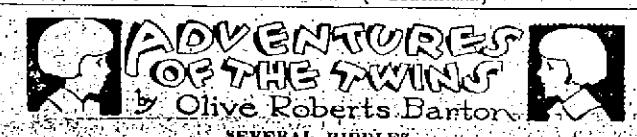

As the little adventurer found himself being lifted out of the cavern he discovered that Flop, his pet monkey, had jumped off his shoulder. "Where are you Flop?" he shouted. A squeak answered him and in an instant the monkey had climbed up the loadstool stem and joined Jack.

"I don't know where we are going," said the little adventurer, "but I'm going to hang on and find out." Then the loadstool stopped and Jack found that he was on the floor of another cavern. It looked very much like the roon he had just left and the hole they had come through was closed.

"Well, where are we now?" he said. And the little loadstool surprised him by replying, "I'm the little loadstool who will take you far and near, to places where you want to be. Your dog will soon be here." Then the loadstool said, "Just keep an eye on that entrance." (Continued.)

"WELL, TOM TINKER GUESSED IT ANYWAY," SAID THE RIDDLE LADY, "AND HE GETS THE PRIZE—A BOTTLE OF PERFUME."

"Here's a riddle for everybody to guess," said the Riddle Lady. "It's very easy—as plain as the nose on your face."

Nancy and Nick and all of Mrs. John's visitors stopped talking and listened with all their might.

"This was the riddle," said the Riddle Lady. "I beat you to school, I beat you getting home again. No matter where you go or what you do, you never catch up to me. I am right before you, yet you never see me. Who am I?"

"No," you said, "it's a shadow," said the Riddle Lady.

"No," said the Riddle Lady.

"The wind," guessed Johnny Sprig.

"No," said the Riddle Lady.

"Aha, I know!" cried Tom Tinker. "It's your nose."

"No," you said, "it's a shadow," said the Riddle Lady.

"My nose doesn't beat you to school and beat you home again. It's your own nose."

"You should say one's nose," corrected the Wise Man. "If you wish to know anything about grammar, come to me."

"Well, Tom Tinker guessed it anyway," said the Riddle Lady, "and he gets the prize—a bottle of perfume."

the mystery which has surrounded the discovery of the partially charred body of Mrs. Addie Sheatsley, in the furnace of the Christ Evangelical Lutheran church parsonage, Nov. 17, was unearthed during a six and a half hour examination of the three elder members of the Sheatsley family, who were present last night, according to Prosecutor John R. King.

The Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, husband of the victim, and his two sons, Alton, 20, and Clarence, 16, were questioned at length by Mr. King. Addie died at the parsonage about 1 o'clock on the day of the tragedy, was being buried last night.

Prosecutor King will have a conference with his aides this morning. Future activities, he said, will depend upon the report of scientific experts who have conducted experiments with carbon monoxide, if any, carbon monoxide is developed by the furnace.

An analysis of blood taken from the furnace of the victim by Chemist C. E.
Long showed no trace of carbon monoxide gas, causing Mr. King to conclude that Mrs. Sheatsley was dead when her body entered the furnace, a report he made to Mr. King said.

Analysis of brownish crimson stains on articles found in the parsonage which were first thought by authorities to be human blood, showed the stains, not Mr. King was informed last night.

County Coroner Joseph Murphy, who announced a few hours after the body was found that Mrs. Sheatsley was killed by carbon monoxide, will confer with members of the Sheatsley family today, he announced last night. He will make his report on the mystery next week, he said.

AUTO ACCIDENT VICTIMS IN LOCAL HOSPITALS

The condition of Miss Minnie Lightman of 84 Lane street, who was injured in the automobile crash on the Lawrence boulevard Thanksgiving evening, which resulted in the death of Dr. Sade Hopper Lightman and injury to 11 others, was reported at St. John's hospital at 1 o'clock this afternoon as still serious.

Of the other victims of the accident, only two remain in local hospitals. They are Dr. Percy Lightman, who is at the Corporation hospital, and Miss Irene Lawler, violinist, who suffering from a fractured elbow, is at St. John's hospital, who sustained multiple fractures of the jaw. Neither of the latter two is seriously injured.

Fred Dean of 14 Gage street, who was seriously injured in an automobile collision on the Princeton boulevard Thanksgiving afternoon, is reported at the Lowell Corporation hospital today as resting fairly comfortably. George Pelkie of 138 Crescent street and Julian Mendes of 18 Coolidge street, who were injured in the same accident, are reported at the same hospital as progressing favorably. Two others injured at the accident, Miss Blanche of 20
Dutton street and Manuel Silva of 5 Tilden street, were discharged from the Corporation hospital this morning.

A slight improvement in the condition of Miss Elizabeth C. Fulton of Robbins street, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident in Tewksbury Sunday, is reported today at St. John's hospital.

Improvement in the condition of Simone Durant, who was injured
Tuesday when run down by a truck, is reported at the Lowell Corporation hospital.

MIDDLESEX NORTH POMONA GRANGE

Middlesex North Pomona grange's newly-elected master, Mrs. Lillian Snow, of Lyngsboro, will call the members to order for the last rally of the current year, next week Friday morning in Odd Fellows hall, Centralville. Former Master Sarah X.
Mooney, popular in grange circles everywhere, will be present at the opening exercises, but no longer appears in the role of leader of the organization that dishes in nine communities in the Lowell district.

Mrs. Snow has taken up her important duties with spirit and determination that augurs well for the Pomona grange's 1925 activities. The local fraternal body is a over-seer of No.
16 during the past year; she was very successful in all her efforts to encourage and faithfully support all members in the granges affiliated with Middlesex North.

Next Friday's all-day meeting of the grange in Centralville—the last one of the current year—promises to be interesting from beginning to end.
Home economics will be the most important topic for discussion in the afternoon. The speaker has not yet been selected. Dinner will be served by Lowell grangers, who excel in providing grange banquets of a high order. The public is invited both to the dinner and the afternoon entertainment and lecture.

The morning business meeting calls for reports on current events. Miss Ruth West Crosby leading. There will also be an interesting display of modern electrical conveniences of the economical kind, so-called. A local corporation will exhibit new electrical household helps, also.

The 1925, 40-page programs covering both Pomona and subordinate grange activities in the jurisdiction of Middlesex North No. 16, may be distributed at the December meeting.

FORBES-THOMPSON CASE DRASTIC ACTION IN TONG WAR

Introduction of Testimony
Will Begin Monday in Federal Court

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Introduction of testimony against Charles R.
Forbes, former "Veterans" bureau head, and John W. Thompson, St.
Louis contractor, will begin Monday in their trial in federal court on charges of defrauding the government in contracts for veterans' hospitals in 1922.

In addition to its chief witness,
Ellis H. Mortimer, the government has indicated it will question Mrs.
Caroline Volaw, sister of the late President Harding, and possibly the former wife of Forbes. The defense plans to use the testimony of the former Mrs. Mortimer and possibly her mother, Mrs. Tullage of Philadelphia, in addition to witnesses whose names will depend on the extent of the prosecution witnesses.

Federal Authorities Take Steps to Deport Ponzi
Continued
which he is still considered a citizen.

The warrant against Ponzi, obtained after several days of investigation into his activities in the past 20 years, charges only that he is in the country in violation of the law, and Commissioner Johnson said that until Ponzi was given hearing detailed charges could not properly be made public. It is known, however, that the evidence includes a record of Ponzi's conviction for smuggling aliens into this country from Canada for which he was imprisoned for two years at Atlanta.
The record of his three years' sentence for forgery at Montreal as Charles Hi-nch in connection with his position as clerk in a private bank there and the evidence adduced in the federal courts where he was convicted of using the mails to defraud in his multi-million scheme of 1920.

The federal jury found him guilty and sentenced him to 3½ years, but a jury in the state courts two weeks ago disagreed on charges of larceny of his own money. He was released on his own recognizance after his release as a federal prisoner.

It is contended by the immigration authorities that when Ponzi re-entered this country several years ago he failed to make known the record of his conviction in Canada and in this country, which would have been sufficient to refuse him entry at that time, and which are considered sufficient to effect his deportation now.

Ponzi was arrested early this morning in the Brighton apartment house in which he was residing, the expensive mansion that he bought in the city of his international postal coupon scheme having been sold for his creditors. He made no resistance, it was said.

Commissioner Johnson said an immigration inspector would be assigned to conduct a hearing today or Monday if Ponzi is able to obtain counsel; that the facts developed would be sent to Washington for the customary survey by a board of review, and the report would go to the secretary of labor for action. Ponzi may ask and receive a stay of proceedings here, and may have recourse also to a writ of habeas corpus to bring the matter before the courts, rather than the immigration authorities.

It is understood that Ponzi filed his intention of becoming a United States citizen in March 1918. He said he was thirty-six years old, was born in Italy, came to this country in 1903, and was naturalized in 1918. He said he was in the United States for 12 years.
He said he was a native of Italy, and was in the United States for 12 years.

NEW YORK POLICE ACT TO PRE- VENT FURTHER BLOODSHED IN CHINATOWN

Police Head Orders Patrolmen Stationed in All Laundries

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Police were prepared today to take drastic measures to prevent further bloodshed in the renewed hostilities between members of the Chinese tong.

Several hours before the end of an armistice between the Hin Sing and the On Leong Thursday, Chong Food, an On Leong member, was shot to death in a Bronx laundry. Within 24 hours two other men were mortally wounded by gunfire, and one was stabbed to death at his place in a business tenement.

Cok On was the man stabbed to death and the two who were shot through the abdomen in their Brooklyn laundries were Gong Sing and Tom Hong. Neither is expected to recover. Hong was a Hin Sing, and Sing was the son of an On Leong who told police that the bullets that struck his son were intended for him. Sing is a cousin of Chong Food.

Hong and Sing were shot shortly after meeting between the Chinese opium-general and acting Police Commissioner John A. Leach last night, at which the police official promised all necessary action to halt the bloodshed and ordered patrolmen stationed in all laundries and other places where outbreaks might be expected.

"Stick-up" Men and Highway Robbers Operate Here
Continued
the police that they had gathered in a Hanover street room early in the evening and decided to engage in a card game later in the deserted Suffolk street house. Greenhalgh was a member of the party and joined in the game. Some time later he left the scene under pretense of going to his home.

About half an hour after that, a knock came at the door and two men were admitted. The doorman said one of them was Greenhalgh. The doorman promptly went back to the game, preceding the two entrants. A few minutes later, a masked man entered and levelling a revolver at the men in the house, ordered them to face the wall and throw up their hands. He then commanded them to lay their money on the table and the only four men who had cash left placed $5, $10, $12 and $22 respectively on the table pointed out by the man in the mask. When it was collected together the gunman pocketed it and declared that he was not a robber, but a stick-up man, and that he was not a member of the police.

The victim reported the incident to the police and at 2 o'clock
Cooney and Lynch apprehended
Greenhalgh and a companion at Broadway and Willis street. At the police station, Greenhalgh denied that he was the robber, but admitted that he was the stick-up man, and that he was in civilian clothes when arrested.

Second Holding
The arrest of Greenhalgh was for the time being only a temporary detention, as he was committed to the city jail last night.

The first occurred about 11 p.m.
when William Pitts of 133 street, Quincy, who reported to police that he was a stick-up man, was arrested. He was a member of the U.S.S. Navy, and was in civilian clothes when arrested.

PRES. COOLIDGE SEES THE ARMY WIN OVER THE NAVY TEAM

78,000 People Gather at Baltimore to Witness Annual Gridiron Clash—Hundreds From Distant Places Make Up Notable Crowd

BALTIMORE, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Love of football reached out today and gathered at the side lines here for the Army and Navy game, perhaps the most notable crowd ever assembled for the annual gridiron encounter between the two service schools.

The spirit of the contest reached far and wide in gathering, its thousands of cheering fans.

From all along the Atlantic seaboard and from far inland states, special trains and hundreds of automobiles brought to the city thousands of fans eager to witness the game. The crowd that turned out from the city itself, half an hour before game time there was no doubt that the municipal stadium would be filled to its capacity of 78,000.

Among the arrivals was President Coolidge, who temporarily left the government's business to join with the thousands that the national capital sent here to watch the encounter. He was accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stearns.

As game time drew near, the overcast sky and somewhat chilling breeze from Chesapeake bay proved no danger to the crowd and one cheer followed another.

The Army team took the field at 1:15. As they limbered up with a snappy signal drill, the Cadets burst forth with prolonged cheers.

A few minutes later the midshipmen came in for their turn at cheering as the Navy eleven trotted from the clubhouse.

Army won the toss and Garbisch kicked off to Wellings, who was down on Navy's 15-yard line. Navy opened a forward passing attack on the first play, but Gillmore intercepted and it was Army's ball on Navy's 15-yard line.

Navy's heavy line smeared two Army rushes and blocked a forward pass. On the fourth down Garbisch dropped back for a try at field goal from Navy's 30-yard line. His attempt was blocked by the Navy line but he recovered on the Navy's 35-yard line.

Garbisch again, Garbisch took another shot at the goal posts but kicked short, the ball rolling over the goal line and Navy put the ball in play on her own 20-yard line.

After an exchange of punts, Army opened an offensive that nullified one Navy drive. The ball was carried to Navy's 27-yard line. Here the sailors stiffened and Captain Garbisch attempted a field goal from the 30-yard mark that went wide of the posts.

After putting the ball in play on their own 20-yard line, the midshipmen completed a 10-yard pass. Phipps to Shapley. Army held but Hamilton's kick sailed far down the field to the Army's 6-yard line where the receiver was downed in his tracks. Wood punned from behind his own goal but the ball went outside on Army's 20-yard line and Navy was within scoring distance.

Launching a rushing attack, Navy made first down on Army's 10-yard line, but the Cadet defense tightened and Army took the ball on downs when two forward passes were blocked. The Navy had tossed away a chance for a field goal in favor of using its best weapons.

Score and first period: Army, 0; Navy, 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Wood's line kicking pulled the Army out of a hole at the start of the second period. From behind his own goal line he booted nearly to midfield and then, after Navy was halted at the line, forced the sailors back into their own territory with another well placed punt.

Two punts by the Navy were blocked at midfield, but after the sailors recovered the first one, Captain Garbisch pounced on the second and put the ball in the Army's possession on Navy's 41-yard line. The first blocked punt was recovered for the sailors by Stolz.

With Gillmore bearing the brunt of the attack, Army made first down on Navy's 30-yard line. Stopped twice at the line, Gillmore broke through center for a seven-yard gain that put Garbisch on Navy's 23-yard line. Captain ball on Navy's 23-yard line. Captain Garbisch took the ball and booted as briefly as he could through the uprights from the 23-yard line.

The score: Army, 3; Navy, 0.

Navy kicked off and after Army returned the punt, the sailors opened up another overhead attack. One pass was completed for a 5-yard gain, but the offensive was quickly broken up when Garbisch intercepted another loss at midfield. Harry Wood, who had been expected to lead the Army's attack, had seen little action and was replaced by Hewitt, who quickly tore through several smashing gains. Navy twice threw the Cadets for a loss, however, and Garbisch missed another field goal attempt, this time from the 42-yard

"STICK-UP" MEN AND HIGHWAY ROBBERIES OPERATE HERE

Member of United States Navy is Charged With Holding Up and Robbing Four Men in Suffolk Street House—Auto Bandits Rob Man in Market Street

Following a city-wide search extending over a period of several early-morning hours, Carrol J. Green-nalge, 21 years old, a member of the United States navy, home on furlough at 45 Claire street, was placed under arrest by Police Officers Alfred J. Cronin and Daniel M. Lynch, and locked up on suspicion of having held up and robbed four men at a card game in a vacant house in Suffolk street shortly after midnight last night.

This morning, after a comprehensive investigation which resulted in the identification of the young sailor by one of his victims, Officer Cronin preferred a specific charge of robbery on four counts against the suspect.

He was arraigned on these counts in district court this morning and pleaded not guilty. He was continued in $1000 bonds until Dec. 8.

Officers Cronin, Lynch and Edward Liston were on duty in the station at 12:30 o'clock today when two men put in an appearance and complained that they, with eight others, had been held up and robbed during a game in the Suffolk street inn.

They stated that the robbers as being masked with a handkerchief and armed with a revolver, and after he had collected $54 from four members of the party, they said, he left the premises with the stolen money.

The witnesses of the robbery told the police that the robbers had threatened to kill the first individual who attempted to spread an alarm. On his way out, it was alleged, he discharged a shot from his revolver, to emphasize the sincerity of his threat.

52,000 PEOPLE BRAVE RAIN TO WITNESS B. C.-H. C. GAME

Rival Elevens Engage in Annual Gridiron Battle at Braves Field, Boston—Holy Cross Scores an Impressive Victory

BRAVES FIELD, Boston, Nov. 29.—Before 52,000 people, coming from all parts of New England, the rival Boston College and Holy Cross elevens engaged in their annual gridiron battle in mild rainstorm this afternoon.

Both teams entered the game confident of victory, but the weather conditions caused a change in the plans of the rival coaches. Snow in the morning gave way to rain shortly after the noon hour and at game time the field was soft and slippery.

Each eleven had its cheering section and as the players appeared on the field they were enthusiastically greeted. The lineup follows:

BOSTON COLLEGE HOLY CROSS
O'Neil, lt. J. Taylor
O'Brien, lt. J. O'Brien
McMahon, lt. J. E. Eddy

Darling, lb. J. E. Eddy

Holy Cross scored a touchdown after three minutes of play when Wallis skirted Boston College's right flank for a thirty-two yard run to the goal line. Crowley kicked the point after the score, Holy Cross 7, Boston College 0.

Holy Cross was breaking through Boston's left side for long gains. McMahon made a 42-yard run soon after the Holy Cross touchdown but the Purple failed to kick. A moment later Boston was unable to gain and Darling fumbled twice. Mahoney recovering for Holy Cross the first time.

Crowley's fumble on Boston's 20-yard line stopped a Purple drive. Darling recovered the ball. Crowley rushed 15 yards to midfield. Boston's left side was being opened wide. Doyle broke through and tumbled Wallis for a 7-yard loss and Holy Cross had to kick.

Wallis' Darling's punt was partly blocked. Holy Cross got the ball on Boston's 28-yard line. A forward pass, McMahon to Mahoney, sent the ball to the 32-yard line. Two rushes advanced it to Boston's 45-yard line where the period ended.

Score and first period Holy Cross 7; College 0.

SECOND PERIOD

Holy Cross was held for downs on Boston's three-yard line.

Darling's kick from behind his goal to Boston's 45-yard line where McMahon fumbled but was recovered for Holy Cross. The Purple then began to gain again through Boston's left flank. McMahon's attempt at field goal from the 25-yard line failed.

Crowley intercepted a forward pass from Darling on Holy Cross' 40-yard line and the Purple kicked on the next play. Darling fumbled and Captain Mahoney recovered on the 20-yard line and ran for Holy Cross' second touchdown. Crowley again kicked the point.

Score: Holy Cross 14; Boston 0.

Crowley's booming punt from the Holy Cross two-yard line went outside at Boston's 30-yard line. A few minutes later Darling had to kick from behind his goal again. McKenny intercepted a Holy Cross forward pass on Boston College's 24-yard line and then was succeeded by McMahon at quarterback when he failed to run with the ball.

Holy Cross scored its third touchdown when McMahon intercepted a forward pass from Darling and ran in for the score. Crowley kicked his third point after touchdown.

Score and second period: Holy Cross 21; Boston college, 0.

THIRD PERIOD

The rain had stopped when the third period began. Boston failed in passing and rushing attempts and had to kick. Kittredge rushed 35 yards from scrimmage for Holy Cross' fourth touchdown. Crowley failed to make the point.

Holy Cross, 27; Boston College, 0.

Boston got the ball on its 39-yard line after a punt and started an air attack but Crowley intercepted a forward pass for Holy Cross again and ran 15 yards to Boston's 40-yard line. A few plays later, intercepted a Holy Cross forward on Boston's 30-yard line.

A fumble by Cronin was recovered by Holy Cross on Boston's 35-yard line. Wallis slid off left tackle for a 26-yard rush. Two rushes failed to gain. Kittredge was thrown for a 20-yard loss and Holy Cross had to kick.

Punting exchanges in which Crowley had the better of Darling because his line stood up better, occupied the latter part of the period. The ball was in Holy Cross' possession on Boston's 30-yard line at the end of the period.

FOURTH PERIOD

From Boston's 20-yard line, a forward pass to W. Cronin and rusher by J. Cronin gained 15 yards, but Boston was offside and a penalty stopped the advance. After an exchange of kicks, Boston tried rushing and passing again.

With rain pouring down, Holy Cross stopped them and Boston kicked again. Crowley's kick was blocked, but he recovered. Holy Cross held the ball much of the time, making normal gains. Boston got the ball on its 37-yard line a few minutes later.

In the darkness and driving rain Wallis of Holy Cross intercepted a Boston pass on Holy Cross' 45-yard line and raced through the Boston team for another touchdown.

There was no attempt at extra point because Holy Cross made some mistakes and the score was Holy Cross 33; Boston College 0.

Final score: Holy Cross 33, B. C. 0.

Sotirious Afierakis is Fined $300 and Sentenced to Three Months in House of Correction—Capt. Palmer Calls Defendant's Place Notorious Rum Centre

The biggest liquor fine yet imposed in the local district court was meted out to Sotirious Afierakis by Judge Bright this morning, defendant being fined $300 and sentenced to three months in the house of correction when he was found guilty of illegally selling liquor. The fine and sentence were appealed and Afierakis was ordered to recognize in $500 for his appearance in superior court next month.

FEDERAL AUTHORITIES TAKE STEPS TO DEPORT PONZI

"Coupon King" Arrested at Brighton—Immigration Officials Plan to Begin Deportation Proceedings Immediately—To Be Sent Back to Canada or Italy

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—Charles Ponzi, promoter of the get-rich-quick scheme of four years ago that attracted investments of many millions, was arrested today by immigration authorities on a warrant charging that he was in this country illegally. Deportation proceedings will begin immediately, it was said by Immigration Commissioner John P. Johnson.

Whether deportation will be to Canada or Italy, in the event that the charges are sustained, can be decided only by Secretary of Labor Davis. Ponzi came to this country from Canada after being convicted there of banking irregularities at Montreal, but if Canada objects to having him deported to the dominion, officials of this country may order him sent to Italy, of Commissioner Johnson.

SANTA CLAUS IN CITY

Atherlon's Invites Jolly Old Soul to Talk With Lowell's Youngsters

Fourth Floor of Chalifoux Building Headquarters for Santa While, Here

Driving his team of reindeer at a fast clip, Santa Claus arrived in Lowell this morning and went straight to his headquarters, Atherlon's Toyland on the fourth floor of the Chalifoux building. There he found a cozy, warm log cabin awaiting him and he made himself comfortable, prepared to wait there until Christmas Eve when he will make the rounds to the chimneys of the homes of all the good little boys and good little girls in the world. Jumping from his sleigh on the roof of the Chalifoux building, Santa shouted "Ho!" to his team of prancing reindeer and the well-trained team scampered back to the white-covered land of mystery from whence they came. Santa, with big packs of toys, sleds, and all sorts of presents, shook hands with Manager Robert H. Stevens of the Atherlon store, and accepted gladly the hearty invitation to make himself at home.

A fine log cabin has been built for Santa on the fourth floor of the big building and he has made himself comfortable there. He has no time in scattering a great amount of toys of all sorts, games, scooters, autos and the like, all about the place and then sat back to await for the kiddies of Lowell to learn of his arrival and come and visit him. He didn't wait long for the news spread like wildfire and youngsters were all about him by the scores before noon and dinner time.

Toyland was fitted up carefully to prepare for Santa's visit, he having sent a radio to Manager Stevens almost a week ago saying he'd be in Lowell with the first flake of snow. Toyland is decorated in real Yuletide style and Santa was tickled to death with the reception given him. Being especially fond of little boys and girls, he spent most of his time today talking with them and finding out just what they want most for Christmas. Many young folks came in with their fathers and mothers or older sisters or brothers and Santa had a kind word and an attentive ear for all of them. His hearty laugh proved infectious and all who visited him left the wide spaces of Toyland in a most happy mood.

Dolls, doll carriages, sleds, autos, trains, and most everything one can think of as suitable for Christmas gifts Santa brought with him in abundance. Santa has stocked his cabin with extra stuff as well. He sits in the doorway always with a few confidential young boys or girls whispering their secret hopes in his ear. Great old merry soul is he and he seems to be even better natured this year than ever before.

Electric trains, scooters, velocipedes, Milton Bradley games, the latest in puzzles, mechanical toys, rocking horses, dolls' beds and everything under the sun are stocked in the Atherlon Toyland and a visit is sure to provide a real thrill to young and old alike.

LOWELL-LAWRENCE GAME AT STRAND

If you want to enjoy the thrills of the Lowell-Lawrence high school football game, played at Shawheen last Thursday, all over again, then attend The Strand Sunday, Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday next. Directing Manager Samuel Torgan secured exclusive rights to the picture taken at the game, which will show all the important plays, including the one Lowell touchdown as well as shots of the Lowell and Lawrence cheering sections, the officials, prominent personages of this city and Lawrence. It's the first motion picture of a Lowell-Lawrence football clash, and will undoubtedly be interesting not alone to the student body and teachers, but to the large number of football fans in and outside of Lowell. The film will be presented to the high school by Manager Torgan some time in the future.

NO JAPANESE AMBASSADOR NAMED

TOKIO, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Vice-Minister Tanaka Matsudaira today denied he had been selected Japanese ambassador to the United States. Reports were widely circulated in semi-official circles today that he had been picked. It was learned in foreign office circles that no selection has been made.

Eat and Get Thin

If you are overfat and averse to physical exertion, if you are fond of eating and still want to reduce your excess flesh, go to your druggist and get a box of Mariamola Prescription Tablets. These tablets, compounded in accordance with the famous Mariamola Prescription, contain the exact ingredients necessary to produce a normal, healthy reduction of excess weight. Take one tablet after each meal and at bedtime and you will begin to lose your fat steadily and easily. Continue the treatment until your weight is what you desire—until your figure is slender and attractive again. You don't need to try starvation diets or wear-out exercises. Go on eating what you like. Leave exercising to the athletes. Just take your little tablet faithfully, and without a doubt your flabby flesh will quickly disappear. Your figure will become slender and shapely just as you have always wanted it to be. Thousands of men and women each year regain healthy, slender figures this way. Why don't you? Mariamola Prescription Tablets are so pleasant and easy to take that any one who is suffering the embarrassment and discomfort of overweight owes it to himself to try them. Will drug stores the world over sell Mariamola Prescription Tablets for one dollar a box. Or send the money direct to the Mariamola Company, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich., and a box will be sent to you postpaid.—Adv.

Please Give Us A Little Time When Ordering Coke

Look for Yellow Wagons and Trucks Delivering Lowell Coke.

During the cold weather which is now upon us our coke delivery system is bound to be taxed to its utmost.

Almost every one waits until the last moment before calling for his winter's fuel. We have 13 wagons and 5 trucks that are busy from morning till night delivering Lowell Coke to all parts of the city.

We pride ourselves on being able to give service, but on busy days it is many times impossible to make delivery within a few hours after the order has been received.

When the weather is cold and stormy, when the snow and slush are on the ground, we find it necessary to treat our horses kindly, sometimes allowing them to work only part of the day. This also holds true of our men, who are many times forced to work long hours.

In order to make as great delivery as possible we hire additional trucks to take care of the many orders received daily.

We have thousands of tons of Lowell Coke to sell and are in a position to supply the needs of all those in Lowell who have learned that Lowell Coke is the best solid fuel, with more heat value, less dirt and very little ash.

But, in ordering, we ask you to please remember that there are other orders ahead of yours and that we are straining every effort to give the best service possible.

SHAME! I SAY SHAME!

The last place on earth where politics should be played is in the Charity Department. The lame, the halt and the blind who, through unfortunate circumstances are forced to accept the hospitality of the City, should not be used as political footballs.

In April of this present year, the State Department of Welfare reported on the Chelmsford Street Hospital, then under the direction of Supt. Gormley (and this report is a matter of public record), and their report stated "The Chelmsford Street Hospital is up to the standard of efficiency."

AFTER THE REMOVAL OF SUPT. GORMLEY, HOWEVER, THE NEW SUPERINTENDENT INCREASED THE NUMBER OF EMPLOYEES FROM 36 TO 79. WHY, I ASK, WAS THIS DONE IN VIEW OF THE REPORT OF THE STATE DEPARTMENT OF WELFARE?

The advertising bureau of my opponent in their ad. on Thursday, concerning the Chelmsford Street Hospital, said:—

"THE TRUTH SHOULD BE TOLD—EVEN IN POLITICS."

At last my opponent and I fully agree on one subject, and

THE TRUTH SHALL BE TOLD—READ IT—EVERY WORD

Chelmsford Street Hospital—Salary and Wages	$1,529.34
Expense and Supply	9,030.15
Mothers with Dependent Children—Salary and Wages	5,448.75
Expense and Supply	3,288.22
Outdoor Relief—Salary and Wages	3,597.89
Expense and Supply	10,507.71

This shows a total balance (and I am quoting from the letter of the Auditor) with which to pay all bills, expenses, salaries and wages in these various departments for the balance of the year of $33,402.06.

Based upon the expenses of this department up to Nov. 1, 1924, which I have taken from the monthly printed reports of the City Auditor, the estimated cost of these departments to finish out the year will be as follows:—

Chelmsford Street Hospital	$18,939.99
Mothers with Dependent Children	22,592.37
Outdoor Relief	27,513.88

TOTAL NEEDED TO FINISH YEAR	$69,046.24
Balance on hand, according to Auditor	33,402.06

Amount needed to finish the year $35,644.18

HERE IS A SHORTAGE OF $35,644.18 IN THIS DEPARTMENT. WILL THIS MONEY COME FROM THE SAME SOURCE AS DID THE TRANSFER IN AUGUST OF $44,425.25? (See Auditor's printed report for August.) WILL THIS MONEY COME FROM THE SAME SOURCE AS DID THE TRANSFER IN OCTOBER OF $35,013.00, WHICH WAS TAKEN FROM OVERLAY SURPLUS AND WHICH MUST BE RETURNED TO TAKE CARE OF ABATEMENTS? (See Auditor's printed report for October.)

HERE IS THE RECORD OF THE CHARITY DEPARTMENT FOR 1924

$44,425.25 transferred to Charity Department in August.
35,013.00 transferred to Charity Department in October.
35,644.18 needed to finish the present year (estimated).

Total $115,082.43

I REPEAT, THE CHARITY DEPARTMENT WENT BROKE IN AUGUST AND $44,425.25 WAS TRANSFERRED TO KEEP IT RUNNING.

THE CHARITY DEPARTMENT WENT BROKE IN OCTOBER AND $35,013.00 WAS TAKEN FROM OVERLAY SURPLUS FUND TO KEEP IT RUNNING.

THE CHARITY DEPARTMENT IS AGAIN BROKE, AND IT WILL TAKE $35,644.18 WITH WHICH TO PAY ITS BILLS UP TO THE CLOSE OF THE YEAR.

Mrs. Bradford Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Phoebus, Virginia.—"Having this opportunity I just cannot refrain from saying a word of praise for the Lydia E. Pinkham medicines. I have used them as occasion required for twenty years, and my three sisters have also used them, and always with the most satisfying results. During the Change of Life I had the usual distressing symptoms,—hot flashes, insomnia, etc.,—and I am pleased to testify to the wonderful results obtained from the Vegetable Compound. I heartily recommend it to any woman and I will be pleased to answer any inquiries that might be sent to me through the publication of my testimonial."—Mrs. H. L. BRADFORD, 109 Armistead St., Phoebus, Va.

Consider carefully Mrs. Bradford's letter. Her experience ought to help you. She mentions the trials of middle age, and the wonderful results she obtained from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If you are suffering from nervous troubles, irritability, or if other annoying symptoms appear and you are blue at times, you should give the Vegetable Compound a fair trial. DEATHS

CONNORS—Mrs. Annie (Howe) Connors, widow of Capt. Charles Connors, and a well known resident of the "Immaculate" Conception, parish, died yesterday afternoon at the home of her son, William H. Connors, 294 Concord street, after a brief illness. She was a resident of the city for over 75 years and leaves a host of friends. She is survived by sons, William H. Connors, and three grand-children, Charles P. Connors, Mary D. Connors and William H. Connors.

HOPKINS—The friends of Charles Hope, a former resident of this city, will regret to learn of his death on Nov. 27, in East Ely, Nevada. Mr. Hope was instantly killed in an automobile accident in East Ely. He leaves one sister, Mrs. G. Armin Padgett of this city.

LIGHTMAN—The body of Dr. Sophie Lightman, M.D., wife of Dr. Henry B. Lightman, the victim of the automobile accident on the Lawrence boulevard Thursday night, was removed to her home, 530 Pine street, and was placed in the hands of the undertaker, Amos Archambault & Sons.

RICHARDS—Alice May Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Richards, died last evening at the home of her parents, 167 Liberty street, aged 1 month and 3 days. Besides her parents, she leaves three brothers, Earl, Samuel Jr. and Benjamin Richards, and a sister, Isabel Richards.

FUNERALS

KEARNEY—The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary Ann (Walsh) Kearney, a nonagenarian and widow of Bernard Kearney, took place yesterday afternoon at her home, High street, North Billerica, where she resided for the past 55 years, and was largely attended by her relatives and friends, including a number from out-of-town, among the latter being Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kearney and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Kearney and family of Roslindale. Mr. John Connell of Dorchester, Charles A. Connell of Brookline, and Mrs. John Connell of Brookline. The cortege proceeded to the funeral home of which deceased was one of the founders, and at 9:30 o'clock a funeral high mass was sung by the pastor, Rev. Charles J. Sullivan, who officiated at the graveside. The flowers were contributed by Mrs. Esther Hannon and Mrs. John Lyons. Miss Hoar presided at the organ. There was a profusion of floral tributes and of spiritual bouquets. The bearers were William Gannon, William Taylor, Francis Chapman, John Connell, and John Sullivan. The burial was in the family lot in the North Billerica cemetery, where the funeral service was read by Rev. Mr. Sullivan.

Mayorality Candidates to Wind Up Electioneering Tonight and Monday

Open Forum at Auditorium Monday Evening—Polls Open at 6 A. M. Tuesday

After 10 days of strenuous electioneering, most of which has been done by the two candidates for mayor, with counsel and school committee aspirants reaping some advantage from the interest stirred up, the municipal campaign will wind up tonight and Monday night, with indoor and outdoor rallies and a public forum at the Memorial Auditorium on election eve.

The present mayor has made his term in office his platform, while his opponent, Thomas H. Braden, has

BRILLIANT CEREMONY

St. Michael's Church Scene of Cawley-McKenna Wedding This Forenoon

One of the most elaborate weddings of the season of interest in local social circles was solemnized at a nuptial mass celebrated at St. Michael's church at 8:30 o'clock this morning when Mr. Edward Cawley and Miss Louise McKenna were united in marriage by Rev. John J. Shaw.

The bride was most charming in a gown of white satin with overdraped Belgian princess lace and veil caught rick's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers James P. O'Connell & Sons.

HARRINGTON—The funeral of Patrick H. Harrington, for over 50 years a resident of Lowell and one of the early settlers of the Pawtucketville section, took place this morning at 9:30 o'clock from his home, 12 Adams ave., and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The cortege proceeded to St. Rita's church, where at 10 o'clock a solemn high funeral mass was sung by Rev. Cornelius J. Cotter, assisted by Rev. J. A. Supple, D.D., as deacon and Rev. John F. Powers as sub-deacon. The choir, under the direction of Miss Katherine Whelan, rendered the Gregorian chant, and at the offertory the "Pie Jesu" was sung by Miss Mary McPartland. After the Elevation "O Maritum Passionis" was rendered by Mrs. Thomas Vaughan, Miss Whelan presiding at the organ. There was a profusion of beautiful floral tributes and of spiritual bouquets. The bearers were John J. Sullivan, Thomas Boyle, John A. Sullivan, John O'Sullivan, Christopher Mooney, and Patrick Holland. At the grave Rev. John J. Powers read the committal prayers and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery under the direction of Undertakers James P. O'Connell & Sons.

AVOITE—The funeral of Pierre Avoite took place this morning at 9 o'clock from his home, 83 Salem street, and was largely attended. A solemn high funeral mass was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. J. B. Emery, O.M.I., as deacon and by Rev. Felix Fouchon as sub-deacon. The choir, under the direction of Rodolph Lepin, rendered Pietro A. Yon's mass. The splendor was sustained by Mrs. Edith L. F. Fouchon, Mrs. Jacques, Arthur J. Leveille and Elzear Cote. The bearers were Edward, Eugene, William and Georges. The flowers were contributed by Joseph J. Leveille, the burial took place in the family lot in St. Joseph's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Armand Barron, O.M.I. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Amos Archambault & Sons.

SARRENT—Funeral services for Mrs. H. Ellen Sarrent were held at her home in North Chelmsford yesterday afternoon. Rev. E. A. Jenkins, pastor of the First Congregational church of Lowell, officiating. Miss Etta B. Thompson sang appropriate selections. The flowers were numerous. The bearers were Edward B. Carnoy, Wallace P. Butterfield, Royal Shawcross and George N. Swallow. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Stock prices moved vigorously ahead today as trading continued in undiminished volume. Weekly mercantile reviews, attesting to the current improvement in all lines of business, provided a sound basis for the continuation of bullish enthusiasm. Buying orders were spread over a wide list of speculative issues in the steel, motor and public utility groups, while Southwestern railroads responded to favorable dividend prospects. Net gains in active stocks ranged from 1 to 5 points with about two score issues achieving new peak prices for the year. Stock Island, St. Paul preferred and American Woolen forced to absorb heavy selling at times and United States Steel also met large offerings. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 1,100,000 shares.

MASS NOTICE—There will be a month's mind high mass of requiem at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Michael's church for the repose of the soul of Ellen V. McCann.

GARD OF THANKS—We, the undersigned, desire to express our sincere thanks to our many relatives, friends and neighbors for their acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy and beautiful floral offerings. We deeply appreciate the kindly efforts to lighten our burden of sorrow and we shall ever hold them one and all in loving remembrance.

MRS. BRIDGET O'BRIEN AND FAMILY.

IRA N. MORRIS RUMANIAN CONSUL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The state department was advised today by the Rumanian legation that Ira Nelson Morris, former American minister in Sweden, had been appointed Rumanian consul at Chicago.

MATRIMONIAL

A wedding of interest in Billerica social and fraternal circles was solemnized Wednesday evening at the rectory of St. Andrew's church, when Mr. Cornelius Sullivan and Miss Catherine Cunningham were married by Rev. John Cunningham. Mr. John Holland and Miss Mae Collins attended the bridal couple. The bride wore a beaded tan crepe de chine gown and carried bridal roses. The bride's gift to her attendant was a white, gold wrist watch while the bridegroom's gift to the bride was a pair of platinum cuff links. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. M. Collins in Billerica avenue, where a supper was served. During the evening an entertainment program was given with the following participating: Miss Nora Condon, Miss Marion Murphy, Miss Marie Lyons, Miss Anna Sullivan, Mr. William Cunningham, Joseph Hayes and Thomas and Daniel Sullivan. Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan left on an extended wedding tour to the south and upon their return they will make their home in Treble Cove road, West Billerica.

Mr. John F. Scully and Miss Alice V. Roughtan were united in marriage on Wednesday afternoon. The ceremony was performed at 4:15 o'clock in St. Peter's rectory, the celebrant being Rev. Peter T. Imohan. The best man was Mr. James Scully, brother of the bridegroom, while Miss Catherine P. Roughtan, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid. Miss Rita Cannony was the flower girl.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white Elizabethan ermine. She wore a veil caught up with a wreath of lilies of the valley and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was gowned in honeydew Elizabethan ermine with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The flower girl wore silver cloth and pink tulle and carried a basket of roses. After the ceremony the wedding party went to the home of the bridegroom at 231 Walker street, where a supper was served by the Lydon Catering Co. The home was beautifully decorated and there was a band and orchestra for the reception that followed. The bride's gift to the bridesmaid was a wrist watch, and the bridegroom's gift to the bride was also a watch. A silver rosary was the gift of the bride to the flower girl. Mr. Joseph Scully and Mr. Charles Scully were the best men. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Scully left on their wedding tour through New York, Washington, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Chicago. They will be at home at 16 Manahan street after Jan. 1. The bride is well known as a supervisor in the local exchange of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. and the bridegroom is a police officer.

MUTINEERS SURRENDER TO THE BRITISH AT KHARTUM

Egyptian Situation Described in London Official Quarters as Serious But Not Critical—Telephonic Communication With Sudan Restored

LONDON, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Egyptian situation, as the result of the latest messages, was described in official quarters in London this afternoon as serious but not critical. Interest mainly centered in the Sudan, which appears to have been quieted.

Communication restored.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Telegraphic communication with the Sudan was restored at 12.55 o'clock this afternoon. It is announced in an agency despatch from Cairo.

Mutineers Surrender.

CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—The surviving mutineers at Khartoum have given into the British, it was officially announced here this afternoon.

The mutiny among the troops was confined to two platoons of the eleventh Sudanese and the mutineers who survived surrendered after a bombardment of the compound of the Egyptian army hospital. Two British officers were killed and eight men wounded.

The official announcement stated that the situation at Khartoum was well in hand.

The behavior of the other Arab and Sudanese troops is characterized as excellent.

FAHY GETS 25 YEARS 14 MEN DROWNED

Sentenced for Part in $2,000,000 Mail Robbery at Rondout, Illinois

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—William J. Fahy, former postoffice inspector, and James Murray, a politician, recently convicted of conspiracy in connection with the $2,000,000 mail robbery at Rondout, Illinois, were sentenced to 25 years each in the federal prison at Atlanta, by Federal Judge Cliffe today.

The sentence of Fahy and Murray, the convicted arch plotters of what has been called "the greatest train robbery," followed denial of new trials.

The sentencing of William J. Fahy, Jesse and Joseph Newton, and Brent Glasscock, the latter in charge of the actual robbery, was deferred until Monday.

Counsel for Fahy and Murray, in support of the action for a new trial, declared that the $2,500,000 in loot brought into the court room during the trial never was identified as stolen from the mail train. It was only identified, they contended, by Brent Glasscock as property which he had turned over to government agents.

WAGE REDUCTIONS IN BROCKTON SHOPS

BROCKTON, Nov. 29.—The state board today handed down its first decision in the series of cases raised by the Brockton Shoe Manufacturers' association asking for wholesale wage reductions in all branches of the shoe trade. Today's decision relates to the various classes of the sole fasteners' departments and grants wage reductions of from 6 per cent to 18 per cent and averaging about 10 per cent. This is about half of what the manufacturers asked for. The reductions are heavier on the cheaper grades of shoes and on the lower classes of work than on the high grades and more technical operations. It is now expected that further decisions will follow this first one and that wages will be reduced in general about 10 per cent over the entire shoe industry of the Old Colony district.

CROSS-WORD PUZZLES IN FITCHBURG CHURCH

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 29.—Cross word puzzles were the feature of the Nov. 28th Baptist church Sunday evening when members of the congregation will be called on to solve a puzzle designed by the pastor, the Rev. George W. McElven. A large blackboard has been placed in front of the pulpit and today the minister was working out his combinations. After the opening prayer Sunday night, the churchgoers will be told that the puzzle must be solved before the pastor can preach—for, when the necessary words are supplied, members of the congregation will find that they have puzzled out the text of the sermon.

FIREMAN CRAWFORD'S CASE REOPENED

The Crawford case, which created considerable furor in fire department circles several months ago when George Crawford, a fireman in the department, charged that he had been unfairly discriminated against in the appointment of several lieutenants by Chief Edward J. Saunders, although his name topped the eligible list, was reopened today.

At that time Mr. Crawford asked for a hearing before the city council and it was granted, but the appointments of the chiefs were not changed.

Today Attorney Edward J. Tierney said that he had arranged a conference with the fire chief for this afternoon and unless this resulted satisfactorily to his client, the matter would be carried as far as it can to secure justice for Mr. Crawford.

While no definite statement has been made by either the chief or Mr. Tierney, it is believed that the reopening of the case has been brought about because of the pending appointment of another lieutenant in the department.

mysterious breaks in the south end district.

In the past two weeks one or two burglaries a night in that district have been reported, and all apparently were the work of the same person. In each instance inmates of the houses complained of head aches and showed other symptoms of gas poisoning. According to Superintendent Crowley the burglar turned on the gas in each house he entered long enough to render the inmates unconscious, then turned it off and went about his work.

A large quantity of jewelry stolen from South End houses has been recovered. It was said that the burglar counts to be charged against Burns may be as high as thirty.

TWO KILLED IN CRASH ON R. R. CROSSING

BATON, O., Nov. 29.—Two persons were killed and another was probably fatally injured in the wrecking of two automobiles at a crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad today. Fourteen persons, including a party of actors and actresses appearing at a local theatre, were occupants of the machines.

The dead are Mrs. Charles Fagan, 29, known on the stage as Ruth Jeanne, and an unidentified woman. Roy West, of Dayton, was probably fatally injured.

Charles Fagan, 29, husband of the dead woman, Helen Miller of Boston, actress, and Miss Nell Kolcer, Dayton, were cut and bruised.

Drivers of the two machines, it was said, in attempting to avoid a collision, skidded and crashed into the train.

CLAIMS CURES IN 600 PNEUMONIA CASES

PARIS, Nov. 29.—Dr. D. E. Gerin is leaving for New York on the steamship Paris to demonstrate under the auspices of New York state physicians' organization, a method by which he claims to have brought about cures in more than six hundred pneumonia cases with no deaths to his credit.

He also intends to demonstrate a method of treating pernicious anemia without blood transfusions. The tests to be conducted in the hospital of New York, will occupy four months.

Dr. Gerin was born of French parents in Nashua, N. H., in 1867, and has always retained his American citizenship. He has practiced in New England and California and for some years was president of the French colony in San Francisco.

ITALIAN STEAMSHIP IS REPORTED IN DISTRESS

LONDON, Nov. 29.—A Lloyd's despatch from Valencia says the Italian steamship Enrico Toli, out of Baltimore on Nov. 8, is in distress at latitude 37.14; north, longitude 55.08 west. The German steamship Pasajes is proceeding to her assistance.

The Enrico Toli, a vessel of 3000 tons, returned to Baltimore on Nov. 18, after going aground, necessitating the lightering of part of her cargo of coal, destined for Lehigh. She called again two days later. The Pasajes does not appear in the shipping registers.

READING LA FOLLETTE OUT OF PARTY APPROVED

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 29.—Victor L. Berger, socialist representative in congress, previous to his departure today for Washington expressed the opinion that the republican party had need of a new leader. He said the party does not appear in the shipping registers.

"It was absolutely proper for the republican senatorial caucus to read Berger, socialist representative in congress, previous to his departure today for Washington expressed the opinion that the republican party had need of a new leader. He said the party does not appear in the shipping registers."

GALE CONTINUES TO SWEEP FRENCH COAST

PARIS, Nov. 29.—Thursday's gale shows signs of reviving, with added force after its brief lull. The sea is running high both in the English channel and the Atlantic, doing considerable damage to ports, and the gale is showing a tendency to extend inland and to the Mediterranean.

Wires are being cut and communication difficult in various parts of the country. A number of fishing boats are still missing from ports in North and South Brittany and scant hope is entertained for the survival of their crews.

LEGION TO DEDICATE SQUARES TOMORROW

Four squares in the Centralville district will be dedicated in honor of World War heroes tomorrow afternoon by Lowell Post 87, American Legion, assisted by the Post End and other clubs of the district. The dedication ceremony will be in accordance with the legion ritual and will begin at 1.30 o'clock. All members of the Post are urged to take part in the ceremony as requested to meet at headquarters at 1 o'clock.

CAUSED BY OVERHEATING

Deficient gastric secretion, meaning a lack of the fluids necessary for digestion, is a prevalent condition. You may have it now and not know it because you are able to get along without actual discomfort even with your enfeebled digestion.

But if you overeat—then you are in trouble. You have indigestion because you have given your weakened stomach too much to do. The deficient gastric secretion was what the doctors call the predisposing cause, the overeating was the exciting cause. It is easy not to repeat the overeating but the predisposing cause must be corrected if you are to be well.

The secretions that digest the food come from glands that are nourished directly by the blood. When these secretions are insufficient the only way to restore their healthful condition is by building up the blood. This can be done by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, the non-alcoholic tonic that assists nature in keeping the body in health. Proper attention to diet and the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be tried in cases of disordered digestion because it is the simple and natural way to correct the trouble.

Send today for a copy of our free diet book "What to Eat and How to Eat." Address the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price sixty cents per box—Adv.

WEATHER OUTLOOK

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Weather outlook for next week in north and middle Atlantic states: Rains or snows first half and again during latter half. Below normal temperatures first half followed by moderate temperatures but with rather marked alternations second half.

WENDALL TO COACH LEHIGH

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—Percy Wendall, who has coached Williams' football team for four years in which time they have won every objective game with Amherst and Wesleyan, will be head coach of football at Lehigh next year. It was learned here today. He will succeed James E. Baldwin.

LEAPED TO HIS DEATH Suicide by Jumping Into South Canal

LAWRENCE, Nov. 29.—George Grey, 37, committed suicide about midnight last night by jumping from the central bridge into the south canal.

Edward McNamara, 13, who jumped in after the man, was pulled from the water by firemen in an unconscious condition. He was revived and taken to the Lawrence General hospital where it was said he would recover.

Grey had been ill for several months and had three, threatened to end his life. His niece, who was returning from a dance, saw him leap from the bridge rail.

TO DISCUSS FRENCH DEBT TO THE U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Informal exchanges looking to a refunding settlement of the French debt to the United States have progressed to the point where the matter will be laid before the full membership of the American debt commission for discussion at a meeting called here for Dec. 1.

Secretary Mellon called the meeting of the commission yesterday shortly after it had become known that they had held a series of informal conversations recently with Ambassador Jusserand on the subject of his government's war-time obligations to the United States, which ranks second in amount to the British debt, already refunded.

The result of these conversations, to guide the commission in its discussion of the matter, is understood to be chiefly in the nature of a clarification of the fiscal position of the French government in its bearing on a possible basis for formal negotiations. While the commission at this meeting, the first six months, is expected to do little more in regard to the French debt than go over the situation in the light of the recent conversations, it is believed these eventually will lead to tangible results.

SENATE DEMOCRATS NOT TO OBSTRUCT ACTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Senate democrats have no disposition to obstruct action in the coming session of congress, in the opinion of a general importance which can be fairly considered, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the minority leader, declared today upon his arrival here from his home state. He added that the democratic organization would co-operate in the passage of the appropriation bills.

ITALIAN STEAMER SENT OUT S. O. S. CALLS

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 29.—Coast guard and naval base officials here today said they had no additional information regarding an S. O. S. call picked up last night from the Italian steamer Castelporziano, about 1200 miles east of the English coast. The British steamer Miami was according to the aid of the steamer, according to advice to division headquarters from the coast guard cutter Carabasset. The nature of the trouble has not been learned.

NAVAL CAPTAIN EXECUTED IN MEXICO

VERA CRUZ, Mex., Nov. 29.—Jose Girard, a naval captain who was concerned in the de la Huerta rebellion, was executed by a firing squad on Tuesday at Paraiso, Tabasco. His execution was ordered by Gen. Vicente Gomez after he had resumed rebel activities.

REQUESTS TO 20 INSTITUTIONS

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—Twenty charitable and philanthropic institutions of Boston will receive bequests under the will of James Brown, former president and general manager of the Hotel and Railroad News company, who died last week. The will, filed for probate today, provides that after several small bequests have been satisfied the residue of the estate, estimated to exceed $1,000,000 shall be divided into twenty equal shares for the twenty institutions named.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGED

KEENE, N. H., Nov. 29.—Alvin Beauregard, of Keene, charged with manslaughter in the second degree, pleaded not guilty in municipal court before Charles J. Madden and his case is continued until the arrival of his attorney, John J. Landers, who is out of town. Bail was fixed at $2000.

Beauregard was the driver of an automobile in which Maurice Jaffe, a passenger, was killed while the party was returning from a dance Friday morning.

GUILTY OF ABDUCTION

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 29.—Joseph E. Yats, former Auburn, Okla., minister, was sentenced to five years in jail today when he was found guilty of abduction in connection with his flight from Newark, N. J., and member of his church choir. The jury deliberated 15 minutes.

DINKY WINS ACTRESS

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—Alva J. Dinky, Jr., son of the famous comedian of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, and Miss Mary Gayton, an actress known as Marcia Byron, were married here yesterday. His parents wired their blessing from Philadelphia.

Accident Cases Given to Jury

Continued

The plaintiffs were represented by James H. Vahay of Boston and William A. Wilson of this city, with Trull, Wier & O'Donoghue as counsel for the street railway company.

A great deal of expert medical testimony has been offered during the trial by both sides and on two occasions, William A. Chandler has been carried into the court room on a stretcher to testify before the jury.

This is the last case on the trial list of the present session, which has extended over a period of seven weeks. With the completion of the case, court will adjourn to East Cambridge.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—A stock dividend of 80 per cent has been declared on the common stock of the Pacific Lighting corporation subject to the approval of the state corporation commission of California, payable Dec. 22 to stock of record Nov. 24. The corporation owns all the common stock of the Los Angeles Gas & Electric Co.

The North American company which reported a large gain in assets and general expansion of its activities is mentioned in the financial adviser to be planning the creation of an investment trust with probable capitalization of $10,000,000 first preferred stock, $5,000,000 second preferred and 500,000 common shares of no par value.

October gross revenues of the Canadian Pacific fell about $1,000,000 to $12,352,340 compared with October last year, while net decreased more than $1,000,000 to $7,022,177. Net for 12 months for the ten months this year was slightly larger than in the corresponding period of 1923 despite the fact that gross dropped about $15,100,000 to $133,711,038.

Railroad financiers estimate that October earnings of the railroads of the country will probably approximate $130,000,000. Should this calculation be borne out it would be the best month the carriers have had since July 1916. The report said, by the heavy traffic has continued at a high level until late in the year and drastic economies in operations.

Increased European buying of bonds in this market is reported, by letters with foreign connections, although the efficient business has not yet reached large proportions. British interests have been buying the rail issues, both dollar and sterling, since the pound passed $4.50. Repurchasing of British $5 of 1929 also has been noted. The return on long term bonds, chiefly those of foreign countries, is higher here than in London in addition to attractive exchange features.

48-HOUR SCHEDULE IN HAVERHILL SHOPS

HAVERHILL, Nov. 29.—The shoe factories in this city the coming week will go onto a 48-hour schedule, according to the terms of the working agreement. It is provided that December to May inclusive the five and one-half day week of 48 hours shall apply. June, July and August are limited to five days of 48 hours, and the remaining three months are optional with the union. Although the 48-hour week is available beginning next week, few manufacturers are at present pressed with sufficient business to demand the extra hour of labor.

SEAPLANE AND TWO MEN BELIEVED LOST

SACKET HARBOR, N. Y., Nov. 29.—Hope for the safety of Carl Groby and Harry Dionne, aviators, missing since Sunday afternoon, when their seaplane disappeared from sight while passing over Lake Ontario, was virtually abandoned today when two boats which had visited the Galloup Islands 12 miles from here, in search of the men returned reporting no traces of the fliers.

The fliers were enroute from Ogdensburg to Florida when they met with the misfortune.

$1,000,000 BOND ISSUE

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 29.—The New Hampshire public service commission today authorized the Manchester Traction, Light & Power Co., to issue $1,000,000 five per cent first mortgage, sinking fund gold bonds, which are to be sold at not less than 95 per cent of their face value. The bonds are authorized to meet indebtedness incurred and anticipated in connection with plant improvements.

JURY DISAGREES IN FAMOUS COMPOSER DEAD

Giacomo Puccini, Who Wrote Many Opera Successes Dies at Brussels

BRUSSELS, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Giacomo Puccini, famous opera composer, died at noon today from a throat infection following an operation.

His death was due to a heart attack complicated by other troubles followed by a recent operation for malignant growths in the throat.

Giacomo Puccini was one of the few composers of recent times whose opera successes were numerous and lasting. As to numbers, he is matched only by Albeniz, but so far as frequency of performances, the Italian composer surpassed Massenet in America, at least. Giulio Gatti-Casazza, general manager of the Metropolitan Opera House, once said Puccini was the "most popular composer with Americans."

One of the unfortunate efforts of Puccini was his "Edgar," produced at the Scala in 1889. Although he remained silent nearly four years, the composer compensated for this failure with his "Macbeth" and "Turk and his later works, including "La Tosca," "Madama Butterfly," and "The Girl of the Golden West," proved such popular successes that it is seldom a season of opera anywhere does not include one or more of these.

Puccini was born at Lucca, Italy, June 12, 1858. He had two hobbies with his "Macbeth" and "Turk" and his later works, including "La Tosca," "Madama Butterfly," and "The Girl of the Golden West," proved such popular successes that it is seldom a season of opera anywhere does not include one or more of these.

$25,128,786 RETURNED TO U. S. TREASURY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The interior department has returned to the treasury $25,128,786 of the department's 1921 appropriation. Secretary Work announced today, reporting a saving of $23,167,132 by the pension bureau alone in dropping 14,217 pensioners from the rolls.

BURNS UP GREENBACKS AS CROWD LOOKS ON

WOODSPOCKET, R. I., Nov. 29.—Carlo Minieri, 30, of this city, furnished persons near the railroad station here this morning with a sensation as he sat on the outside platform burning up perfectly good United States "greenbacks." One observer interfered and relieved the man of a $10 bill and departed only to be located later by the police and made to return the money.

A police sergeant ended the burning and Minieri was taken to the hospital where he lapsed into unconsciousness. Doctors found no trace of liquor about the man.

"BOY EMPEROR" OF CHINA IS RELEASED

LONDON, Nov. 29.—According to a Ruter despatch from Peking, China, the "boy emperor" of China, who was yesterday granted his freedom by the new government of Tuan Chi-Jui, today took refuge in the Japanese legation. It was stated there was no cause for him to fear immediate danger.

WILL DEMONSTRATE LIFE-GIVING LIGHT

Next Tuesday afternoon, Liberty Hall in Memorial Auditorium, will be the scene of a most unusual electrical demonstration, arranged under the auspices of Lowell Rotary club, with the public at large invited to be present after the weekly dinner ceremonials are concluded.

For the first time in Lowell, there will be displayed in full view of a public audience, wonderfully contrived apparatus which will produce now and occasionally produce rays of purplish light, to which is attributed high medicinal values in the treatment of human bodily ailments. The discovery by trained electricians in State of Maine university, has been developed by qualified experts at the General Electric Co. plant in Lynn.

Mr. Edward R. Berry, assistant consulting engineer of the electrical corporation, will be the Rotarian speaker, Tuesday. He will bring with him and display on the platform of Liberty Hall, the now and somewhat mysterious light that investigators into the still fruitful field of electricity have no trade name for as yet.

Engineer Berry's label for it carries only the explanation that it is a new and life-giving light derived from fused quartz. Ordinary electric light passing through the quartz as transformed, is said to have great healing powers, particularly in cases where youth suffers from various afflictions of the flesh and bones.

INTERSECTIONAL FOOTBALL

BOSTON, Nov. 29.—An Intersectional football game between St. Thomas college of St. Paul, Minn., and Boston university, to be played at St. Paul on Oct. 24 or Nov. 14 next year, was tentatively arranged here today. St. Thomas college's hockey team is to make an eastern trip during the Christmas holidays and probably will meet the Boston college team here on Dec. 23 and 27, it was announced.

CONNECTICUT COLONIAL ADAPTION

Plan No. 448.

This demure homestead, recalling the colonial houses of Connecticut, is a house that by its sterling qualities will do honor to its owner's taste, judgment and good sense. It is the kind of a house that makes building dollars buy full value in conveniences, comforts and good looks without the necessity of spending more than the average pocketbook can afford. It is one of those houses planned to eliminate all unnecessary space and "extra" equipment which adds so greatly to present day building costs. At the same time, it offers considerable more than the average flat or small apartment.

The pointed roof of the entrance porch is softened by the arched doorway, with its moulded band and keystone. The bank of casement windows in the sun porch is nicely proportioned; the addition of a dining alcove extension is successfully achieved; it is a pleasing and natural continuation of the main house.

The house is planned to be built of frame construction on masonry foundation, cement base course. The exterior finish is wide clapboards for walls and a shingle roof. A lot from 38 to 43 feet in width will be required. A full basement under the entire house contains laundry, heater room and fuel bins. The combination sunroom and living room provides exceptionally large living quarters in a house as small as this one. Eight windows in the sunroom insure plenty of light and air. The sunroom really amounts to an enclosed porch. A large open fireplace is a feature of the living room. Attic storage is reached by stairs in the main hall. The kitchen is small in size but planned scientifically to route steps and save labor. The dining alcove which forms a part of the kitchen provides a built-in table and seats. Under the seats are linen presses and above china cupboards. Two bedrooms on the rear of the house enjoy cross circulation of air and adequate light.

The suggested color scheme for the house is, white walls and trim and chimney stack; dark variegated green roof shingles; dark green band around chimney cap.

It would be difficult to include more in the way of conveniences and comforts in a small home than you will find here. For this reason this house deserves careful study by people interested in small quarters planned to afford every convenience and comfort most people demand.

The cost to erect this home will depend upon what you put into it and how thoroughly it is equipped. If you are willing to use simple material and inexpensive equipment this home should be reasonable to build. Expensive equipment will increase the cost; inexpensive equipment will decrease the cost. The cost will also be affected by the locality in which the house is built.

PROPOSALS
Drill Tower Addition to the Fletcher Street Fire Engine House

Sealed proposals will be received from local contractors only at the office of the Inspector of Public Buildings at City Hall on December 9th, at 3 p. m., for the construction of a Drill Tower Addition to the Fletcher Engine House on the corner of Fletcher and West Clark Streets, for the City of Lowell, Mass., in accordance with the plans and specifications drawn by Percy F. Gilbert, architect.

The plans and specifications may be obtained by applying at the office of the building department at City Hall. The work will be let in one general contract.

Each proposal must be made on the blank form which accompanies the specifications and no bid will be considered if presented in any other form. Each bidder must be prepared to give bond to the amount of 20 per cent of the contract price, conditioned on the satisfactory execution of the contract as required by the plans and specifications.

The Inspector of Public Buildings reserves the right to reject any or all proposals, or to accept the proposal which seems for the best interests of the City of Lowell.

Per order, JOHN F. MOYNAHAN, Inspector of Public Buildings.

"A Prince There Was," Opera House Play

Leading Lady, Stanley James Players

"A Prince There Was," delightful comedy by George M. Cohan, is announced as the bill for next week at the Lowell Opera House, home of the spoken drama. The Stanley James (Inc.) Players have a splendid vehicle in this offering which originally played at the Cohan theatre in New York for a year, after which it had long runs in Chicago and Boston as well as extensive successes on tour.

Cohan shows signs to have struck a popular chord in Lowell. "Irene," "Su This is London" and others given here all having done a splendid business. Sensing the public's liking for Cohan shows Mr. James has booked "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway," and "The Orling Girl" in addition to "A Prince There Was," next week's bill.

Next week will mark the first week of the engagement with the local company of one of the most clever ingenues in stock, Miss Gladys Lloyd, former camera star who comes here direct from the Proctor Players at Albany, N. Y. Miss Lloyd is an excellent comedienne and eccentric dancer and is a graduate of Ned Weyburn's school of stage dancing. She is a clever actress with pleasing personality and charm of manner that is certain to help her in making many warm friends in Lowell.

All manner of down-to-date subjects are handled in a Cohanesque manner in "A Prince There Was," from international relations to a boarding house stew. Cohan even resurrects William Jennings Bryan for a few moments in the last of the three lively acts. This play was suggested by Darragh Aldrich's famous story "Enchanted Hearts" and was originally written by Mr. Cohan as a starring vehicle for Robert Hilliard. Because of Mr. Hilliard's illness Mr. Cohan jumped into the leading role himself on the second night of the show's successful New York run and he continued to play it until the show took to the road.

Paul Whiteman and Famous Orchestra to Appear in Auditorium

We will have America's best known citizen with us on Friday evening, Dec. 12. Paul Whiteman and his internationally famous orchestra will appear in the Memorial Auditorium. Mr. Whiteman earned the title of America's best known citizen through his responsibility of introducing jazz to the world.

According to expert statisticians there is no country on the face of the globe which does not purchase American jazz, either "canned" or in sheet music form.

The program which the Whiteman orchestra will give will show what has happened to the great American noise from the time of its birth in the south to its present stage where Stockwell, Stravinsky and most of the world's greatest music masters have come out heartily and openly to sing its praises.

The program which will be played at the Auditorium will be the same that Mr. Whiteman introduced in New York City's famous Carnegie hall where jazz for the first time was heard within those classical walls.

Step by step the program takes one from the early Dixie land one-step by La Rocca, who got together the first jazz band.

These five musicians playing with La Rocca played entirely without music, every man for himself and praise to the one making the most noise.

The amazing sound which this music has taken are shown in all their forms climaxing in George Gershwin's "Rhapsody Blues," the first piece written in pure classical form and in pure jazz spirit.

"Gerald Cranston's Lady" at the Rialto

SCENE FROM GERALD CRANSTON'S LADY

If there's one picture you cannot afford to miss seeing, it is the one that is coming to Loew's Rialto the first three days of the week, starting Monday. It is the William Fox Super-Special production, "Gerald Cranston's Lady," which has been acclaimed by critics to be one of the finest pictures ever made at the William Fox studios, and that's saying a whole lot. And what more; the cast is superb! James Kirkwood, Alina Rubens, Walter McGrath and Marguerite De La Motte are only a few of the names of those who essay the important parts. The picture is a powerful social drama, based on the novel from the pen of Gilbert Frankau, and is directed by Emmett Flynn. It is the kind of a film in which Alina Rubens is certain to wear beautiful clothes, for which she is well known, and the kind of a role in which she may be aloof and mysterious and beautiful. James Kirkwood also is particularly well cast as the self-made millionaire who believes that position might be purchased and that love was a "game to be fooled."

The scenes are laid in England and Paris with a few stray shots showing life in Nigeria, with its frontier town out west. Maurice (Luffy) Flynn steps into the screen spotlight with all the sang froid of a John Barrymore in "The Millionaire Cowboy" and "School" a show that has so many good points it is mighty hard to pick. Gloria Gray has the leading feminine role.

Other attractions on the bill include a comedy and the very latest issue of Fox News.

"The Marriage Market," with Alice Lake, Pauline Garon, and Jack Muhl, and "The Dancer of the Nile" with a big star cast, are the pictures that will be shown Sunday-only.

Attractions at Keith's Theatre—Sunday Bill

MISS MAYBELLE PALMER AT B. F. KEITH'S NEXT WEEK

"Broadway Dreams" will hold the big spot on the boards at the B. F. Keith theatre tomorrow afternoon and evening, rounding out the sensational stay here of this act. Lahr & Mercier will also put over their bit of topiography, and Briere & King are slated for appearance. Others who will be on the bill are Deas & Thomas, in an excellent skill; Francis & Hume, snappy youths, and "Canary Opera." The picture feature will be "Fighting Blind," a production full of life and heroics.

For the coming week there will be a headline, which has held the attention of thousands at the New York Hippodrome and the big music halls of London. It is none other than Marcelle with his trained acrobats. There have been many seek and sensations here in the past, and all of them have shown marked proficiency in juggling. Here is one which not only does the juggling, but sings and romps and plays and does every thing of her master. It is the most remarkable product of the sea, that ever came before the public and audiences will marvel at it.

The Wilton Sisters return once more with their delightful mixture of songs and refined comedy. They sing, dance, talk and play the piano and the violin. Not long ago vaudeville found the sisters to musical comedy, where they were featured of "The Little Whopper." But they have returned to their first love, the varieties, where they are as big favorites as ever.

A new kind of a nut has broken forth. He is labelled Charlie Wilson, and he begins at no place in particular and winds up about the same spot. He feeds on laughter, and continually rattles out new stuff. He has an inexhaustible fund of good things, and on no 2 days in the week does he do the same things. He is a nut and is proud of it, and so will you be after you have sampled his work.

Clark and Grady have a comedy skit called "Tony Don't Understand." Mr. Clark has the part of a wisp who gains his point through pretended ignorance. But there are several good songs in the turn, and the patter is first class.

The Mikus are gymnasts. Balancing is their strong point, but they take the things which have been done before and present them from a new angle. They not only balance themselves but many inanimate objects, too.

"Down by the Rio Grande," is the picture attraction for the week. It is a story of border love and hate, and it is offered by an excellent cast.

After Suffering Intense Agony for Many Years—He Wants to Tell Others.

Brigade: "I simply had to write and tell that your wonderful Camphorol has done for me many years I suffered the tortures of it as only those who have it know. Some time I had a terrible itch and, with sore, the sharp pains were so could not sleep. Had to get up and scratch. It almost drove me crazy. A doctor after doctor and all kinds of medicine was tried, but only left me worse. I could not bend my knees. I am a steam by trade and had to give up my work. I was advertised in a paper, I thought I'd take another chance and tell my neighbor to get me a package of Camphorol. I started to get better right away. After using two jars of Camphorol I am well and happy and have gone back to work. I shall never forget the day I took a chance on Camphorol. ROLAND HAYES COMING TO THE AUDITORIUM

Here is how Roland Hayes, who is coming to Lowell Memorial Auditorium on Tuesday evening, Dec. 2, looked to the musical critic of the Boston Transcript, at the time of his concert there last summer:

Even at midsummer, as seasons in Boston go, Mr. Roland Hayes is assured of an audience. It filled Symphony hall yesterday afternoon, overflowed with applause; asked and received repetitions and extra numbers quite as though the tenor were well established in the royal line. His modest ways, however, did not forsake him. When the clapping gave him opportunity, he would say in his gentle voice: "I have been requested to sing this from Handel of that fragment of 'Marian'." and sing it forthwith, as one both gratified and grateful that his hearers should be so eager. In his program proper he made no sacrifice of his previous standards; yet in the ordering inclined a little to the way of Mr. McCormack. An old air from Mozart was the first piece. The classic German lieder followed, from

ROLAND HAYES

Schubert, Schumann and Wolf. Next ensued three songs by American composers, pleasant and sufficiently artful. Griffes, Mr. Whippley and Mr. Warren Storey Smith wrote them. Three "Negro Spirituals" ended the list—the equivalent, though in different vein, of Mr. McCormack's Irish pieces. With reason, as singers of high worth and far-spreading vogue, they may thus exchange formulas.

In many of these numbers Mr. Hayes remained the singer that Boston first discovered last winter. In Schumann's "Gedanken," Griffes's "In a Myrtle Shade," Mr. Whippley's "I Know a Hill," Mr. Smith's "A Caravan from China Comes," the "extras" from Handel and Massenet. That is to say, by and more disclosed a voice of pure and finely tempered tenor—timbre plastic to every modulation of the composer; sensitive to every coloring of his own bestowing; never constrained never forced; marred only by too eager pursuit of an elegant falsetto akin to that with which Monsieur Clemens used to spice his climaxes. Again Mr. Hayes's ear for the true pitch, the direction, both mobile and precise; the shapen and unfolding phrase, the sustained and intensified melodic curve the pace and rhythm perceived, felt conveyed; pause, shading, accent and climax aptly placed—all commended him. He is a singer of conscious artistry.

"Single Wives"—the ones that husbands forget, the wives who are hungry for romance, the wives who sometimes listen when forbidden love calls, to the feathered foot on the Strand program for the first four days of the week, starting with Sunday's matinee. Come and see them—gorgeously gowned, jewel bedecked, well bred, pleasure-led darlings—prizes for all the young suitors, but now wives who are forgotten like many a prize that has been won—women who still love as they did before marriage, but married to men who forget that love is a woman's only recompense. Corinne Griffith and Milton Sills bring to you with all the drama of this poignant problem—in beautiful settings—in magnificent dress. It's a picture story for men as well as women, for young people as well as those more matured. It's a story that will provide food for serious thought. Don't miss it. In addition to the big attraction Directing Manager Torgnan has arranged for the presentation of Will Rogers in his newest humor-making screen offering, "Going to Congress," and also the newest Our Gang funfest, "Derby Day." It's an unusually strong bill and should attract banner crowds at all performances.

A prominent eastern judge who had presided over several hundred divorces recently declared that 90 per cent of all divorce cases are based on indifference. "The fault lies chiefly with the husband," he stated. "A man forgets that he must continue to court a wife even after the knot has been tied. A wife likes to be told over and over again that she is loved; she likes as much attention after marriage as before, and if she doesn't get it she is going to seek it elsewhere—at least that's the danger that a man must figure with. Rarely do I find the whole trouble with marital conflict placed on the shoulders of the wife. More often than not the husband is the one responsible for the failure of the marriage because of his indifference. In every home where the husband continues to be as effective a lover as he was in the courtship days there is perfect harmony." The First National picture, "Single Wives" was written around a typical American society home where a husband's indifference to his wife brings about a most tragic state of affairs. The wife, seeking love and attention is virtually forced into another man's arms through her husband's lack of appreciation. The husband is too wrapped up in his business to give the needed attention to his wife and family. He neglects his social obligations and thereby neglects his wife, accepting the proverbial standard that "a fish should not be fed but after it is caught." In "Single Wives" Corinne Griffith, appears as the wife, and assisting her is Milton Sills, Lew Tellegen, Phyllis Haver, Henry B. Waltball, Kathryn Williams, Jere Austin and others.

Attention is again directed to the generally accepted claim that "Strand" programs are always the very best. The name attached to a picture bill is a sure guarantee of superiority. Strand is not only a factor in making entertainments at this theatre most enjoyable.

"A Sainted Devil" at Merrimack Sq. Theatre

RUDOLPH VALENTINO AND NITA NALDI AT THE MERRIMACK SQ.

After an absence of two years from the screen, old Rudolph Valentino "come back" in "Monsieur Beaucaire." We'll say he did!

And he's followed up this triumph with another just as big—bigger, in fact—"A Sainted Devil," by Rex Beach. It comes to the Merrimack Square theatre tomorrow for a four days' engagement.

Here is the screen's greatest lover in a South American picture of contrasts—the old haughty life of the Argentine, contrasted with the smart social life of Buenos Aires, the Paris of the Americas. It has fire and dash and is set in surroundings that enhance its pictorial beauty and give zest to the plot; it stirs the emotions to high intensity. "A Sainted Devil" is a melodrama tinged with romance.

The story carries a wallow in every scene. It is elemental. There's action—plenty of it. To say that the star has a really equally good as his "Monsieur Beaucaire" in putting it pretty strongly. But that's just what he has in "A Sainted Devil," nevertheless.

As a dashing young South American, Don Alonso Castro, Valentino has a role never to be forgotten. He combines the best parts of his characters in "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and in "Blood and Sand." There Argentine tango for which he is internationally famous. He has love scenes aplenty and there is action for him in his fights with bandits.

"A Sainted Devil" is a very tale of this Spanish-American youth whose bride is stolen from him on his wedding night. His vain search for her, his embittered turning against the injustice of life and becoming a brigand, seeking vengeance for his abduction, make tense, exciting drama full of hot-blooded action and suspense.

Valentino's role is that of a handsome young planter who becomes the terror of the neighborhood and wreaks vengeance against everyone with whom he comes in contact. The conditions under which he finally finds his bride and the revenge he takes bring us up to an event that is probably more sensational than anything the star has done before.

The makers of the picture promise definitely that here is a far better production than either "The Sheik" or "Blood and Sand." "A Sainted Devil" is right up in the same class as "Monsieur Beaucaire," although an entirely different type of production.

Helen d'Algy, a newcomer in Paramount pictures, plays Juliette, the bride of Alonso (Valentino). Nita Naldi does some high-powered vamping as Carlotta, and Louis Lagrange, who did such good work in "The Side Show of Life," has a sympathetic role. The rest of the cast is equally high calibre.

The settings for this picture are both picturesque and romantic. The huge hacienda took up the entire back lot of the Paramount Eastern studio. And that's big. Exotic cabaret scenes and water-front dives in Buenos Aires are other outstanding features. The star dances the tango in "A Sainted Devil," and has any number of knife duels with bandits. They're real breath takers. The bandit's hangout in the mountains, the wedding ceremony, banquet, and abduction, etc., are but a few of the countless scenes in this action-romance. There's something happening every minute. The picture moves right along without the slightest trace of lagging.

An excellent surrounding bill has been arranged to accompany this feature. The second feature is "The Extra Girl," starring Mabel Normand, the queen of laughs, in six reels of roars and thrills. It's a Mack Sennett

London's Blackmail Plot Told in Photographs

MRS. MAUDE ROBINSON

LONDON, Nov. 29. (By the Associated Press.)—The jury delivered its verdict yesterday in the extraordinary case brought by C. E. Robinson, a former bookmaker, against the Midland bank, but judgment was deferred pending legal arguments, which will be heard at a later date.

The case aroused widespread interest, because of the charges brought out that an unnamed Indian prince, referred to as "Mr. A," was held up for blackmail after he had been discovered in a Paris apartment with Mrs. Robinson, which will be Robinson.

THE CROWD TRYING TO GET INTO COURT REACHED MOB PROPORTIONS

The jury found that there had been a conspiracy to extort money from the prince and that the prince, whose name was kept secret for reasons of state, parted with 150,000 pounds while his mind was unsettled through fear. It found, however, that neither Mr. Robinson nor his wife was a party to the conspiracy.

Was Held the Issue
Judge Darling had decided that the question of negligence on the part of the bank in connection with the 150,000 pounds which Mr. Robinson alleged with him, was beside the issue, but after the jury gave its verdict on the conspiracy point, it retired again to consider other technical questions concerning the bank and the check put by the judge.

The jury's replies to these questions established that the bank in paying out 150,000 had obeyed the mandate under which the money was received and cleared the check, and that William Cooper Hobbs, a solicitor, who, it had been declared on the witness stand, was a party to the plot against "Mr. A" in drawing out the money, purported to act under the same authority as that under which he paid the check into the bank; that Hobbs had no intention of transferring his whole right, if any, in the check of 150,000 pounds to the plaintiff. But on the question whether the rights in the check were ever transferred by Hobbs or Appleton & Co. to the plaintiff, the jury disagreed. The judge said he would not take the responsibility of ordering the jury to retire again to consider this question, which was not sufficiently material. The jury was then discharged and the court rose.

In the course of his summing up, Judge Darling remarked on the risk being taken by Montague Noel Newton, who had testified as having posed as the husband of Mrs. Robinson. "He is in danger now," the judge said. "There is no doubt of it."

Newton's appearance when it was supposed he was abroad, has been one of the most startling incidents of the trial, and the judge's remark is considered significant.

The judge emphasized that "Mr. A" gained nothing despite the concealment of his name, but it was difficult to believe that anyone who knew him would be unable to identify him.

Regarding the plaintiff's alibi, the judge declared: "Only that the revelation of his name might have led to the discovery of the plaintiff's identity, I should have asked nothing

CHARLES E. ROBINSON

MONTAGUE NOEL NEWTON

Judge Darling described the bank as an innocent victim of a plot, and characterized Mr. Robinson as the "intermittent husband—there when wanted and away when unwanted."

Hobbs Lodged in Jail

LONDON, Nov. 29.—After a preliminary hearing in court today, the jail doors were swung to again upon William Cooper Hobbs, solicitor's clerk, one of the prominent figures in the suit of C. E. Robinson, a former bookmaker, against the Midland bank, the testimony of which revealed a blackmailing plot through which an unnamed Indian potentate was mulcted out of 150,000 pounds after being discovered in a Paris apartment with Robinson's wife.

REPORT SWIFT TO REPLACE HARRIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Former Attorney-General James B. Swift of Fall River, is slated to succeed Judge Robert O. Harris of Boston as United States district attorney at Boston. This arrangement was made before the election and it is understood was agreeable to both Chairman Butler of the Republican National committee and Senator Lodge, before the latter's death.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS
SEAL SALE NOW ON

The seventeenth annual Christmas seal sale was launched in Massachusetts yesterday by the Massachusetts Tuberculosis league and its 27 affiliated county and city associations. Members of the Lowell branch are performing their part whole-heartedly as usual, and the Christmas seals are now being distributed in the usual way. All good citizens who contribute their pennies, dimes and dollars for the great cause of humanity are likewise in truth as well as label. Contributors to the Massachusetts fund have reason to feel that they are actually helping to stamp out the great white plague. Lowell men and women have always contributed generously to the charitable cause in the years that have gone. Members of the local tuberculosis council hope that the sale of the Christmas seals this season will be larger than ever. They can be purchased in any amount, in sheets where large quantities are desired.

The first sales of the familiar Christmas seals were made 17 years ago, for the purpose of securing funds to support voluntary anti-tuberculosis work. Since that year, the proceeds have steadily grown until, last year, in Massachusetts alone, $181,000 was realized, and more than $4,200,000 in the entire country.

The active leaders in charge of the sales campaign believe that all records will be broken, and that more than $200,000 will be raised in Massachusetts and $4,600,000 at least in the other 47 states of the Union. Official records kept by each one of the 27 branch councils in Massachusetts, show positively that in the last 17 years, the death rate from tuberculosis has been more than cut in half. This means an annual saving of more than 3000 lives in Massachusetts alone and 100,000 lives in the entire country, with the untold human suffering and economic losses which accompany the disease wherever it is found.

Experts believe that this progress means that the disease can be controlled, and if the present campaign work can be intensified and extended, this will come about within a reasonable length of time.

Army flyers' own story of flight around the world

Only complete, official narrative from diaries and experiences of the six aviators, put in vivid words by the famous author and adventurer, Lowell Thomas, commencing tomorrow.

ALL the world has been waiting to hear the real story of the greatest adventure of our time—the first aerial circumnavigation of the globe. Many have called it the last great adventure.

Mr. Thomas has been living and flying with the six Army adventurers—taking down from their lips the personal narrative of their hairbreadth escapes, their battles with the Arctic blizzards, flights through blinding rain and snow, encounters with tropic monsoons and typhoons, experiences with the natives of many lands.

This American Odyssey from real life is the intimate tale of the great adventure. There never has been another story like it since the days of Columbus and Magellan. Look for the start of it tomorrow—and daily and Sunday thereafter until the story is told.

WASHINGTON SCIENTIST PREDICTS NEW FORM OF LIFE FROM GERMS

Tells Smithsonian Institute That Influenza Germs May Originate New Species—Plans For Short Session of Congress—Leaders May Tolerate the Insurgents

Special to The Sun.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 29.—If you sneeze today, just say to yourself "I wonder if that is the result of a new form of life coming into existence on this planet?" For Dr. H. H. Henshaw, a noted scientist and devout believer in evolution, has been giving a series of lectures here at the Smithsonian institute, in which he advances the theory that the germ of the 1918 influenza epidemic may have been the germ of a new form of life on earth.

Dr. Henshaw talked at length and with enthusiasm about the development of life, he referred to the germ, thereby saying "It is conceivable that the epidemic of 1918 actually marked the beginning of a new form of life on earth," remarking that in the earliest conditions of the earth the life germs were so small they could not have been seen under a microscope, and advanced the theory that the influenza epidemic was merely a new form of life that had escaped destruction by being devoured by older forms of life. Dr. Henshaw intermingled his talk with expressions like cephalic index, somatic cells, antheridium, apogamete, and just common sense, all of which may be quite clear to persons fed up on evolution, but which carry mystery and doubt to the layman who does not believe for a minute that they are but one form of the monkey stock.

And speaking of germs, A. C. Hill, chief of the special schools bureau of New York, was here a few days ago, and expressed the conviction that prison reform is the best way to kill germs, as he calls the tendency to crime.

Mr. Hill refers to what he calls "the microbe of badness," and says the germ of criminalism is in every human being. There is no criminal class, says Mr. Hill, but every human being may become a criminal. Home influences, education, and environment overcome many native impulses that might lead to a life of crime. Mr. Hill believes that a prison school, managing and with proper religious instruction will do more than any other thing to truly reform criminals serving sentence.

Short Session—Forecasts
Senators and congressmen are scarce as hen's teeth, as they say way down east. The likelihood of the data for Thanksgiving and the fact that many congressional families fall to rest for the winter when it is the short or closing session of congress, has kept members of congress at home till the very eve of the convening of the session next Monday. The only exceptions will be senators who come a few days earlier to attend to republican caucus held yesterday.

The regular meeting of the club Tuesday noon will be held at the Y. M. C. A. and the principal speaker will be Frank B. Jaynes, whose topic will be the benefits and purposes of the community chest.

One week from Tuesday the Y. M. C. A. club, the Adjoining club, the Rotary club and the Lions club will hold a joint meeting in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium in the evening. The speaker on this occasion will be Arthur Nash, better known as "Opinion Rule" Nash, head of the firm of A. Nash & Co., wholesale tailors of Cincinnati.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY OF THE Y. M. C. A.

At the regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. held yesterday afternoon, G. R. Merriam, state secretary of the employed boys department of the Boston Y. M. C. A. was the speaker. He urged that more parental interest be taken in children stating that this was the only means of promoting good citizenship. Mrs. Murdoch MacKinnon, president of the auxiliary presided at the meeting. Mrs. Lorraine Leith was the entertainer of the afternoon and was accompanied by Miss Gertrude Landis. Mrs. Charles S. Otto offered prayer. Mrs. A. G. Titus assisted by the women of St. Paul's Methodist church served refreshments.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrup and saves about $2. Really and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "cough" remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any drugist 24 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar, syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and affords almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membrane so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A Bar of use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Oregon pine bark, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your drugist for "24 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The New Freely-Lathering Cuticura Shaving Stick For Tender Faces

to be a candidate for the floor leadership and Assistant Floor Leader Curtis of Kansas by proposed to full leadership without opposition, seems to be the forecast at this moment among men high up in senatorial affairs. The La Follette group of insurgents are all dressed up but have no where to go.

Would Expel Insurgents
Nick Longworth, republican floor leader, and Treadway of Massachusetts want them read out the next time they put their names into congress. Many other republicans feel that way, too. And the democrats? Well, judge for yourselves—they say when Congressman Buchanan of Texas, ardent democrat, met Treadway in the capital corridor yesterday this is the conversation that took place: "What hey yuh-all Coddle folks got against us minority men that you gave us your insurgents? We don't want 'um. What would you do with them?" asked Treadway. "I am root hawg or die" said Buchanan with a truly southern drawl. And Treadway and Buchanan shook hands on it.

Senator La Follette Fatigued
Senator La Follette has not been seen here since the election and it is said he is very much fatigued by the campaign he put up. La Follette has been a very sick man for several years, spending much time in hospitals and undergoing several operations. Men who knew him best are surprised he was able to make the active campaign he did, and express the opinion he will last but little part in the work of the winter. In that case, probably, Brookhart will lead the insurgent element in the senate and Nelson of Wisconsin, La Follette's right hand man, lead the opposition in the house as he did last year.

A strange thing about La Follette is his ability to hold as personal friends in the senate the very men who are most bitter against his policies and insurgent leadership. A remarkable instance of this was the friendship that existed between Lodge and La Follette. They were often seen chatting together, laughing and joking intimately. But when it came to politics, they were the most bitter of foes.

Folks out here are wondering what they shall call "Ma" Ferguson and Mrs. Ross, after they become governors of the states of Texas and Wyoming. "We can't call them governors, with their kind of mismanagement," said one man. "Governors" isn't very bad, but I presume we shall call them governor just as we do men, before we get through electing women." And the man heaved a deep sigh, for he isn't a sufferer even though the question is now a thing of the past.

RICHARDS.

NEW STATE HIGHWAY TO WORCESTER

Lowell chamber of commerce is boldly backing the latest substantial effort being made to "start something" that will lead eventually to the creation of a new cross-county state highway, connecting the city of Lowell with Worcester via the town of Littleton and Harvard.

The matter has been a subject of continual debate and politicking on the part of cities and towns that would benefit exceedingly by the construction of a state highway along sections of the winding rural roads now invariably in a disgraceful condition and generally avoided by automobilists, if possible.

During the past few months, there has been renewed agitation in civic and industrial community quarters in Lowell, as well as in the progressive villages through which the rambling, narrow country road runs connecting with main state highways already constructed from both the Worcester and Lowell terminals of the roads, forming a direct transportation line.

Today, Lowell chamber of commerce officials received good news. The project long under discussion, which was shelved by the highway commissioners last year and then postponed indefinitely again, has at last been received. Announcement was received by Secretary George F. Wells this morning, to the effect that the state highway department will, on Wednesday next, in Boston, hold a public hearing on the new intersecting road proposition.

At this hearing, there will be representatives of the local chamber and also well known business men representing Lowell, Littleton, Westford, Hartford, Ayer Junction, Clinton, and Worcester. All will be ready to testify as to the need of constructing a modern connecting highway as proposed.

Great expectations rule in the rural sections of both western Middlesex and eastern Worcester counties, for the building of this intersecting highway. It is asserted, would open up new state avenue of immense traffic, both passenger and freight, untold benefits would result upon Lowell in particular, because of the increased volume of interstate passenger and motor truck transportation between Maine and New Hampshire points through Lowell, direct to Clinton and Worcester via the town of Harvard, and also in reverse order.

Three of the busiest through highway traffic lines in New England would be tapped, if the present project of constructing the new cross-county highway, goes through as now seems probable. There would be connections on one end of the north with the "Daniel Webster" Boston-Lowell-Concord and White Mountains highway.

In Harvard, the road would tap the famous Minute Men's trail, so-called, the state highway branching off from the Boston-Ayer-Fitchburg highway at Concord Junction, and running through West Acton, Boxboro, Harvard and thence to Ayer, joining the Boston-Fitchburg thoroughfare on the eastern side of the town.

The third state highway that the new thoroughfare across the Littleton and Harvard hills would tap is the present excellent highway serving Clinton, Sterling, West Boylston and the Worcester entrance, would be the Boston-Worcester-Springfield Post road, where traffic is almost continuous day and night.

The proposed construction of the new highway in the territory described above, would mean practically opening up a territory of Middlesex county that has long needed just such a thoroughfare both for agricultural expansion and the building of summer homes. The territory today has practically no handy railroad facilities.

As a preliminary proceeding before the formal public hearing scheduled for Wednesday at the state house, the highway commissioners invited local chamber of commerce and any other business organization interested in the Lowell-Littleton-Harvard-Worcester project, to attend a special hearing, held in Harvard town hall, at 12:30 this afternoon.

Secretary-Manager Wells responded to the invitation, and was among the speakers at the hearing, advancing Lowell's hopes and promises of cordial support of the long desired highway construction project that would serve Lowell in many profitable ways for all time to come.

Present at a meeting held yesterday with the state highway commissioners in Harvard, were selectmen from Littleton, Harvard, Clinton and Ayer. Residents of Littleton were also to appear. It is understood that the project now has the strongest of advocates in the rural communities with town governments prepared to share so far as possible in the expense of the new highway construction plan, if called upon to do so.

LOCAL MILL BUSINESS IS PICKING UP

The healthier condition of the textiles in the American sales markets and the demands for new goods to meet supplies no longer coming from competitive quantity volume from foreign sources, was responsible for continued production in several local textile mills throughout the week ending this noon.

Best mills took no advantage of general market conditions and a weekly run broken by a holiday, but continued production yesterday and this morning as usual, and will operate in December on the usual scale at present in force.

The Massachusetts Mills have one department steadily employed with a small pay-roll straight through the week, and this was in operation as usual yesterday and today.

Hamilton Manufacturing company maintained its regular schedule constituted some weeks ago, when the "old section" was opened after a long shut-down. Production continues until Saturday noon.

What is Suffolk corporation had department operating yesterday, but has no weekly schedules.

Ipswich mills maintain full-week production schedules, backed by a healthier business outlook in the production of stockings reported. Wholesale markets are in a much better condition to accept new offerings to fill retailers' vacant stock rooms.

The New England Southern and the Lowell Silk mills are steadily operating on their schedule lines, there being no lessening in the demand for both the wide sheetings and the spooled silks.

Shoe Industries Quiet

Full production activities in local shoe manufacturing plants completed many call orders for novelty and McKay footwear specialties, and business up to the first of October, was excellent. Since then, in some of the leading local industries, there have been somewhat reduced output, owing to the general hitting of the wholesale markets during the four weeks' lull in trade before making annual selections of new footwear needed for the different trades next spring.

Few Lowell manufacturers have received many orders for the 1925 market as yet, but work in all plants continues with about the same complement of employees on payrolls during the winter period. The makers of the shoe and leather industry in Lowell hope for the best.

The Laganas company on Market street, has no rush orders to fill at present, but continues production weekly with plenty of out-of-town merchants on the regular list, buying in conservative quantities to meet salesmen's orders. The well-established Lowell shoe manufacturing concern is prepared for the first sign of 1925 ending business, and the first of December, Mr. Laganas said. The company will have latest designs in the McKay "lows" and novelties for women and girls' wear.

C. V. Watson Co. has no hectic market demands in the shoe industry, but steady local production continues and the prospects are good for quantity spring orders, which may not arrive much before January 1. It is believed here.

The shoe market finds itself in a "seasonable slow-down" condition at the present time. Some manufacturers prefer to believe that there are too many mid-western factories turning out men's and women's shoes today, with many surplus stocks, predominant in the larger cities where the wholesale markets are somewhat congested.

There is a feeling that the over-supplies will be disposed of if the weather shows a change to make it an out-fashioned winter, however, and local manufacturers are optimistic enough when discussing spring business. Today's story of the shoe manufacturing business in Lowell may have some angle to it when the New Year rolls in.

CHRISTMAS BAZAAR AT OLD LADIES' HOME

Final plans have been made for the annual Christmas bazaar to be held at the Old Ladies' Home in Fletcher street early next month, for the benefit of the home. Mrs. Rodrigue Mignault, chairman of the general committee, is being assisted by a corps of able workers, all members of the Patron's organization, and a large attendance is expected this year. The following committees are in charge of the affair:

DECREASE IN THE LOCAL DEATH RATE

A decided decrease in the death rate for the city is reported this week by the board of health, the rate being 10.15, compared to 14.75 the week previous. There were 22 deaths during the week, a decrease of 10 from the figures of the week previous. Of this number 5 were due to pneumonia, 5 were of children under five years of age and one of an infant less than one year of age.

Infectious diseases reported for the week follow: Tuberculosis, 4; measles, 1.

FRATERNAL NEWS

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will meet at the veterans' club at the Memorial Auditorium Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock to take part in the dedication of a number of squares in the Centralville district in honor of World war heroes.

B. F. Butler Women's Relief Corps members are requested to meet in the Memorial Auditorium, post 135 room, at 2:15 p. m. tomorrow and to wear badges and white gloves.

A regular meeting of the Pawtucketville Social club was held last evening in the club rooms in Moody street with President Alphonse Fortin in the chair. Routine business was transacted and a talk of general interest was given by Rev. Fr. Lucien G. Brassard, chaplain. The fourth round of the whist tournament followed the business meeting and the winners were as follows:

William Dunn, Gerlie Fortin, Willard Bolavert, Alfred Lebonne, R. L. Loupret, H. Cormier, Joseph Gregoire, David Letendre, L. Charron, J. Morin, A. Gaudette, H. Moreau, Ovide Bergeron, Alfred Nadeau, Ernest Lambert, Geo. Cormier, A. W. Fortier and Louis Cote.

Will Dedicate Tablets

Continued

It is to be an observance of appeal to the heart and the noblest sentiments of American citizenship, and will appeal particularly to a community that has furnished soldiers and sailors of war in the cause of American freedom.

The impressive dedication of the soldiers' memorial tablets will begin promptly at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The principal speaker of the day will be Frederick Palmer, famous war correspondent, who served in the first rank during the World war and was attached officially to the executive staff of the American Expeditionary Forces, in direct contact at all times with Gen. John J. Pershing. Mr. Palmer's memorial address will be notable in many ways, and highly appropriate for the dedication ceremonies.

The formal exercises will open with an invocation by Rev. Wallace C. Sampson, pastor of the Trinity church of this city, who served during the World war as chaplain. After a brief address by the mayor, there will be remarks by Capt. Joseph A. Molloy, for the American Legion; Alexander D. Mitchell, for the Spanish War Veterans; and Dudley L. Page, representing the Grand Army of the Republic.

A short address will be delivered by Mr. F. Sawyer of the Lowell Historical society and then will come the singing of "America," as at present.

The ceremony of unveiling the tablets will be participated in by the following veterans: A. I. Gilman, M. J. Hayden, George Nutting, P. J. Burns, Capt. Donald H. MacIntyre, D.S.C., Maj. Fred A. Bates, Capt. Winfred C. MacBryne, D.S.C., and Nathan Lamson.

The tablets will be given by members of Battery F, 102nd Regt., M.N.G., of this city and they will be played by Buglers Francis Riggs, George B.

ASSESSORS WILL VIEW PROPERTY

Members of the board of assessors will begin work Monday viewing real estate property in connection with which abatement of taxes has been requested. Chairman John J. Dwyer stated this morning.

Investigation of pleas for abatement on personal property taxes are nearly all completed. The majority of this work was due to the laxities of automobiles, over 500 applications for abatement of taxes on machines being received by the assessors since the tax bills were issued.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

William Rosen of 153 Howard street sustained minor injuries late yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile operated by Chester Ward of 55 Sixth street. He was taken to St. John's hospital for treatment.

BEST SHOE REPAIRING
AT 251 MIDDLESEX

Don't pay exorbitant prices when you want your shoes repaired, new taps and heels obtained to save your upper leathers and get good service for the money you spent for your footwear. The Middlesex Shoe Repairing company at No. 251 Middlesex street, is the best place in Lowell to give prompt service, quality repairing with quality leather products and the prices are always the lowest in the city.
Right now is the time to have those summer shoes repaired to withstand the winter weather conditions to come. Many people have good shoes that need tacking, and neglect to have the work done. The Middlesex Shoe Repairing company will sew taps on men's shoes and also put on best quality rubber heels for $1.25. Women's shoes will receive the same remedial treatment in best quality materials and finest workmanship for a single dollar bill. Men's rubber heels are priced at 40 cents which includes putting on the heels so they will stay until they slowly wear out in the course of time after giving the longest possible service because of the live rubber of purest brand used in their construction. The Middlesex Repairing station uses only Amor's famous standard oak tan leather and all first quality rubber heels.

URGE EARLY MAILING FOR CHRISTMAS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—Unprecedented efforts will be made during the next few weeks to persuade everyone to "mail early for Christmas." The campaign will be opened by Postmaster-General New when he goes on the air next Monday evening from a Washington radio station to broadcast an appeal that the postal workers be permitted to have their day at home Christmas day by every one posting their gifts, cards and letters so as to permit delivery before the holiday.
Twelve of the broadcasting stations will be utilized by Postmasters in sending forth a similar appeal. Eight thousand motion picture theatres, twenty thousand newspapers, and thousands of conspicuously placed posters are other mediums through which the campaign will be waged.

ELITE OF STOCK WORLD GATHERED AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Nov. 29.—The elite of the stock world in record-breaking numbers was gathered today for the opening of the International live stock exposition, in which entries have been made by breeders from every state, Canada, Europe and South America.
Upwards of 11,500 cattle, horses, hogs and sheep were in stalls being groomed for the various contests. Live stock judging teams from 21 states and two Canadian colleges competed today in the judging contest. One girl, Gladys Platts of the University of Kentucky, was in the judging ring, against 115 boys.
Farm boys and girls from all sections of the country met in the famous live stock judging contest and exhibited their pet live stock today.

THIRD DISASTROUS FIRE IN JERSEY CITY

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 29.—Jersey City early today experienced its third disastrous fire in as many weeks when Pier K of the Pennsylvania railroad at the foot of Morgan street was practically destroyed by flames discovered at 8 a. m. The structure was used for the loading and storing of express and freight. After an hour's battle firemen believed they would succeed in confining the blaze to the pier.
In the Belvidere section the sale is negotiated of a new residence, situated at 56 Puntucket avenue near its junction with Andover street. This house is of colonial type with six rooms and bath and is modern to the last detail. The transfer is effected on behalf of Messrs. Angelo Solazzo and Antonio Solazzo, the local landscape gardeners. The grantee is James J. Hemingway, who buys for a home.
Final papers have been sent to record in the transfer of a duplex property at 255-257 Rogers street, almost opposite its junction with North Street. Each apartment has nine rooms, heat and bath. The buildings occupy a lot of 60x35 ft. The grantors are Messrs. A. D. Sargent and Charles J. Wier, executors of the estate of the late Mrs. Freeman R. Shedd. The grantee is Mr. Alfred R. Hovey and Elizabeth F. Hovey, already resident on the premises.

TIRE SPECIALISTS GUARANTEE WORK

For the past 15 years, Messrs. G. A. Hoagboom and M. Darnell have been H. & D. tire specialists. The store at 40 Branch street is one of the busiest in the city today. The long established reputation of the managers is one that cannot be equaled in similar lines of business in Lowell motor world today. In the motor car accessory field, it has always shined in the local market. Hoagboom and Darnell repair correctly all sizes of tires up to 40x3 pneumatic truck shoes. Work is guaranteed as well, and there are no "come backs." Prices are always right. For instance, this concern at No. 40 Branch street deals extensively in the famous Cooper tires, with special 30x3½ tires now selling for $9.00 apiece, and wonderful values they are, each and every one.

CAMERAGRAMS

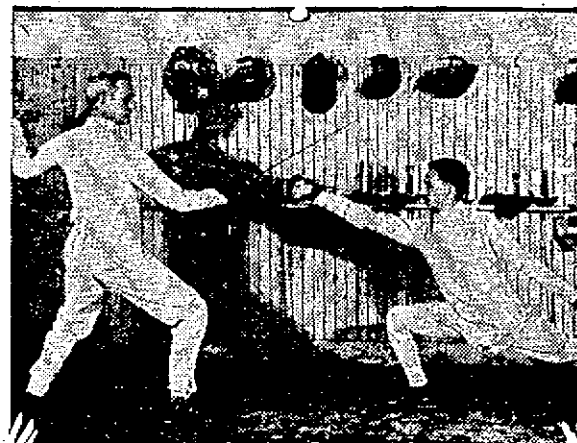

PETER PAN CAUSED PRETTY 17-YEAR-OLD BETTY BRONSON to lose her hair. When she was chosen by Sir James M. Barry to appear in the motion picture version of "Peter Pan," Betty had the beautiful locks shown at the left. But, alas, Peter isn't a boy and the gorgeous crest had to disappear. And now Betty's locks are a memory of the past—as the picture at the right shows.

HERE IS A FARMER who never needs to worry about dry weather. He has his farm under the ocean. Into his ox-drawn wagon he is pitching kelp, a seaweed, in Digby, Nova Scotia.

HERE ARE TWO DIPLOMATS engaged in something more dangerous than a play of words. Henry Breckenridge, former under-secretary of state, and Hassanien Bey, of the Egyptian embassy, are shown with crossed blades at the Racquet club in Washington.

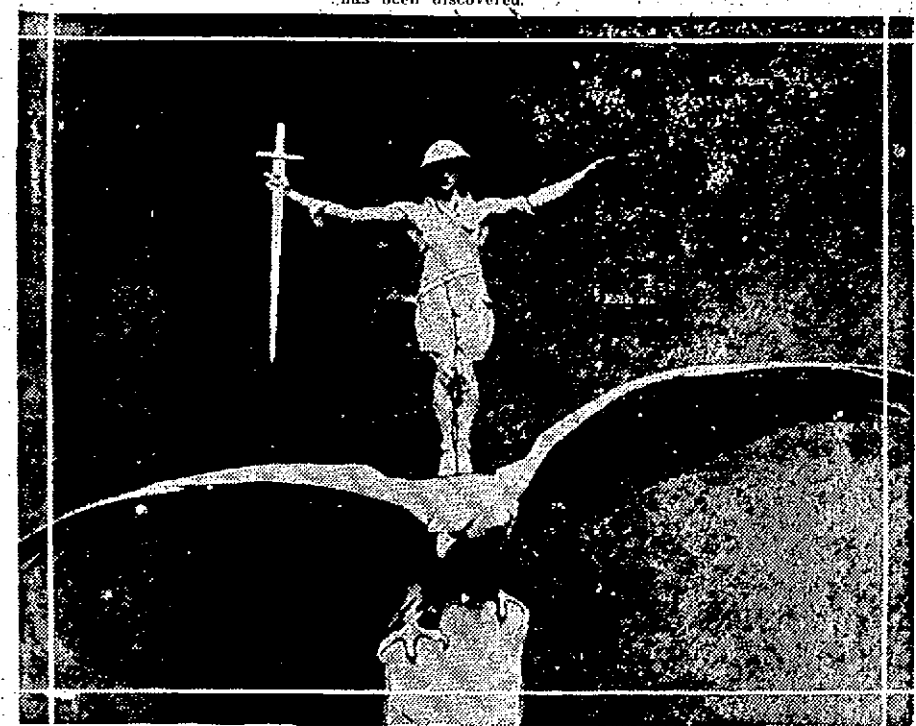

OUT OF THE DUNGEON-LIKE BLACKNESS of this cave at Selang, Cavite, in the Philippine Islands, trickles a small waterfall that is said to have marvelous health-giving properties. Its source never has been discovered.

YOU HEAR MUCH OF OREGON'S tall trees—but Oregon's spruce trees could hardly be called mere saplings. Witness this spruce log, ten feet in diameter, on a car en route from the forest to a sawmill. If you are of a mathematical turn of mind, figure out how many houses can be built from the lumber it contains.

THE BABY RHINOCEROS at the Washington zoo was very lonesome. So the zoo authorities began unwinding red tape and secured from the bureau of animal industry of the Department of Agriculture a domestic goat, "Dorothy," and put her in the same cage.

ON A ROCK JUTTING 35 FEET OUT OF THE WATER in the harbor of St. Nazaire, France, will be placed this memorial statue commemorating the first landing of American soldiers in France on June 28, 1917. The statue, designed by Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, shows an American soldier astride a spread eagle, and armed with a crusader's sword.

THIS MINIATURE MILL NESTLES in the woods near Marshfield, Massachusetts. Mrs. L. Winslow Biagoun built it 17 years ago on the site of a regular-size mill of ancient vintage. Thousands of people have visited the spot and marveled at the toy plant.

DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN you went on joy rides this time of the year in equipment like this? You didn't have to worry about changing your mixture or putting on chains in those days of Mr. Dobbin, and good times.

RAINIER NATIONAL PARK is a picture-maker's paradise. Here is a snow-swept pine in the brooding shadow of a snow-peaked mountain that overlooks Paradise Valley and Nisqually Glacier. Winds in this vicinity sometimes attain tremendous velocity.
